Reds Surprised With First Flag in 21 Years

FOOLING the experts, the Cincinnati Reds captured the 1961 National League pennant. By doing so, Fred Hutchinson's crew pulled one of the majors' biggest surprises in years. The Rhinelanders generally were figured to do little better than their sixth-place showing of '60. Instead, they set the pace most of the way to bring Cincinnati its first flag in 21 years.

Because of the club's conglomeration of castoffs, the Reds were known throughout the league as "ragamuffins." But they surprised everyone. Showing a 26-game improvement over 1960, they registered 93 victories against 61 defeats in finishing four lengths ahead of runner-up Los Angeles. The Reds occupied first place or were tied for the lead on 113 of the 174 days in the season. San Francisco enjoyed 37 days on top and Los Angeles 26.

Ironically, the season began on a sad note for Cincinnati. Powell Crosley, Jr., owner of the Reds since 1934, died during spring training. However, under the astute leadership of Hutchinson and Bill DeWitt, who had been named general manager the previous winter, the club ended a pennant drouth that had extended back to 1940, when Bill McKechnie piloted the Reds to a second successive N. L. championship.

With the triumph, Cincinnati became the fourth different club to win the N. L. gonfalon in as many years, providing further evidence of the even balance of the senior circuit.

To show how lightly the Reds were regarded, they failed to draw a single first-place vote from among the 232 members of the Baseball Writers' Association who participated in THE SPORTING NEWS' pre-season poll. The Dodgers rated the favorite's role with 99 flag votes. Defending champion Pittsburgh received 58, while Milwaukee drew 38, San Francisco 22, and St. Louis 15. Cincinnati ranked sixth in the balloting, Chicago seventh and Philadelphia last.

The Reds started the season auspiciously. On opening day, April 11, Jim O'Toole tamed the Cubs on four hits, 7 to 1, and Cincinnati went on to win five of its first seven games. Then followed a string of eight successive defeats that dumped Hutchinson's outfit into the cellar. But the Rhinelanders turned right around to reel off nine victories in a row and climb back into the thick of things.

When the early shakedown was completed, the Giants under rookie Manager Al Dark roared into the spotlight. Fourteen victories in an 18-game stretch, most of them on the road, stamped the Giants as an apparently solid team. Except for one day, San Francisco led throughout the month of May.

Walt Alston's Dodgers gave the Giants their first real jolt, May 19-21, by sweeping a three-game series at Candlestick Park. The Reds duplicated the trick on a May 29-30 visit to the city by the Golden Gate and in the process climbed into a tie for first place. Although the Giants were bounced from the top rung on June 1, they remained right on the heels of the leaders until just before the first All-Star interlude, when they reeled under six straight losses and eight in nine games.

June 15 found the league still enjoying a torrid four-club scramble. Fourth-place Pittsburgh was only three and one-half lengths back. Launching a six-game victory skein that night, the Reds regained the lead the following evening and held it continuously through the succeeding six weeks.

From June 15 up to the Dream Game layoff, July 10-12, Cincinnati won 21 out of 28 to forge a five-game advantage. The club owned a 54-30 record and was beginning to convince the skeptics that it was a real pennant threat. Los Angeles held second place, Pittsburgh third and San Francisco fourth place, nine and one-half games behind. Milwaukee, St. Louis, Chicago and Philadelphia, in that order, comprised the second division.

Resumption of the schedule saw the Rhinelanders go into a brief tailspin. Six successive losses at Crosley Field melted the club's lead from six games to one in a week's time.

Meantime, the Dodgers had gotten hot. Winning 12 of their final 13 games during July, capped by an eight-victory spurt, they snatched first place from the Reds, July 29. Cincinnati regained the top spot four nights later, only to have Los Angeles grab it again, August 6, during a six-game winning streak.

The splurge gave the Dodgers 19 victories in their last 22 games. How-

August 11, 1961, marked a red-letter day in career of Warren Spahn, 40-year-old Milwaukee southpaw, who entered exclusive group by notching victory No. 300 of his major league career with 2 to 1 conquest of Cubs.

ever, just when they had many observers believing they would pull away from the field, Alston's athletes encountered their worst nosedive of the year—ten losses in a row. The disastrous slide began August 14, when Ernie Broglio hurled St. Louis to a five-hit, 5 to 0 conquest at Memorial Coliseum.

Cincinnati invaded the Coliseum the next night. The Dodgers tagged Joey Jay for two runs in the first inning, but he blanked them the remainder of the way to win on six hits, 5 to 2. A two-night double-header concluded the series, August 16. First place was at stake, and a crowd of 72,140—biggest for a twin-bill in N. L. history—turned out. But they saw the Dodgers shut out twice, 6 to 0 and 8 to 0, as Purkey tossed a four-hitter and O'Toole followed with a two-hit masterpiece to extend the L. A. scoreless string to 26 innings. With the sweep, the Reds returned to the lead. They never again were ousted from the driver's seat, although they had several close calls.

Still reeling from this debacle, the beleaguered Dodgers went to San Francisco, where they dropped three in a row. One of the setbacks was their fourth whitewashing in six starts.

The Dodgers next journeyed to St. Louis and the Giants to Cincinnati. While L. A. was losing three more to the Cardinals, Dark's sluggers won a double-header from the Reds, 12 to 2 and 5 to 3, August 22, and slaughtered them the next evening, 14 to 0, with a six-homer assault. The trio of triumphs capped a surge that found the third-place Giants winning 13 of 15 games to pull within four lengths of the top and revive flag hopes in San Francisco.

Hutchinson read the riot act to the Reds following the humiliating August 23 lambasting, and they responded by whipping the Giants in the series finale. This started Dark's club on a crushing five-game skid.

But more trouble loomed for Cincinnati. The Dodgers, in the throes of their ten-game losing streak, arrived at Crosley Field, August 25. Sandy Koufax promptly braked the nosedive with a five-hitter, 7 to 2. Los Angeles won again the next day, 10 to 6. With a sweep of the Sunday bill, August 27, the Dodgers could retake the lead. They raced off to a 5 to 1 lead in the opener of the Sabbath double-header, but Cincinnati fought back to win, 6 to 5. When the Reds also won the nightcap, 8 to 3, behind Ken Johnson, they again were three and one-half games in front.

Following the Cincinnati series, the Dodgers won seven of their next nine engagements, capped by a four-game sweep over the Giants. The spurt reduced the Reds' advantage to a mere one game, September 6. But Alston's crew then went to San Francisco for the second half of a home-and-home series and faltered again, losing three in a row.

The Reds, meanwhile, opened their final home stand, September 8, by launching a six-game victory streak. They eventually clinched the flag on Tuesday, September 26. Sparked by Frank Robinson's two-run homer in the seventh inning and Jerry Lynch's two-run blast in the eighth, the Reds came from behind at Chicago to win, 6 to 3, and be assured of at least a pennant tie. Some six hours later, the race was over when Pirate Lefty Joe Gibbon blanked the Dodgers on one hit, 8 to 0, to snuff out their last hope.

Two player deals negotiated by Bill DeWitt the previous winter loomed large in Cincinnati's flag success. Less than six weeks after being appointed G. M., DeWitt completed a three-way swap in which the Reds obtained Pitcher Joey Jay from Milwaukee and Third Baseman Gene Freese from the Chicago White Sox. In the exchange, the Rhinelanders gave up Shortstop Roy McMillan, Pitcher Cal McLish and a minor leaguer.

Jay had never won more than nine games in his seven seasons with the Braves, but under Hutchinson's guidance the 26-year-old righthander blossomed into a star. Racking up a 21-10 record, Jay became the Reds' first 20-game winner since Ewell Blackwell in 1947. At the same time, Freese proved an early spark at bat and finished with 26 home runs and 87 RBIs while batting .277.

Frank Robinson was Cincinnati's big siege gun. Enjoying the finest year of his career, he batted .323, wallopped 37 homers and drove in 124 runs to win league MVP honors. His outfield sidekick, Vada Pinson, also had a banner season, finishing second in the league batting race with .343 and producing 37 RBIs. Gordy Coleman also drove in 87 runs while socking 26 homers.

Next to Jay, Cincinnati's leading winner was Jim O'Toole. The lefthander posted a 19-9 ledger and the league's second lowest ERA, 3.09. Bob Purkey, the other member of the club's Big Three, won 16 games while losing 12. Rookie Ken Hunt furnished an early lift by gaining nine victories through July 7 before fading. Ken Johnson, purchased from Toronto on July 21, took up the late slack with a 6-2 record. Jim Brosnan proved a tower of strength in the bull pen with a 10-4 ledger.

Inability to win big at home and collapse of what was tabbed the best pitching staff in baseball cost Los Angeles the flag. Lacking a mighty power hitter to take advantage of the Coliseum's short left field fence, the Dodgers were only 45-32 in their own park. A deal which brought Infielder Daryl Spencer from the Cardinals, May 30, was designed to alleviate the right-handed power deficiency, but just when he began finding the range, he fractured a small bone in the knee, July 4, and was shelved nearly three weeks. The club experienced several other costly casualties. These included veteran Duke Snider, who got away to a great start only to suffer a broken right elbow, April 17, and Relief Ace Larry Sherry, who was idled several times by injury and an ailing flipper.

Southpaws Johnny Podres and Sandy Koufax paced the Los Angeles staff with 18 victories each. Podres lost just five decisions while Koufax dropped 13, but Sandy set a modern N. L. record by striking out 269 in 256 innings. Stan Williams and Don Drysdale proved disappointments with 15-12 and 13-10 marks, respectively. Wally Moon was the club's leading hitter at .328, while Ron Fairly batted .322.

Despite boasting the league's heaviest scoring team and allowing the opposition only two more runs than the champion Reds, the Giants had to settle for third place, eight games back of Cincinnati. Still, with 85 victories, the club enjoyed its best record in four seasons in San Francisco and helped Al Dark make a successful managerial debut.

Orlando Cepeda and Willie Mays led the potent Giant attack. Cepeda, alternating between first base and the outfield, paced the loop in home runs.

46, and runs batted in, 142, and hit .311. Mays was right behind with a .308 average, 40 round-trippers and 123 RBIs. Unfortunately, Dark had no pitchers who could match the feat of his two slugging stars. Not a single San Francisco starting hurler could win more than 13 games. It remained for Stu Miller, ace fireman, to lead the chuckers. Enjoying his best season, Miller racked up 14 victories against just five losses in 63 relief appearances.

After eight years as one of the National League's powers, the Braves flopped to a fourth-place finish. It was their worst showing since moving to Milwaukee in 1953. The poor record cost Manager Chuck Dressen his job. Fifth during most of the first half, the Braves appeared to catch fire in a mid-August home stand, winning ten straight to kindle slight flag hopes, but then tapered off. On September 2, with the club in third place, Dressen was fired and Birdie Tebbetts, who had served as executive vice-president since October, 1958, took the helm.

Lack of pitching was the primary cause of Milwaukee's disappointing year. A sore throwing arm which shelved Catcher Del Crandall shortly after the season got under way also hurt the Braves' cause. Among the pitchers only veterans Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette succeeded in reaching double figures in victories. Spahn, who tossed a no-hitter in his third start, was only 8-11 at the All-Star break, but went on to achieve the 20-victory level for the twelfth time with a 21-13 record. He also posted a 3.01 ERA to lead the league. Burdette finished with 18-11. Hank Aaron topped the Braves at bat with a .327 average and in RBIs with 120 while socking 34 homers. Joe Adcock belted 35 homers and Eddie Mathews 32 while batting .306.

A bad start and troubles on the road—chronic problems with the Cardinals in recent years—contributed to St. Louis' dip to fifth place. Other factors were the collapse of Pitchers Ernie Broglio and Lindy McDaniel, a spring training injury suffered by Pitcher Larry Jackson and the heart ailment which ended Catcher Hal Smith's playing career early in June.

Broglio, a 21-game winner the year before, slipped to 9-12. McDaniel lost the magic that made him the loop's ace reliever in '60. In a freak spring training mishap, Jackson's jaw was broken when a broken bat struck him. Weakened by weeks on a liquid diet, Larry was only 3-8 when Coach Johnny Keane succeeded Solly Hemus as manager, July 6. Jackson proceeded to win 11 of his next 12 decisions and finished with a 14-11 mark as the club racked up a 47-33 record under Keane. Only Lefty Ray Sadecki equalled Jackson's 14-victory total with the Cardinals. Captain Ken Boyer sparked St. Louis offensively with a .329 average, 24 homers and 95 RBIs.

The Pirates were the year's biggest disappointment. Champions in 1960, Danny Murtaugh's crew slipped all the way to sixth place. Pittsburgh hopes were jolted early in the season when Vern Law, 20-game winner the previous year, came up with an ailing pitching shoulder. He won only three games and made just one appearance after June 11. The Bucs put him on the retired list, July 7, when doctors ordered rest for his ailing flipper. Relief Ace Roy Face also encountered his worst season, winding up with a 6-12 record. Even Bob Friend, the club's leading winner, had a losing record of 14-19. The Pirates' brightest spots were provided by Roberto Clemente, who won the batting title with a .351 average, and First Baseman Dick Stuart, who hit .301 with 35 homers and 117 RBIs.

Owner P. K. Wrigley's decision to have a staff of coaches, rather than a manager, run the Cubs failed to produce any significant improvement in the club, and Chicago finished seventh for the second successive year. Harry Craft, Vedic Himsl, Lou Klein and Elvin Tappe took turns serving as head coach. Except during the first four weeks of the race, the Cubs occupied seventh place all the way. To add to Chicago's problems, the club's star performer, Shortstop Ernie Banks, fell victim of physical troubles. An ailing knee ended his five-year, 717-game playing streak, June 23, and later he was bothered by impairment of depth perception in his left eye. He hit only .278 but still managed to pace the Cubs in homers, 29. George Altman was the team's leading hitter at .303. Don Cardwell's 15-14 record topped Cub hurlers.

For the fourth consecutive year, the Phillies wound up in the league dungeon. Gene Mauch's hapless outfit never left the basement after May 1, when a ten-game losing streak set in. This tailspin, however, was nothing compared to the one the Phils encountered later on. Starting July 23, Philadelphia lost 28 out of 29 games, including a twentieth-century major league record of 23 defeats in a row. John Buzhardt finally snipped the skein by beating Milwaukee, 7 to 4, in the windup of a twin-bill, August 20.

WHITE MADE 14 HITS IN TWO SUCCESSIVE TWIN-BILLS

In the season's most prolific hit barrage by one player, Bill White, St. Louis Cardinal first baseman, unloaded 14 hits on two successive nights, July 17-18, 1961. He achieved his phenomenal bag of safeties in 18 official plate appearances during a pair of double-headers against the Chicago Cubs at Busch Stadium. The feat equalled a 49-year-old record held by Ty Cobb. Ironically, the Cardinal star launched his barrage the day the Georgia Peach died. White went 4-for-5 in each game as the Cardinals won both, 10 to 6 and 8 to 5, that night. The following evening he was 3-for-4 in each contest—with a homer, two triples and a double sprinkled among his hits—in another Cardinal sweep, 8 to 3 and 7 to 5. White drove in a total of six runs during the two double-headers.

Yanks Repeated Old Script Under New Pilot

A NEW LOOK at season's start—featuring an expanded ten-club circuit and an enlarged 162-game schedule—gave way to an old familiar script as the 1961 American League pennant race unfolded. When the final curtain fell, the New York Yankees once again reigned as champions. For the perennial kingpins, it was their twelfth flag in the last 15 years and No. 26 in club history.

The Yankees' success, although repetitious of an old, old story, bore the stamp of completely new leadership. Ralph Houk was at the helm and Roy Hamey pulled the strings as front-office boss. Houk, formerly a coach under Casev Stengel, had succeeded the Ol' Perfessor as skipper following the '60 campaign, while Hamey replaced George M. Weiss as general manager.

Houk capped his spectacular Big Time managerial debut by leading the Yankees to victory in the World's Series. In trimming the Cincinnati Reds, four games to one, the Bombers gave Houk the distinction of being only the third freshman pilot to win the blue-ribbon classic. Stanley (Bucky) Harris turned the trick with the Washington Senators in 1924 and Eddie Dyer duplicated the feat with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1946.

Boasting the game's most potent home-run punch, plus strong pitching and a sharp defense, the New Yorkers finished eight full games ahead of runner-up Detroit. With the help of the longer schedule, the Yankees posted 109 victories—third highest total in American League annals—as compared to 53 defeats. Their .673 winning percentage was the circuit's best since Cleveland hung up a .721 percentage with a record 111 triumphs and 43 losses in 1954.

The Yankees entered the race as topheavy favorites to repeat. In THE SPORTING NEWS' annual pre-season poll of members of the Baseball Writers' Association, 122 of the 234 who participated selected New York for the pennant. Baltimore was accorded 64 first-place votes to rank second, while Chicago received 34 and Cleveland 12. The two other flag votes went to Detroit and Minnesota, which rated fifth and sixth, respectively, in the poll. They were followed by Boston and Kansas City, while the new Los Angeles and Washington clubs were tabbed to bring up the rear.

Detroit proved to be the league's big surprise and the only real threat to Yankee domination. Bob Scheffing's club set the pace during most of the first half of the campaign. After bowing to Cleveland in the season opener, April 11, the Tigers proceeded to win their next eight games. Another victory skein of six early in May catapulted the Bengals to a 17-5 record, and they held the lead throughout the month.

Cleveland enjoyed a brief flurry of flag excitement early in June. Buried in fifth place with a 12-13 mark on May 13, the Indians suddenly went on the war path. Jimmie Dykes' warriors won 22 of their next 26 games to climb into contention. On June 6 they seized the lead from Detroit during a ten-game victory binge. The Tribe clung to the top rung for nine days.

Like the Indians, the Yankees experienced rough going during the opening month. They found themselves a mere two games over .500 at 17-15 through May 21 before making their move. Houk's crew fairly sizzled during the first part of June with 11 victories in a 12-game stretch. The Bombers finally grabbed first place for one day, June 15, replacing Cleveland when Ralph Terry beat the Indians in 11 innings, 3 to 2. The following night Detroit regained the top spot.

Following the Indians' ouster from first place, they faded from the pennant picture almost as quickly as they had soared to the top. Tribe hopes evaporated late in June in a string of seven straight defeats and ten in 12 games. From that point on it was strictly a two-team race between Detroit and New York.

The Tigers still were in the van when the first All-Star break arrived, July 10-12. They boasted a 55-30 record. The Yankees occupied second place with a 53-29 mark. Baltimore was third, seven games back, and Cleveland fourth, eight and one-half behind. They were followed in order by Chicago, Boston, Washington, Los Angeles, Minnesota and Kansas City.

During the next 12 days the Yankees and Tigers alternated in the lead. On July 25 the Yankees launched a home stand by beating the White Sox twice. Wheeling out their big guns for eight homers, including two in each game by Roger Maris, the Bombers routed the Pale Hose, 5 to 1 and 12 to 0, behind the steady chucking of Whitey Ford and Bill Stafford. The sweep lifted Houk's charges into first place—and they never again relinquished it.

The double victory marked the start of a spurt which found the New Yorkers winning 16 of 20 games, including nine in a row. However, Detroit hung on doggedly. The Bengals never fell more than four lengths behind. In fact, with 11 victories in their last 14 starts, they were just a game and a half back on invading Yankee Stadium, September 1, to open their final eastern swing.

The three-game showdown series, which attracted a record 171,503 fans, turned out to be one of the most thrilling in history. Unfortunately, Detroit's flag hopes were dealt a devastating setback when the Yankees swept the set. Relief Ace Luis Arroyo was the biggest of the Bomber heroes. He won two of the games in rescue roles and finished up the third.

The year's largest crowd, 65,566, attended the Friday night series opener. Don Mossi started against Ford in a contest that developed into an old-fashioned pitching duel. When a muscle strain in the hip forced Whitey out in the fifth inning, Bud Daley relieved and continued the scoreless battle. Arroyo replaced him in the ninth. With two out in the bottom of the ninth, Mossi wilted in the 90-degree heat, yielding singles to Elston Howard, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron for a 1 to 0 Yankee victory.

Scheffing sent Frank Lary, seeking his twentieth victory, to the mound the next day to oppose Terry. With Maris slamming a double and homers Nos. 52 and 53, the Yankees beat their long-time tormentor, 7 to 2, before 50,261 fans. A four-run uprising in the eighth inning and Arroyo's hitless relief chore locked it up.

In the Sunday clash, a crowd of 55,676 saw Yankee power erupt in the ninth inning to pull the game from the fire, 8 to 5. Detroit went into the ninth with a 5 to 4 lead, only to have Mickey Mantle knot the score with homer No. 50—his second of the day. Later in the frame Howard slammed a three-run homer to break up the game. Arroyo, who had relieved Stafford in the eighth, again was the victor.

The series sweep launched the New Yorkers on a 13-game victory skein. The Tigers, meantime, continued on the skids, losing three more at Baltimore and two at Boston before ending their tailspin at eight games. By September 10 the Yankee advantage had ballooned to 11½ lengths—their biggest lead of the year.

Houk's crew clinched the pennant in a historic game at Baltimore, September 20. The contest marked Maris' last chance at Babe Ruth's 154-game season homer record. Although Roger failed in his bid, he managed to hit No. 59 that night in helping Terry best the Orioles' Milt Pappas, 4 to 2.

The club which Houk piloted to the title was basically the same squad with which Stengel won in 1960. The chief additions were Roland Sheldon, a rookie pitcher with just one year of Class D experience who broke in with an 11-5 record, and Southpaw Bud Daley, obtained from Kansas City in a mid-June deal. The new skipper himself made several significant moves. These included abandoning Ol' Case's platooning methods, speeding up Whitey Ford's pitching schedule and employing Yogi Berra, veteran catcher, almost exclusively as an outfielder to give Elston Howard and John Blanchard more opportunity to play.

Feasting on the diluted pitching of the expanded circuit, the Yankees slammed a record-breaking 240 home runs. This was 19 more than the previous major league high. The famed M & M duo of Maris and Mantle set the pace. Maris finished with 61, an all-time high, and Mantle with 54, making them the most prolific duo in history. Four other Yankees hit at least 20—Bill Skowron, 28; Berra, 22, and Howard and Blanchard, 21 each. Despite batting only .269, Maris also led the league in RBIs with 142. Mantle drove in 128 runs with his .317 average. Howard compiled the club's best batting average, .348.

Houk's stepped-up schedule for Ford paid off handsomely. The 32-year-old southpaw enjoyed the greatest season of his career, winning 25 games while losing only four. Ralph Terry was the second biggest Yankee winner with a 16-3 log. Next to Ford, however, the club's most valuable hurler was Lefty Luis Arroyo. The rescue specialist, who saved many of Whitey's victories, racked up a 15-5 record and a 2.19 ERA while working in 65 games, all in relief. Bill Stafford rounded out the starting Big Three with a 14-9 ledger and a 2.69 ERA, second best in the league among contenders for the earned-run crown.

By finishing second in Bob Scheffing's first year at the Tiger helm, Detroit made its finest showing since 1950. The Bengals also were runners-up to New York on that occasion. With the help of the lengthened schedule, the club matched the all-time Motor City high of 101 victories set by Mickey Cochran's 1934 champions.

Weakest-hitting team in the league a year earlier, the Tigers boasted the heaviest run-producing lineup and best hitting array in '61. Only in the home-run department were they overshadowed offensively by the Yankees. Norm Cash blossomed into the league batting champion with a .361 average and Al Kaline finished second at .324. Rocky Colavito, experiencing the finest of his six years in the Big Time, batted .290 and hit 45 home runs—second highest total in Tiger lore. With Colavito driving in 140 runs and Cash 132, the Bengals boasted the leading RBI duo in the league.

Unfortunately, Scheffing lacked the pitching depth of the Yankees. Frank Lary, Jim Bunning and Don Mossi formed a strong Big Three, but the second-line hurling was below par. Lary set a personal high by winning 23 games against nine defeats. Bunning hung up a 17-11 record, while Mossi made a strong comeback from his 1960 arm trouble with a 15-7 showing.

The Orioles compiled the best record in the club's history, yet slipped one notch below their '60 finish to third place. Unlike the previous season, Baltimore was never a factor in the race. A wretched start saw the club at the .500 level as late as June 22. Even so the Birds wound up with 95 victories—six more than the former Baltimore high. Paul Richards guided the Orioles until September 1 when he turned the reins over to Coach Lum Harris preliminary to joining the new Houston Colt .45s as general manager.

First Baseman Jim Gentile and Southpaw Steve Barber, two rookie finds of 1960, were easily Baltimore's standouts. For the second successive year Gentile set a club record in RBIs with 141—only one behind Maris' loop-leading total. He also established an Oriole mark with 46 homers and led the club with a .302 average. Barber chalked up an 18-12 record, including eight shutouts. Chuck Estrada was the team's second-leading winner at 15-9.

The White Sox' dip to fourth place marked the lowest finish for Al

Lopez in his 14 years as manager. Off to an even worse start than the Orioles, Chicago was still in the cellar on June 11. The Pale Hose then did a sudden about-face, winning 19 of their next 20 starts—including 12 in a row—for the year's most spectacular spurt, only to wilt again.

Southpaw Juan Pizarro, obtained in a winter deal, was the lone Chisox hurler able to register more than ten victories. He chalked up 14 against seven losses while posting a fine 3.05 ERA. Early Wynn, 41-year-old right-hander, developed shoulder trouble early in June and quit for the season late in July after chalking up an 8-2 record. Rookie Floyd Robinson was the Chicagoans' leading hitter at .310. Al Smith, enjoying the most productive year of his career, nosed out Roy Sievers for club leadership by one in both homers with 28 and RBIs with 93.

After showing signs early in June of being a pennant threat, the Indians failed to maintain even a .400 clip the remainder of the way and wound up fifth, 30½ games off the Yankees' pace. The dismal performance led to the firing of Manager Jimmie Dykes on the final day of the season. Jimmy Piersall topped Cleveland at bat with a .322 average, but Willie Kirkland led the club in homers, 27, and RBIs, 95. Jim Grant, who ran up a 7-0 record during the Tribe's early surge, was the leading winner with a 15-9 ledger. Barry Latman, used exclusively in relief up until July, won nine decisions before sustaining his initial defeat, July 23, and finished with a 13-5 record.

Despite unveiling three brilliant rookie prospects, the Red Sox were able to rise just one notch above 1960 to sixth place. The freshman trio consisted of Don Schwall, Chuck Schilling and Carl Yastrzemski. Schwall wasn't called up from Seattle (Pacific Coast) until May 16, yet wound up as Boston's biggest winner with 15 triumphs against seven setbacks. Outfielder Jackie Jensen rejoined Mike Higgins' club following a year in retirement, partially off setting the retirement of Veteran Ted Williams. Jensen, however, jumped the Red Sox briefly, April 30, because of his disappointment over his poor start. Rejoining the club eight days later, he managed to hit only .263 for the season with just 13 homers and 66 RBIs.

The Twins, transplanted from Washington, received a tremendously enthusiastic welcome in their new Minnesota home, but their followers had to settle for a seventh-place finish. Starting off with nine victories in the first 12 games, the Twins breathed the heady air of first place briefly before a steady decline set in. On June 6, with the club in the midst of a string of 13 straight losses and 18 in 19 games, President Calvin Griffith furloughed Manager Cookie Lavagetto. Coach Sam Mele bossed the Twins until Lavagetto's return, June 13. When the club failed to show any noticeable improvement, Lavagetto was dismissed, June 23, and Mele took over as manager. Harmon Killebrew wielded Minnesota's most explosive bat, walloping 46 homers and driving in 122 runs. The club's ace hurler was Camilo Pascual, who won 15 games—eight via the shutout route.

Of the two new clubs, Bill Rigney's Angels were the biggest surprise. Many observers predicted the team wouldn't win more than about 40 games. Instead, Los Angeles scored 70 victories. Cellar occupants most of the time up to July 4, the Angels played at exactly a .500 clip in their last 90 games. Taking advantage of the small confines of their Wrigley Field home, they came up with five players in the 20-homer class. Leon Wagner led the club in homers (28) and RBIs (79), while Ken McBride topped Angel hurlers in victories with 12.

In contrast to Los Angeles, the new Senators performed at a .500 gait through June 15, then went into a ten-game tailspin. Mickey Vernon's club never regained its early form. From August 1 on, Washington played the worst ball in the league, losing 44 of 58 games, including one stretch of 24 defeats in 25 starts. The Senators, weakest-hitting team in the league, had only one .300 hitter—Gene Woodling, who batted .313. Dick Donovan led the league with a 2.40 ERA, but had to settle for a 10-10 record.

Kansas City experienced the most disappointing—and hectic—season of its seven years in the league. Only a closing day victory over Washington enabled the A's to tie the Senators for ninth place. New Owner Charles Finley changed managers, June 19, dropping Joe Gordon in favor of Hank Bauer. And on August 22 he fired General Manager Frank Lane and named Pat Friday to succeed him. The A's brightest spots were Norm Siebern, who batted .296 and drove in 98 runs, and Rookie Shortstop Dick Howser, who batted .280 and stole 37 bases.

PHILLEY SET PINCH-HIT RECORD WITH 24 BINGLES

Dave Philley, veteran infielder-outfielder with Baltimore, established an all-time major league record for hits by a pinch-hitter in 1961. Used as a pinch-swinger on 80 occasions, the Oriole rapper delivered 24 safeties in 73 official at-bats. This exceeded by two the previous high of 22 pinch-hits set by Sam Leslie with the New York Giants in 1932. Philley, who observed his forty-first birthday early in the season, drove 18 runs across the plate in his pinch roles.

VEECK, COMISKEY SOLD HOLDINGS IN WHITE SOX

Two major league clubs—the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago White Sox—underwent changes in ownership in 1961. The death of Powel Crosley, Jr., principal owner, on March 28 brought about the change on the Reds. His 80 per cent interest in the club passed to the Crosley Foundation, a non-profit trust he had set up. On December 18 General Manager William O. DeWitt was elected president of the Reds, filling the vacancy created by Crosley's death, while Stanley E. Kess, the late owner's son-in-law, was named chairman of the board. In the case of the White Sox, there were two major stock transactions during the year. One found Bill Veeck leaving the game, at least temporarily. The other saw the Comiskey family's 62-year association with the club come to an end. Veeck, suffering from a serious, undetermined illness, sold his interest, June 12. Arthur C. Allyn, Chicago investment broker, bought out both Veeck, who had headed the White Sox since 1959, and Vice-President Hank Greenberg for a reported $2,940,000. Veeck, Greenberg and Allyn were the principal partners in the CBC Corporation which purchased the 54 per cent of the White Sox held by Mrs. Dorothy Comiskey Rigney in February, 1959. Of the CBC Corp. stock, Greenberg owned 40 per cent, Veeck 30 per cent and Allyn 24 per cent. On buying out his partners, Allyn retained Greenberg as vice-president-general manager, but on August 26 Ed Short succeeded Hank as G. M. The last of the Comiskey clan passed from the White Sox picture, December 15, when Charles A. Comiskey II, grandson of the club's founder, Charles A. (The Old Roman) Comiskey, sold his 46 per cent holdings. A group of 11 young business and professional men from Chicago, organized by Attorney Thomas A. Reynolds, Jr., bought Chuck's stock for an estimated $3,300,000.

N. L. Games Averaged 2:41 — Majors' High

By LEE ALLEN

THE average major league game in 1961 required two hours and 38 minutes for completion. This was exactly the same figure as in 1960, but for the first time since these compilations were begun in 1951 a wide difference between the National and American leagues in time consumed to complete games was observed.

Although expanding to ten teams, the American League reeled off its games at an average time of 2:36, clipping three minutes from the 1960 figure. But the National League set a new record for slowness, with each game requiring 2:41, four minutes longer than in 1960.

New marks for slowness were established in the home parks of the Dodgers, Cubs, Reds, Braves, Giants, Phillies and Cardinals. Average time of game at the Los Angeles Coliseum was 2:50, the longest ever recorded in a big league park.

What happened in Yankee Stadium raises the suspicion that managerial strategy is a big factor in the length of games. Under Ralph Houk, the Bombers played their home contests in 2:30, or 15 minutes faster than under Casey Stengel in 1960. In spite of the expanded schedule, the Yankees required less time to play 81 games than they did 77 in 1960.

Complete figures for each park follow:

REDS, YANKEES TOPPED LOOPS IN TWIN-BILL RATINGS

An important factor in the Cincinnati Reds' march to the 1961 National League pennant was their success in double-headers. Fred Hutchinson's club compiled the best record in either major in twin-bills. The Reds swept ten while losing only two and splitting seven for a .711 winning percentage. The world champion New York Yankees chalked up the top mark in the American League. They also scored ten sweeps in 23 bargain bills and posted a .644 percentage. Complete 1961 double-header data follows:

The Game for All America

By ERNIE HARWELL

Editor's Note: "The Game for All America," Ernie Harwell's tribute which originally appeared as a guest editorial in the season-opening issue of THE SPORTING NEWS back in 1955, has since become a classic. Frequently reprinted, quoted by speakers and represented by a framed copy in the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, it is reprinted here as an expression of the true spirit of the National Game.

Baseball is the President of the United States tossing out the first ball of the season; and a pudgy schoolboy playing catch with his dad on a Mississippi farm.

It's the big league pitcher who sings in night clubs. And the Hollywood singer who pitches to the Giants in spring training.

A tall, thin old man waving a scorecard from his dugout—that's baseball. So is the big, fat guy with a bulbous nose running out one of his 714 home runs with mincing steps.

It's America, this baseball. A re-issued newsreel of boyhood dreams. Dreams lost somewhere between boy and man. It's the Bronx cheer and the Baltimore farewell. The left field screen in Boston, the right field dump at Nashville's Sulphur Dell, the open stands in San Francisco, the dusty, wind-swept diamond at Amarillo. And a rock home plate and a chicken wire backstop—anywhere.

There's a man in Mobile who remembers a triple he saw Honus Wagner hit in Pittsburgh 48 years ago. That's baseball. So is the scout reporting that a 16-year-old sandlot pitcher in Cheyenne is the new "Walter Johnson."

It's a wizened little man shouting insults from the safety of his bleacher seat. And a big, smiling first baseman playfully tousling the hair of a youngster outside the players' gate.

Baseball is a spirited race of man against man, reflex against reflex. A game of inches. Every skill is measured. Every heroic, every failing is seen and cheered or booed. And then becomes a statistic.

In baseball, democracy shines its clearest. Here the only race that matters is the race to the bag. The creed is the rule book. Color is something to distinguish one team's uniform from another.

Baseball is Sir Alexander Fleming, discoverer of penicillin, asking his hosts to explain Dodger signals. It's Player Moe Berg speaking seven languages and working crossword puzzles in Sanscrit. It's a scramble in the box seats for a foul—and a $125 suit ruined. A man barking into a hot microphone about a cool beer, that's baseball. So is the sports writer telling a .383 hitter how to stride, and a 20-victory pitcher trying to write his impressions of the World's Series.

Baseball is a ballet without music. Drama without words. A carnival without kewpie dolls.

A housewife in California couldn't tell you the color of her husband's eyes, but she knows that Yogi Berra is hitting .337, has brown eyes and used to love to eat bananas with mustard. That's baseball. So is the bright sanctity of Cooperstown's Hall of Fame. And the former big leaguer who is playing out the string in a Class B loop.

Baseball is continuity. Pitch to pitch. Inning to inning. Game to game. Series to series. Season to season.

It's rain, rain, rain splattering on a puddled tarpaulin as thousands sit in damp disappointment. And the click of typewriters and telegraph keys in the press box—like so many awakened crickets. Baseball is a cocky batboy. The old-timer whose batting average increases every time he tells it. A lady celebrating a home team rally by mauling her husband with a rolled-up scorecard.

Baseball is the cool, clear eyes of Rogers Hornsby, the flashing spikes of Ty Cobb, an overaged pixie named Rabbit Maranville, and Jackie Robinson testifying before a Congressional hearing.

Baseball? It's just a game—as simple as a ball and a bat. Yet, as complex as the American spirit it symbolizes. It's a sport, business—and sometimes even religion.

Baseball is Tradition in flannel knickerbockers. And Chagrin in being picked off base. It is Dignity in the blue serge of an umpire running the game by rule of thumb. It is Humor, holding its sides when an errant puppy eludes two groundskeepers and the fastest outfielder. And Pathos, dragging itself off the field after being knocked from the box.

Nicknames are baseball. Names like Zeke and Pie and Kiki and Home Run and Cracker and Dizzy and Dazzy.

Baseball is a sweaty, steaming dressing room where hopes and feelings are as naked as the men themselves. It's a dugout with spike-scarred flooring. And shadows across an empty ball park. It's the endless list of names in box scores, abbreviated almost beyond recognition.

The holdout is baseball, too. He wants 55 grand or he won't turn a muscle. But, it's also the youngster who hitchhikes from South Dakota to Florida just for a tryout.

Arguments, Casey at the Bat, old cigarette cards, photographs, Take Me Out to the Ball Game—all of them are baseball.

Baseball is a rookie—his experience no bigger than the lump in his throat—trying to begin fulfillment of a dream. It's a veteran, too—a tired old man of 35, hoping his aching muscles can drag him through another sweltering August and September.

For nine innings, baseball is the story of David and Goliath, of Samson, Cinderella, Paul Bunyan, Homer's Iliad and the Count of Monte Cristo.

Willie Mays making a brilliant World's Series catch. And then dashing off to play stick-ball in the street with his teen-age pals—that's baseball.

And so is the husky voice of a doomed Lou Gehrig saying, "I consider myself the luckiest man on the face of this earth."

Baseball is cigar smoke, hot-roasted peanuts, THE SPORTING NEWS, winter trades, "Down in front," and the "Seventh-Inning Stretch." Sore arms, broken bats, a no-hitter, and the strains of the Star-Spangled Banner.

Baseball is a man named Campanella telling the nation's business leaders: "You have to be a man to be a big leaguer, but you have to have a lot of little boy in you, too."

This is a game for America, this baseball!

Arroyo, Stu Miller Led Majors' Firemen

Luis Arroyo

Lefty Luis Arroyo, bull-pen ace of the world's champion New York Yankees, and Stu Miller, veteran San Francisco Giant rescue artist, captured the 1961 fireman trophies awarded by THE SPORTING NEWS as the outstanding relief pitchers in their respective leagues.

The fireman awards were inaugurated in '60 as a means of providing long overdue recognition for the heroic and oft-overlooked contributions of the game's relief hurlers. Winners of the 1960 trophies were Lindy McDaniel of the St. Louis Cardinals and Mike Forni- niales of the Boston Red Sox.

Arroyo easily outdistanced the field in gaining the American League's second annual fireman crown. Working in 65 games, a Yankee club record, the chunky Puerto Rican portsider registered

Stu Miller

15 victories in relief and earned 19 saves for a total of 34 points. This matched McDaniel's total of a year earlier and was 15 more than Forni- niales chalked up in winning the first A. L. award. Arroyo's nearest rival was Hoyt Wilhelm, veteran Baltimore knuckleballer. Wilhelm had 25 points on nine wins and 16 saves.

In the National League, Miller was credited with 26 points—only four ahead of runner-up Jim Brosnan of Cincinnati. The soft-throwing 33-year- old Giant righthander won 14 games in rescue roles and was credited with saving 12 others. Brosnan likewise posted a dozen saves, but the bespectacled Red fireman won only ten decisions.

Under THE SPORTING NEWS' rules, saves were awarded only under specific circumstances. Briefly, the rules provided that to gain a save a reliever had to pitch one or more perfect innings if he entered the game with a two- run lead, or face the potential tying or leading run, and his team had to win. No more than one save could be given in any game, and a reliever who received the victory could not be credited with a save.

Arroyo saved games for every regular Yankee starter, but he was espe- cially helpful to 25-game winner Whitey Ford. The 34-year-old bull-pen ace saved seven games for Ford and finished five of Whitey's other victories in which he wasn't eligible for a save. In addition, Arroyo was the winner in five games which Ford started.

While Arroyo went into the A. L. lead to stay shortly after the second All-Star Game, Miller didn't move in front in the National League until September 3. Up until that time, Brosnan had held the N. L. lead since June 25. Miller, in fact, had only one save prior to June 4, but owned four victories at that point. He accumulated 15 of his 26 points in August and September.

Here is how the top relief pitchers finished in the competition for THE SPORTING NEWS' second annual fireman trophies:

RUTH'S 60 HOMERS STILL TOPS

Maris Set 162-Game Season High With 61

By DAN DANIEL

THE major league season of 1961 went into baseball history as the Year of the Home Run. In individual achievement, in club accomplishment, in league performance there were new records of remarkable size and deep significance. Roger Maris of the New York Yankees set a new mark for a 162-game schedule with 61 round-trippers. The Yankees came through with the amazing total of 240 homers, against the old high of 221 shared by the 1947 Giants and the 1956 Reds. The Yankees' old league mark was 190, attained in 1956.

Maris and Mickey Mantle, who hit 54 in a season curtailed by illness, between them accounted for 115 home runs, excelling the old two-man record written into the books by Babe Ruth, with 60, and Lou Gehrig, with 47, for a total of 107, in 1927.

The rise in home-run production in the American League, in particular, had the experts by the ears and developed a variety of research enterprises.

The American League accounted for 1,534 four-baggers, a major mark, and the National League came up with 1,196, so that the two circuits put together 2,730.

Behind Maris and Mantle in their league came Jim Gentile of Baltimore and Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota with 46 each; Rocky Colavito, Detroit, with 45, and his teammate, Norman Cash, with 41. Gentile matched the major mark for grand-slam homers with five.

Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco set the home-run pace in the National League with 46, with Willie Mays, his clubmate, coming next with 40 and Cincinnati's Frank Robinson, Most Valuable Player award winner, embellishing his season's attainments with 37.

Out of the plethora of home runs came an effort to bolster the pitching by returning the highly-controversial spitball to legal status. This proposal was vetoed at a meeting of the Rules Committee in Tampa, Fla., November 26, 1961, with only one supporting vote—from Cal Hubbard, supervisor of umpires for the American League.

As Maris kept crashing homers, the researchers began to examine the official ball manufactured by A. G. Spalding & Bros. and compare it with similar products of the past. Old dried-up baseballs were cut apart and dissected. More recent concoctions of leather and rubber, wool and glue were subjected to careful autopsies. Testing laboratories were employed by newspapers and magazines to give baseballs of various ages and eras examinations for resiliency and content.

When all the tests had been finished, the report came to this: There obviously had been no changes in the ball.

While the dissecting corps was busy along its own lines, the experts in pitching techniques were hunting for some sort of solutions and conclusions on the field. All sorts of unmerited and unfounded aspersions were cast on the company of hurlers.

The pitchers of 1961 came off somewhat the worse for wear as reporters who had not been around in 1927 arrived at the conclusion that Ruth and Gehrig had faced much more able and efficient hurlers than those off whom Maris, Mantle, Cepeda, Mays et al were hitting their home runs.

Virtually no allowances were made for the fact that the life of a pitcher, the life of any player, was much more arduous than in 1927, when there was no night competition, and the rigors endured in this Jet Age of traveling also were absent.

Keen students of pitching felt that young hurlers now were coming into the majors with far greater repertoires, stressed by the slider, than their predecessor of a generation or more ago brought out of the minor leagues.

Eventually the experts turned to the bats now in use. Compared with the Note—Game figures include tie game at Baltimore on April 22—Yankees' eighth game.

Sal Durante shows Roger Maris the ball which Yankee slugger hit for his historic sixty-first home run, October 1, 1961. Blast came off Tracy Stallard in fourth inning and produced 1 to 0 win over Boston in final game of season. Durante was sitting 15 rows up in the right field stands at Yankee Stadium when he caught the ball, which earned him a $5,000 reward offered by a Sacramento, Calif., restaurateur.

40 and more ounces of solid wood which Ruth swung, the spindly, light sticks of 1961 were vastly inferior as specimens of our ash forests. The cognoscenti decided that, contrary to popular belief, the light bats, more maneuverable, more whippy and faster in action, were more effective weapons for homers than the old, much heavier sticks.

Casey Stengel countered with the statement that the light bats were effective only if the ball were "hit on the nose" with the fat of the stick. The Ol' Perfessor also announced that the new-style bats were piling up strikeouts. He made a plea for more robust and heavier weapons.

As the 1961 season rolled along, it became apparent that Maris and Mantle were engaged in a home-run duel, and that the Ruth record of 60 homers might be in danger of eclipse.

Late in July, with Maris at the 40 level and Mantle at 38, Commissioner Ford Frick issued a pronunciamento to clarify the question that the longer, 162-game schedule posed.

Frick said, "Babe Ruth's mark of 60 home runs, made in a schedule of 154 games in 1927, cannot be broken unless some batter hits 61 or more within his club's first 154 games." Later he explained that he meant 154 games played to a decision.

In short, if Maris or Mantle hit 61 inside the American League's enlarged schedule of 162 games, brought about by expansion from eight clubs to ten, Ruth's mark would stand if the sixty-first homer were achieved in the eight additional contests.

At first the Frick dictum was taken to mean that if a new record were set with the aid of the added games, it would get nothing more than secondary billing in the record book.

The commissioner subsequently amplified his position by declaring that 61 homers gathered with expanded-schedule help would go into the book as a new record for 162 games but would not be accepted as having displaced the Ruth achievement.

In the meantime, Maris and Mantle went right on hitting homers. In the Yankees' game No. 116, in Washington on August 13, both Mickey and Roger hit homers off Bennie Daniels. Now Mantle had 45 and Maris 44, and writers and fans around the country got the feeling that Mickey would be the record setter, if a record were made. However, soon Mantle became ill and Maris was left without real opposition.

Mickey hit No. 53 on September 10 off Jim Perry of the Cleveland Indians. The day previous, Maris got his fifty-sixth off Mudcat Grant of Cleveland. Then the Bombers shifted to Detroit, where Maris shook up Frank Lary on September 16 and Terry Fox the following day.

This left Roger with 58 homers and only two games in which to meet Frick's record stipulation in so far as the Ruth mark was involved.

Actually, there were 163 games on the New York card, the extra contest being a replay of an April 22 seven-inning tie in Baltimore.

Maris did not hit one in that abbreviated draw, caused by a violent storm. But he did pole a presentable drive out of the Baltimore arena on the night of July 17 which didn't count. He did it in the first round. With two Yankees retired in the fifth inning and the score 4 to 1 in their favor, the downpour became so violent that it stopped action. Play could not be resumed and so Maris lost his homer and the Bombers lost their victory.

In a 154-game season, Maris would have finished with 59 homers and Mantle with 53. Actually, Roger didn't hit his fifty-ninth until Yankee game No. 155 on the night of September 20 in Baltimore, but because of the earlier tie, he got this extra chance—just as Ruth had one extra game in 1927 because of a tie.

Roger tagged Baltimore's Jack Fisher for his sixtieth circuit smash in the third inning, September 26, in game No. 159 under the arcs at Yankee Stadium. The blow gave the Bombers their slim winning margin, 3 to 2.

While Ruth hit his sixtieth in the Yanks' next-to-last contest of the 1927 season, Maris exploded his sixty-first in the 1961 finale in the Bronx, October 1. The Boston Red Sox were the visiting outfit and Tracy Stallard was pitching for them when Maris drove the ball into the right field stands in the fourth inning.

There the missile was caught by a little guy from Brooklyn named Sal Durante, who picked up the $5,000 which had been offered for the ball by a Sacramento, Calif. restaurateur. Durante had a difficult time keeping the valuable bit of leather against the assaults of companions in that area. But he held tight and before long got a trip to California and collected his five grand.

Since the Yankees won the pennant by a margin of eight lengths over Detroit, Maris' sixty-first homer, which beat Boston, 1 to 0, did not carry the championship with it. But it was a splendid performance in a fitting setting.

While the Yankees were playing their final Baltimore series, which produced homer No. 60 for Maris, Mantle was out of action. Mickey developed a virus which spread through his system and settled in his right hip. His final effort was a one-inning stint against the Orioles in the Stadium on September 26. He had made his last appearance in the regular lineup in Boston, September 24. The day previous in Fenway Park he had tagged Don Schwall for homer No. 54.

Later Mantle had to undergo surgery for an abscess in the hip. He mended slowly and badly and was forced to curtail his appearances in the World's Series against the Cincinnati Reds.

The Maris-Mantle duel began to fade on September 6 in the Yankees'

Roger Maris (No. 9), who had failed to hit safely in his first ten trips to the plate in the 1961 World's Series, snapped his slump with dramatic suddenness when he connected for a homer in the ninth inning, October 7, enabling the Yankees to pull out a 3 to 2 victory at Cincinnati. On hand to greet the No. 1 home-run slugger of the '61 season as he approached the dugout were Elston Howard (right), Manager Ralph Houk (third from right) and Whitey Ford (left of Houk).

game No. 140. That afternoon, Roger poled No. 54, off Washington's Tom Cheney. Maris was three in front of Mickey.

It wasn't until New York's eleventh game of the season, on April 26 in Detroit, that Maris was able to get started. He took care of Paul Foytack's fast ball. That same afternoon Mantle homered off both Jim Donohue and Hank Aguirre. The Bombers headed for Minneapolis-St. Paul with Mantle leading Maris by seven homers to one. Nobody expected this thing to grow into a heated battle between them.

However, Maris kept hammering away and on June 9, after game No. 52, he showed an 18 to 16 advantage over Mantle. On July 1, Maris had a 28 to 27 lead, and on August 1, it was 40 to 39. The September 1 score gave a 51 to 48 lead to Roger.

While the Maris-Mantle battle engrossed the fans and stirred the writers, they also were aroused over the comparison of pace between the 1961 Maris and the 1927 Ruth.

Once it became definitely established that Maris presented a threat to the Babe's record, newspapers around the country began to run boxes showing how Maris was faring against the rate at which the Babe gathered his four-baggers in his biggest season.

On July 12, 1927, Ruth had hit 30. On that date in 1961, Maris had 33. On August 1, 1961, Maris boasted 40 and comparisons got hotter. The Babe's log showed 34.

Now the sports pages adopted a crescendo tempo in playing up the 1961 slugger's chances to beat the record. The September 1 score favored Maris, 51 to 43. But the experts pointed out that Ruth had had that terrific last month, in which he hit 17 homers.

As it turned out, Maris hit only nine in September. He had belted 11 in August while Ruth had gathered nine in that interval of 31 days.

In accumulating his 60 home runs, Ruth hit 19 off lefthanders. In the process of piling up his 61, Maris wangled a dozen off southpaws, and that was considered a good showing. He has a marked distaste for portsideers.

While Maris was fighting Mantle, Ruth's record, the southpaws all the way, and the resentful righthanders who toward the end of the season became increasingly reluctant to pitch to him, there was a poignant drama behind the scenes.

As far as experience as a spectacular slugger was concerned, Maris offered utterly no comparison with the boisterous Babe. Ruth took it all in stride. In going for 60, he was competing against his own record of 59, set in 1921. As he kept piling up those four-baggers, the Yankee clubhouse scene was one of joviality and laughter. Interviewing the Babe was short and unmarked by a multiplicity of questions in the now-current baseball reporting manner.

Maris, on the other hand, found the daily interviews more punishing than he could stand. Most of the questions put to him hardly were of the ultra-germane class. For the interviewers, it was a matter of getting quotes, of following sports editor orders, of forcing Maris to say things.

From day to day the tensions bore down on Roger, harder and harder. One night he escaped the reporters and took refuge in Gus Mauch's training room. There, under an old Yankee rule, he could not be pursued by the quizzers. They resented his escape and came down on him harder than ever.

This situation came to a head in Baltimore on the night of September 20. He had gone two games minus a homer. After ruminating in front of his locker for an hour, Maris finally walked into Manager Ralph Houk's office.

Tears were streaming down Roger's face. "Ralph, I can't stand those questions any more. I need help. I am at the end of my rope. Why don't they leave me alone?" he pleaded.

Houk locked the door and sat down with Maris for a heart-to-heart talk which lasted half an hour. Then the Major said, "You are going to hit one tonight. Don't mind the reporters. They merely are doing a job."

Maris hit No. 59 that night. The tension broke. It kept wearing off and the smile which had left Roger's face early in July returned.

When Ruth hit his 60 in 1927, we of the press box felt that he would be on his way to 65 in 1928 or 1929. But it turned out that with 60, the Babe had reached his crest. In 1928 he started to fade. He got 54 that season and in his six seasons with the Yankees thereafter never hit the 50 level.

What lies before Roger Maris? He is 27, and he has yet to achieve his peak.

Babe Ruth being greeted by Lou Gehrig (holding bat) and Batboy Eddie Bennett after crossing the plate following his sixtieth homer, September 30, 1927. Scene was at Yankee Stadium. Tom Zachary, Washington lefthander, served up the homer, which came with the score 2-4 in the eighth inning to win the game for the Yankees, 4 to 2. Others shown are Muddy Ruel, Washington catcher; Umpires Bill Dinneen (at plate) and Brick Owens (at third) and Art Fletcher, Yankee third base coach.

Colts, Mets Stocked From N. L. Player Pot

EXPANSION of the major leagues became an accomplished fact in 1961. Breaking with the traditional eight-team setup, the American League stole the march by introducing two new clubs with the start of the season. The National League, having set a 1962 target date for the beginning of ten-team operation, completed plans for the momentous event by stocking the rosters of its two newest members.

While only the course of future events will determine whether expansion can be termed a success, the American League's first season as a ten-club circuit produced mixed reactions. Many observers viewed the results as satisfactory, but others were less enthusiastic. Doubtless the spectacular home-run derby involving the Yankees' Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle (described on pages 111-116) took the spotlight off other significant aspects of expansion.

Both of the A. L.'s two neophyte teams—the Los Angeles Angels and Washington Senators—did about as well as expected. From the start they faced a severe talent problem. Both opened the season with rosters composed chiefly of players who had been second-stringers on rival A. L. clubs the previous year. In a league player pool set up in December, 1960, to man the two clubs, the Angels and the Senators selected 28 players apiece from the eight holdover teams. Despite the talent handicap, neither of the new clubs disgraced itself. In fact, the Angels finished only half a game out of seventh place. The Senators, after a fine first-half showing, had to settle for a tie with Kansas City for last place.

Probably the bitterest disappointment experienced by the new American League clubs came at the gate. The Senators played to only 597,287 fans—lowest figure in the circuit and almost 150,000 under the draw that Calvin Griffith's former Washington club registered in the capital in 1960. The Angels did only slightly better with 603,510. On the other hand, Griffith's transplanted Minnesota Twins attracted 1,256,723 in their new home in the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul. This topped by almost 230,000 the club's peak attendance during its 60 years in Washington.

Meantime, the two new National League clubs—the Houston Colt .45s and New York Mets—continued preparations for their 1962 debuts. The preparations included selection of front-office personnel, managers and coaching staffs, the signing of scouts and free-agent talent, organization of a farm system, arranging for a park and selection of players from the league player pool at the close of the season.

Houston entered 1961 with its front-office staff virtually completed. However, in a surprise move Gabe Paul announced his resignation as Colt general manager. April 27, to accept a similar position with the Cleveland Indians. The Cleveland post had been vacant since Frank Lane switched to Kansas City, January 3, under a four-year contract. Other Colt executives assumed the G. M. duties at Houston until Paul Richards stepped down as Baltimore manager, September 1, to sign a three-year pact as Houston front-office boss.

The Mets, moving more cautiously, finally solidified their executive staff with the appointment of George M. Weiss as president, March 14. M. Donald Grant, who had been president, moved up to the role of board chairman. Less than five months earlier, Weiss had resigned as general manager of the New York Yankees because he had passed the club's newly-adopted retirement age of 65.

Casey Stengel also re-entered the major league picture after a one-year absence when he signed to manage the Mets, October 2. The move reunited the 71-year-old skipper and Weiss, the most successful field and front-office duo in diamond history while with the Yankees. Like Weiss, Ol' Case had severed connections with the Bombers after the 1960 pennant-winning season.

The Colts selected Harry Craft as their manager. The one-time Kansas City A's pilot started the 1961 season as a member of the Chicago Cubs' revolving staff of coaches, but piloted the Cubs' Houston farm club in the American Association from July 16 through the close of the season.

Both the Mets and Colt .45s found it necessary to arrange for temporary homes in 1962 while negotiations were being completed and construction started on new stadiums in New York and Houston.

The Mets signed a lease to play at the Polo Grounds, abandoned by the Giants after the '57 season, until a new stadium in Flushing Meadow Park could be constructed. The City of New York appropriated funds to build an arena seating 55,000 for baseball and 60,000 for football. Ground for the Flushing Meadow Stadium, expected to cost around $17,800,000, was broken on October 28.

Voters in Harris County, Texas, had approved a $20,000,000 bond issue for a domed stadium in Houston, January 31. However, various legal hassles delayed the start of work on the project until late in the year. When it became obvious there was no chance to complete the stadium in time for the '62 season, the Colts decided to build a temporary park seating 32,000 on adjacent land.

Plans for the air-conditioned, domed stadium—the first of its type—provided for stands seating 43,581 for baseball and 52,913 for football. The cost was pegged at $15,000,000, exclusive of the land.

To provide the Colts and Mets with a nucleus of players, the National League's eight holdover clubs established a player pool. It was a modified version of that followed by the American League late in 1960 to stock the new Washington Senators and Los Angeles Angels.

Each N. L. club was required to file with the Commissioner's office by September 20 a list of 15 players—seven from their 25-man roster of August 31 and eight from their group of optionees or minor league acquisitions. The formula also provided that, following the selections from the aforementioned lists, each club would put up two more players from its August 31 roster for a so-called premium draft.

Under the N. L. arrangement, both Houston and New York were required to pick two players from each 15-man list at a cost of $75,000 apiece. They also were permitted—but not required—to make a third selection from each club at $50,000. In addition, the Colts and Mets both had to pick four of the so-called premium players—no more than one could be taken from any team—at $125,000 each.

The selection meeting, scheduled for the day after the World's Series ended, took place in the Netherland-Hilton Hotel in Cincinnati, October 10. Houston won the flip of the coin to determine first choice in the $75,000 draft and picked Infielder Eddie Bressoud of San Francisco. New York followed by choosing Hobie Landrith, San Francisco catcher.

At the close of this phase of the selections, the eight holdover clubs named their "premium" eligibles. The Mets won the flip this time and started by grabbing Bob Miller, St. Louis pitcher. The entire proceedings consumed approximately four hours, and when the drafting was completed, the Mets had claimed 22 players at a cost of $1,800,000 and the Colts had acquired 23 for an outlay of $1,850,000.

The complete list of players selected by the Colts and the Mets, with an asterisk indicating the so-called premium players, follows:

Majors' Attendance Off Despite Expansion

DESPITE two additional clubs in the American League, attendance in the majors dipped sharply in 1961 from the previous year's total. The two circuits attracted 18,894,518 paid for the regular season as against 19,911,489 in 1960. This represented an over-all decline of five per cent. In contrast to '60, when five clubs set all-time season attendance records, not a single season gate mark was broken.

The National League experienced the biggest decrease. From an all-time high of 10,684,963 in 1960, the senior circuit skidded to 8,731,502—a drop of 18 per cent. Only the champion Cincinnati Reds showed a gain. Nearly doubling their draw of a year earlier, the Reds played to 1,117,603, only 8,325 short of the club record set in '56.

Except for the new Minnesota Twins and Los Angeles Angels, the American League would have faced a ten per cent decline from its 1960 total. However, with the Twins attracting 1,256,723 at home and the Angels 603,510, the A. L. gate totaled 10,163,016 as against the eight-club aggregate of 9,226,526 for '60. Two clubs—Detroit and New York—registered increases.

The sharpest drop in either league occurred at Pittsburgh, where the Pirate gate was off 506,700 from the record 1960 figure. The Los Angeles Dodgers, despite a drop of nearly 450,000, again led both loops with 1,804,250.

In the minors, the 22 leagues comprising the National Association attracted 10,108,986, including all-star, playoff and inter-league games. The Mexico City Reds of the Mexican League led with 285,301.

The majors' official 1961 figures (minors' attendance shown with respective league averages), plus the game and season highs for each club:

Nationals Won, Tied in All-Star Contests

CAPRICES of the weather and the National League combined to steal the show in the 1961 All-Star Game program. For the third straight year, two contests were played, and the elements played a prominent role in both as each produced an unprecedented finish. In the first game, played at San Francisco, July 11, a near gale contributed to a wild climax as the National League came from behind in the tenth inning to win, 5 to 4. The second game, at Boston, July 31, ended in a 1 to 1 stalemate when a heavy downpour stopped play after nine innings.

Numerous firsts were registered in the two affairs. The San Francisco clash marked the first time either loop had pulled a game from the fire in overtime. It also gave the National League a perfect 3-0 record in extra-inning All-Star contests. The Boston engagement represented the lone tie in the 31-game series and only the second game to be halted by rain.

By winning the spectacle at San Francisco, the Nationals made it ten victories in the last 14 decisions. However, the American League still held the edge in All-Star play by a slim 16-14 margin.

Continuing a practice begun in 1958, the managers, coaches and players of the two leagues again selected their circuit's starting lineup, exclusive of the pitcher. The only restriction was that no player could vote for a member of his own club. Top vote-getters were Norm Cash of Detroit with 235 and Roger Maris, Yankees, 233, in the American League and Frank Bolling of Milwaukee, 183, in the National.

The managers of the two teams picked the remaining players. Each was limited to a 25-man squad for the first game. For the second, both were permitted to add three additional performers and also make any desired changes in their pitching staffs.

With the pennant-winning Yankees having released Casey Stengel following the 1960 season, Paul Richards, manager of the runner-up Orioles, was named to pilot the American League team. Danny Murtaugh of the champion Pirates led the N.L. squad. Manager Mickey Vernon of Washington and Coach Frank Crosetti of the Yankees served as Richards' aids in the first game and Manager Mike Higgins of Boston and Coach Jimmy Adair of Baltimore in the second. Murtaugh chose Managers Al Dark of San Francisco and Gene Mauch of Philadelphia to assist him at Candlestick Park, while Manager Chuck Dressen of Milwaukee and Head Coach Elvin Tappe of the Cubs aided him at Boston.

The San Francisco contest had a little bit of everything—brilliant pitching, home runs, sparkling base-running and, in the late innings, a wind-storm that will remain legendary. It was the daddy of "typhoons" at Candlestick Park, famed for its gale-like winds.

The strong air currents were largely responsible for the All-Star record of seven errors. Five of these were made by the winning Nationals. Ken Boyer, the Cardinals' brilliant third baseman, was guilty of two of the worst miscues. One allowed the tying A.L. run to score in the ninth inning. The other permitted Nellie Fox to score all the way from first base with the A.L.'s tie-breaking run in the tenth.

The capacity crowd of 44,115—biggest in San Francisco history—also saw the unusual spectacle of the wind literally blowing Stu Miller, Giants' relief ace, off the mound for a costly balk. The big turnout provided net receipts of $259,230.81, of which 60 per cent went to the players' pension fund.

Most of the action was packed into the ninth and tenth innings. Great pitching handcuffed the Americans until the ninth. Warren Spahn of Milwaukee started off with three hitless innings. Cincinnati's Bob Purkey followed with two perfect rounds and Mike McCormick of the Giants yielded just one hit—a homer to Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew—during his three frames.

Meanwhile, the Nationals scored three times. A triple by Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh and a sacrifice fly by the Cards' Bill White produced a run off Whitey Ford, Yankee ace, in the second inning. Detroit's Frank Lary was on the mound in the fourth when Willie Mays of the Giants reached second base on an error by Tony Kubek, Yankee shortstop. Lary, bothered by an inflamed tendon in his pitching shoulder, then gave way to Washington's Dick Donovan. An infield out and Clemente's sacrifice fly scored Mays.

The Nationals made it 3 to 1 in the eighth against Mike Forniello, Red Sox' fireman, on a pinch-homer by George Altman of the Cubs.

As the Americans came to bat in the ninth, the wind began blowing and changed the game into a weird nightmare. Roy Face of Pittsburgh was pitching for the N. L. With one out, Detroit's Norm Cash doubled for only the second A. L. hit. Al Kaline, Tiger outfielder, followed with a single, scoring Cash and bringing Dodger Lefty Sandy Koufax to the mound. When the Yanks' Roger Maris greeted him with a single, Stu Miller was called to the rescue. By now the wind was a near-gale and caused Miller to commit a damaging balk. Rocky Colavito of the Tigers sent a grounder to Boyer, but he bobbled it, enabling Kaline to score the tying run. Miller eventually got the side out but not before two more N. L. errors gave him a further scare.

In the tenth Stu fanned the first two batters on butterfly curves before walking Nellie Fox, White Sox keystoneer. Kaline then bounced one to Boyer, and when the Cardinal third sacker threw wildly past first base, Fox raced all the way home to give the Americans a 4 to 3 lead.

Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore knuckleballer, was pitching when Hank Aaron of Milwaukee opened the N. L. tenth with a single. A passed ball by Elston Howard, Yankee catcher, enabled the runner to reach second. Mays then bounced a double down the third base line, scoring Aaron with the tying run. After Frank Robinson of Cincinnati was hit by a pitched ball, Clemente broke up the game by singling to right-center to plate Mays with the winning run.

Besides the record San Francisco crowd which attended, millions of fans heard the broadcast and saw the telecast of the game beamed by the National Broadcasting Co. The Gillette Safety Razor Co. and the Chrysler Corp. sponsored the radio and TV accounts. Jimmy Dudley and Jerry Doggett described the game on radio, while Mel Allen and Russ Hodges did the video commentary.

FENWAY ENCORE BEST-PITCHED GAME OF ALL-STAR SERIES

Except for a misplayed grounder, the second 1961 Dream Game at Boston's Fenway Park, July 31, might have resulted in the first 1 to 0 decision in All-Star history. As it was, the turnout of 31,851 was treated to the best-pitched game in the long mid-summer series.

Luis Aparicio, the White Sox' classy shortstop, was guilty of the mental lapse which helped the Nationals to their lone run and led to the 1-all tie. Ironically, a moment later he made a great play which proved a game-saver for the Americans.

The error in judgment occurred in the sixth inning. At the time the American League squad was leading, 1 to 0, as the result of a first-inning homer by Detroit's Rocky Colavito off Bob Purkey, Cincinnati righthander. The blow was the A.L.'s lone hit off Purkey and Art Mahaffey of the Phillies during the first four innings.

Jim Bunning of Detroit started for the junior circuit and worked three hitless innings. Don Schwall, rookie Red Sox hurler, succeeded him and was on the mound in the sixth when the N.L. tied the score. With one gone he walked Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews on four pitches. After retiring Willie Mays of the Giants, Schwall got two strikes on Orlando Cepeda before nicking the San Francisco slugger with a pitched ball.

Schwall also had two strikes on Eddie Kasko when the Cincinnati shortstop tribbled a grounder that should have ended the inning. It was a slow, high-bouncing ball toward short. Aparicio, playing a medium shortstop position, waited for the ball instead of moving in for it. The last bounce was a tricky one, and by the time Looey got the ball, it was too late for a play. The infield hit filled the bases.

Bill White of the Cardinals, next up, slapped a sharp grounder back toward the box. Schwall barely got his glove on the ball and it went on through. Dashing over behind second, Aparicio made a great stop. Mathews scored from third on the hit, but Aparicio's play forced Cepeda to hold up at third. The inning finally ended when Frank Bolling of the Braves flied to Colavito in left field.

Schwall, who gave up all five hits collected by the N. L., also had a tight squeeze in the fifth. White led off that inning with a hit to center which he hustled into a double when he caught Mickey Mantle, Yankee center fielder, flat-footed. An infield out moved White to third, but in this emergency Schwall struck out John Roseboro of the Dodgers and Pinch-Hitter Stan Musial of the Cardinals.

With the skies turning dark, the lights were turned on at the start of the seventh inning. Camilo Pascual of Minnesota took the mound for the A. L. at that point and hurled three hitless rounds. Manager Danny Murtaugh summoned Stu Miller when the Americans came up for their seventh.

The San Francisco fireman pitched a perfect seventh and eighth, but in the ninth the Americans threatened. Al Kaline of Detroit led off with a single. With one gone, he stole second, putting the potential winning run in scoring position. However, Miller fanned the Yankees' Elston Howard and Pinch-Hitter Roy Sievers of the White Sox to end the inning as a heavy rain began falling. Play was immediately halted, and after a 30-minute wait, the umpires called the game.

Net gate receipts amounted to $172,298.19, but radio-television rights yielded another $250,000—the same as from the first game. Ernie Harwell and Blaine Walsh were at the microphones for the broadcasts, again carried over the NBC network, while Curt Gowdy and Joe Garagiola described the action on television.

KRAUSSE FIRED SHUTOUT IN PRO BOW BEFORE 25,869

Lew Krausse, Jr., 18-year-old Kansas City pitcher, turned in the 1961 season's most spectacular major league debut. Early in June, following graduation from Chester (Pa.) High School, the young righthander signed with the A's for a reported bonus of $125,000. His father, himself a former major league pitcher, was a member of the Athletics' scouting staff. Young Krausse's debut came the night of June 16 at Kansas City's Municipal Stadium. A crowd of 25,869 was attracted by the announcement that he would start. Facing Los Angeles, the six-foot, 175-pound newcomer set the Angels down on three hits, all singles, 4 to 0. He struck out six, walked five and collected two hits himself. In his next outing a week later, Krausse extended his scoreless string to 15 innings before Boston's Gary Geiger tagged him for a three-run homer in the seventh frame. The Red Sox proceeded to pin Krausse with a 5 to 4 loss.

Mays Ninth to Sock Four Homers in Game

USING a borrowed bat, Willie Mays enjoyed the greatest day of his career, April 30, 1961, a day that etched his name into the record books with the game's leading sluggers. The famed Say-Hey Kid of the San Francisco Giants walloped four home runs in a game that afternoon, matching a feat accomplished by only eight others in major league history.

Mays unloaded his eye-opening performance at Milwaukee County Stadium. It followed just two days after Warren Spahn had tossed a no-hitter against the Giants in the same park. Curiously, the Giant star had never before hit more than two homers in a game.

The record-equaling pyrotechnics climaxed what started out to be a distressing series for Mays. Besides going hitless in three trips during Spahn's no-hitter, he had drawn the collar in four tries the next day. And then a midnight snack of barbecued ribs backfired on Willie, making him ill.

However, he felt alright the following morning and went to the park. During batting practice, Teammate Joe Amalfitano unloaded several line drives and suggested that Willie try his bat. Finding it to his liking, Mays decided to use it during the game.

On his first plate appearance in the opening inning, he tore into a Lew Burdette pitch and slammed it 420 feet over the center field fence. One was aboard in the third inning when Willie drilled another Burdette delivery 400 feet into the left-center field bleachers.

Moe Drabowsky retired Mays on a liner to deep center field in the fifth inning, but in the sixth he resumed his cannonading with a three-run, 450-foot blast off Seth Morehead. His fourth came off Don McMahon with a mate on in the eighth inning, giving him eight RBIs for the game as the Giants coasted to a 14 to 4 victory.

Willie almost got a chance for No. 5. With two out in the ninth, he was in the on-deck circle when Jimmy Davenport grounded out to end the game.

Only 13,114 were on hand at Milwaukee County Stadium for the memorable Sunday contest, but millions witnessed Mays' remarkable sock show on the coast-to-coast telecast of the game.

In addition to Mays' volley, the Giants walloped four other homers that day—two by Jose Pagan and one each by Felipe Alou and Orlando Cepeda. The Giants' fourth circuit smashes tied a major league record.

The box score of Mays' record-tying home-run performance follows:

Gentile's Five Grand-Slams Matched Mark

LED by Baltimore's Jim Gentile, major league sluggers blasted a record 77 grand-slam home runs in 1961. Gentile socked five of the bases-loaded four-baggers, matching the Big Time mark set by Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs in 1955. The American League, with ten clubs and a lengthened schedule, accounted for 48 jackpot blows to 29 for the National.

The two-league total exceeded by nine the old high of 68, compiled in 1950. With 48, the American League easily surpassed its previous mark of 37 set in 1938. The National total was six under the circuit's record of 35.

Gentile easily stole the grand-slam show. Besides tying Banks' mark, the Baltimore first baseman created two records by walloping a pair in consecutive innings at Metropolitan Stadium, home of the Minnesota Twins, May 9. In the first inning Gentile connected off Pedro Ramos, and then he repeated against Paul Giel in the second, sparking a 13 to 5 rout. He thus became the first player in major league history to hit two grand-slams in consecutive at-bats and the first to drive in eight runs in successive innings.

Gentile hit his third grand-slam off Phil Regan to beat Detroit, 6 to 3, July 2. Five days later he duplicated against Kansas City's Ed Rakow in a pinch-hitting role, again in Baltimore. Gentile's fifth grand-slam came at Chicago off Reliever Don Larsen in the Orioles' 157th game to highlight an 8 to 6 triumph. Ironically, the Baltimore pitcher in all five games was Chuck Estrada, who, curiously, also was the beneficiary of Gentile's only previous major league grand-slammer on June 26, 1960.

Len Green's 24-Game Skein Best of Year

LENNIE GREEN, outfielder of the Minnesota Twins, fashioned the majors' longest 1961 hitting streak. Starting on May 1, the lefty-hitting flyhawk connected in 24 consecutive games before being stopped in the opener of a Memorial Day double-header with Cleveland. During his skein, Green collected 34 hits in 94 at-bats for a .362 gait.

Only two other players put together hitting skeins of 20 or more games. Both of them also were American leaguers—Al Kaline, Detroit outfielder, and John Romano, Cleveland catcher. Each had a 22-game splurge. Romano's was the more spectacular. He batted a resounding .446 with 37 hits in 83 swings, including eight homers, and drove in 27 runs during the skein.

The longest streak by a National leaguer was 19 games by Frank Robinson of Cincinnati. Only one player—Mickey Mantle—enjoyed more than one hitting streak of 15 or more games. The New York star had a string of 16 and another of 15. Other long skeins included: 19 games—Roy Sievers, White Sox; Johnny Temple, Cleveland, and Tony Kubek, Yankees; 17 games—Gene Woodling, Washington; 16 games—Lee Thomas, Angels; Luis Aparicio, White Sox; Brooks Robinson, Baltimore; Ron Fairly, Dodgers, and Bill Mazeroski, Pittsburgh; 15 games—Frank Bolling, Eddie Mathews and Frank Thomas, Milwaukee; Lee Walls, Philadelphia; Ken Boyer, St. Louis; Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco, and Rocky Colavito, Detroit.

The feat of collecting five hits in a game was achieved by 17 players, with Roberto Clemente and Orlando Cepeda turning the trick twice. No one matched the record of six safeties in a game. Lee Thomas, rookie first baseman-outfielder of the Angels, followed a 5-for-5 performance in the opener of a September 5 double-header at Kansas City with a 4-for-6 effort in the second game, giving him a record-tying nine hits for the twin-bill.

Musial Aiming at Wagner, Cobb Marks

By LEE ALLEN

AS STAN MUSIAL prepared for his twenty-first season as a member of the Cardinals in 1962, his announced goal was to top Honus Wagner's National League record of 3,430 hits. Stan the Man, with 3,401, needed only 29 safeties to tie the mark. He also was on the verge of setting National League records for games played (with 2,767 he needed 18 to tie Wagner), times at bat (he needed 225 to tie Wagner), runs (he needed only one to tie Mel Ott) and runs-batted-in (he needed 49 to tie Ott). Musial already owned National League records in doubles (697) and total bases (5,778).

When the American League is also considered, Musial, of course, is farther down the lists. But before the year is out, it is possible that he will become the major league leader in total bases and extra-base hits. Ty Cobb holds the record for total bases, with 5,863, and Musial, with 5,778, was only 85 behind. Babe Ruth is the leader in extra-base hits with 1,356, and Stan is second. With 1,315, he needed 41 to tie this mark, and that was the exact number of long hits he made in 1961.

Because Stan indicated that 1961 probably would be his last season, records for games played, runs, hits, singles, doubles, triples, home runs, runs-batted-in and extra bases on long hits are probably beyond him.

Here are the leaders in each of the 12 principal divisions of batting performance, and the position Musial occupied in each going into the 1962 season:

Second Gem for 300-Game Winner Spahn

AFTER SPENDING 15 years in the majors before pitching a no-hitter, Southpaw Warren Spahn of Milwaukee threatened to make a habit of it. The Braves' mound marvel hurled two gems in successive seasons. His second came in a 1 to 0 victory over the hard-hitting San Francisco Giants at Milwaukee County Stadium, April 28, 1961. It was the majors' only no-hit game of the year.

In nearly every respect, Spahn's second masterpiece represented an even greater feat than his first, a 4 to 0 conquest of the Philadelphia Phillies the previous September 16. In the Giants, he faced one of the National League's heaviest slugging crews. Not only did he mow them down without a hit, but he faced only 27 batters. Two walks kept him from a perfect game.

The no-hitter occurred just five days after Spahn observed his fortieth birthday. This made him the second oldest pitcher ever to author a no-hit game in the majors. Only Cy Young was older at 41.

"It was so easy it was pathetic," commented Spahn. "Everything went my way and they kept guessing wrong. But let's face it: I was just plain lucky. I walked a man to start an inning—a cardinal sin with a one-run lead—only once, but twice, and got away with it."

The two passes—both on four pitches—went to Chuck Hiller in the fourth inning and Willie McCovey in the fifth. After each, Spahn personally cleaned the bases by starting double plays. Harvey Kuenn hit into the first and Orlando Cepeda into the second.

Spahn had his closest call in the ninth inning. To begin, Catcher Charlie Lau dropped Ed Bailey's foul fly. Fortunately, Bailey then struck out. It was on the next play that the Giants almost ruined the no-hitter. Pinch-Hitter Matty Alou laid an almost perfect bunt down the first base line. In a do-or-die play, Spahn picked up the ball and in one sweeping motion tossed it backhanded to First Baseman Joe Adcock, retiring the fleet Alou by one step. Joe Amalfitano then grounded out to end the game.

Even with his no-hitter, the Braves' fabulous lefty might have had to work overtime but for a defensive slip by Bailey, who had been obtained from Cincinnati only the day before. Sam Jones pitched five-hit ball for the Giants and fanned ten, but Bailey's passed ball beat him. With one out in the first inning, Frank Bolling singled. He took second on the passed ball, and scored on Hank Aaron's single. This was the game's lone run, but for the skimpy Friday night crowd of 8,518 fans who braved chilly, 44-degree weather, the big excitement was to follow.

For Spahn, the no-hitter marked another step in his successful climb to an even more coveted goal—the elite 300-victory class. The amazing 40-year old lefthander achieved that exclusive rating when he defeated the Chicago Cubs on a six-hitter, 2 to 1, at County Stadium, August 11. A crowd of 40,795 was on hand to see him gain the lifetime 300-victory circle on his first try. He thus became only the thirteenth pitcher in major league history to reach that total. He won nine more games before the season ended.

The box score of Spahn's no-hitter against the Giants follows:

Nine Missed No-Hit Fame on Lone Safety

NINE PITCHERS missed out on joining Warren Spahn in the no-hit ranks in 1961 by the margin of a lone safety. They included Frank Lary, Detroit's 23-game winner; Joey Jay of Cincinnati, who tied Spahn as the National League's leading winner; Dick Donovan of Washington, the American League earned-run leader, and Art Mahaffey, loser of 19 games for Philadelphia.

Lary's brush with fame came in his opening appearance of the season, April 14. A scratch single by Jim Landis in the fifth inning was the lone safety garnered by the Chicago White Sox as Lary prevailed, 7 to 0. Short-stop Chico Fernandez went far to his right on Landis' tap, but the ball bounced off his glove for a hit.

Jay likewise gained his first victory with a one-hitter. However, he already had lost three times before his near-miss against Philadelphia, May 4. Johnny Callison, the Phillies' second batter of the game, singled for the lone hit off Jay in his 4 to 0 breeze. Only one other Phil reached base—Ruben Amaro on a walk in the third. With the help of a double play, Jay faced a mere 28 batters.

A seventh-inning homer wrecked Donovan's bid for a no-hitter as well as a shutout, September 24. Joe Altobelli rapped the four-bagger with one away in the seventh, but Donovan emerged a 4 to 1 victor over the Minnesota Twins.

Mahaffey was something of an enigma. After winning six of his first nine decisions, he lost 14 of the next 15, including ten in a row. The 23-year-old righthander finally ended his string of defeats by handcuffing the Chicago Cubs on one hit, 6 to 0, August 22. Ron Santo, second batter of the game, singled for the lone bingle off Mahaffey, who faced only 29 batters. Just two days earlier, in their last previous game, the Phillies had ended a record 23-game losing streak by beating Milwaukee, 7 to 4.

Of the other one-hitters, the most significant was that by Joe Gibbon, Pittsburgh portsider. When he turned back the Los Angeles Dodgers, 8 to 0, in the windup of a two-night twin-bill on September 26, he applied the mathematical clincher to Cincinnati's pennant. Bob Aspromonte, a pinch-hitter, singled in the sixth frame for the lone Dodger hit.

Next to Spahn, Al Schroll of Minnesota made probably the closest approach to a no-hitter. He held Cleveland hitless until the ninth inning, September 27, but then gave up a single, two walks and a triple for four runs and had to settle for a 10 to 4 victory.

Milt Pappas, Baltimore righthander, showed the way in two-hit performances with three such efforts. Four others hurled a pair—Dick Hall, Baltimore; Camilo Pascual, Minnesota; Sandy Koufax, Dodgers, and Spahn. Both of Koufax' two-hitters came against Chicago, and on each occasion the Cubs got their safeties in the seventh and ninth innings. Spahn also hurled his second two-hitter against the Cubs, September 24, with Billy Williams being the only Chicago player who could solve his slants.

A complete list of the nine one-hit and 30 two-hit games pitched in the majors in 1961, with the names of the "spoilers," follows:

MAHAFFEY, MONBOUQUETTE IN 17-WHIFF EFFORTS

Two pitchers came within one of the modern major league record of 18 strikeouts in a game in 1961. They were Art Mahaffey of the Philadelphia Phillies and Bill Monbouquette of the Boston Red Sox. Mahaffey turned the trick in the second game of a Sunday double-header at Philadelphia, April 23, when he fanned 17 Chicago Cubs en route to a four-hit, 6 to 0 victory. He whiffed the side twice and had at least one strikeout in every inning. Monbouquette's 17-strikeout performance came in a game at Washington, May 12, and set an American League mark for most whiffs in a night contest. The Red Sox righthander won, 2 to 1. He had a four-hit shutout going into the ninth inning, but an error, a walk and a single by Billy Klaus gave the Senators their run.

PERFECT GAMES—NINE OR MORE INNINGS

Eight perfect games have been pitched in major league championship play, including one in the 1956 World's Series by Don Larsen of the New York Yankees and Harvey Haddix' 12-inning perfect effort for Pittsburgh in 1959. The perfect games follow:

*Shore's performance is classified as a perfect game even though he did not start the game. Babe Ruth, Boston's starting pitcher, was removed by Umpire Brick Owens after giving a base on balls to Ray Morgan, the first batter. Shore, without warming up, took Ruth's place. Morgan was retired trying to steal second. From then on, Shore faced 26 batters, with none reaching base.

Majors Invested Record $680,000 in Draft

MAJOR league clubs gambled a record amount of money in the 1961 player draft. Picking 35 performers—the largest draft haul in 47 years—the 20 Big Time teams invested $680,000 in the annual grab-bag. Fifteen of the players selected were youngsters coming under the first-year player rule, while four others were taken in a special drawing by the National League's new Houston and New York clubs.

The draft meeting was held in Tampa, Fla., November 27, in conjunction with the annual National Association convention. Later the same day the minors conducted their selection sessions, during which 26 additional players gained promotion through this medium.

The Minnesota Twins, Los Angeles Angels and Cleveland Indians made the most purchases, four each. All four of the Twins' picks were from the regular draft list, where the price was $25,000. One of the Angels' choices came from among the first-year kids, who carried a $12,000 price tag, while the Indians took three first-year players.

First crack at the talent pot went to the American League's last-place club. Since Washington and Kansas City had tied for the cellar, a toss of the coin determined priority and the Senators won the flip. In opening the draft, General Manager Ed Doherty of Washington selected Ken Hamlin, 25-year-old shortstop, from Toronto (International).

Following completion of the regular draft, first-year player selections were made. This round of picking produced the most unusual development when the Chicago White Sox claimed First Baseman-Outfielder Steve Selsky, a youngster who had never played an O. B. game, from the Los Angeles Dodgers' Spokane (Pacific Coast) club. Selsky was one of seven new Dodger prospects declared draft eligible by Commissioner Ford Frick for being used on a Dodger-sponsored rookie team.

At the conclusion of the first-year player round, the new Houston Colts and New York Mets were permitted two drafts each in accordance with a ruling handed down by Frick a year earlier.

The complete list of players drafted by major league clubs follows, with an asterisk in parentheses indicating a first-year player:

American League: Baltimore—Pitcher Billy Short from Richmond, Infielder-Catcher Ossie Virgil from Portland and Pitcher Steve Cosgrove () from Vancouver; Boston—None; Chicago—First Baseman-Outfielder Steve Selsky () from Spokane, Shortstop Bob Pearson () from Denver and Pitcher Frank Kreutzer () from Seattle; Cleveland—Pitcher Don Rudolph from Indianapolis, Catcher Dick Booker () from Columbus and First Baseman-Third Baseman Antulio Martinez () from Tacoma and Outfielder Bob Chance () from Tacoma; Detroit—None; Kansas City—Outfielder Gino Cimoli from Vancouver, First Baseman Bill Meyer () from Richmond and Outfielder Wayne Norton () from Richmond; Los Angeles—Infielder Marlan Coughtry from Seattle, Outfielder Felix Torres from Buffalo, Pitcher Bob Belinsky from Rochester and Pitcher Bob Haye () from Columbus; Minnesota—Third Baseman George Banks from Richmond, Second Baseman Johnny Goryl from Omaha, Pitcher Georges Maranda from Tacoma and Pitcher Bruce Swango from Richmond; New York—None; Washington—Shortstop Ken Hamlin from Toronto, Pitcher Ray Rippelmeyer from Indianapolis and Pitcher James Hannan (*) from Seattle.

National League: Chicago—Pitcher George Gerberman () from Vancouver; Cincinnati—Pitcher Moe Drabowsky from Louisville; Houston—Pitcher Dean Stone from Charleston, W. Va., and Outfielder Johnny Weekly from Tacoma; Los Angeles—Pitcher Alan Malkasian () from Richmond; Milwaukee—Pitcher Marvin Berbeck () from Denver; New York—Pitcher Bob Moorhead from Indianapolis and Pitcher Aubrey Gatewood from Dallas-Fort Worth; Philadelphia—Infielder Billy Consolo from Vancouver; Pittsburgh—None; St. Louis—Pitcher John Anderson from Rochester; San Francisco—Pitcher Dick Holden () from Vancouver.

In the minor league draft, the Houston Colt and San Francisco Giant organizations were the most active. Each claimed six players out of the total of 26. The 26 selections represented an investment of $192,500.

Syracuse (International) had first pick in the minors' sessions and chose Infielder-Outfielder Rod Kanehl from Nashville (Southern) in the regular draft and Pitcher Jim Merritt from Atlanta in the first-year selections.

New Clubs Sparked Busy Year of Trading

ENLARGEMENT of the majors' player requirements because of expansion boomed activity in the game's flesh marts. With the American League having ten clubs in operation all year and the National's two new entries joining in the talent shuffle at the close of the season, 1961 proved a David Harum's delight. From the standpoint of player trades, the year ranked as possibly the busiest in diamond history.

Both of the junior circuit's two new clubs, the Los Angeles Angels and Washington Senators, figured in numerous transactions, particularly the Angels. Fred Haney, L. A. general manager, negotiated five swaps involving 13 players and purchased half a dozen players in cash deals. Late in the year the National League's infant members, the New York Mets and Houston Colt .45s, also moved into the trading picture.

By far the most active club in player dealings, however, was the Kansas City Athletics. Owner Charles Finley's appointment of Frank Lane as general manager early in the year almost automatically guaranteed that the A's would do plenty of dealing. But even after Finley's dismissal of Lane, August 22, the Athletics continued to juggle their roster. Despite all of the maneuvering Kansas City wound up in a last-place tie with Washington.

For the year, Kansas City showed 11 multiple-player transactions with other Big Time clubs. In all, 43 athletes changed uniforms in the swaps—one player, Clint Courtney, twice as part of the same deal. The A's also made cash purchases of three players.

Lane and the A's were involved in the year's two biggest trades. On January 24, just three weeks after he was hired, Lane turned a three-for-five exchange with Baltimore. All of the players were lesser lights. It eventually became a two-for-four affair when the Athletics, who still owed a player, returned Courtney to the Orioles to complete the deal.

An eight-player transaction that included some bigger names was completed by the A's and White Sox, June 10. In it Kansas City sent Pitchers Ray Herbert and Don Larsen, Third Baseman Andy Carey and Outfielder Al Pilarcik to Chicago in exchange for Pitchers Bob Shaw and Gerry Staley and Outfielders Wes Covington and Stan Johnson.

As if to prove Lane had no patent on trading, Finley and his new Kansas City general manager, Pat Friday, arranged a five-player deal with Milwaukee, December 15, the final day of the inter-league trading period. Shipping Shaw and Infielder Lou Klimchock to the Braves, the A's received Catcher Joe Azcue, Infielder Ed Charles and Outfielder Manuel Jimenez.

The third annual no-waivers, inter-league swapping session, November 21-December 15, produced a flurry of activity although few deals of great consequence materialized. In all, there were 14 inter-league transactions affecting 40 players.

Ed Short, newly-appointed Chicago White Sox general manager, figured in four of these swaps. Seeking to replace some of the Pale Hose's veterans with younger players, Short sent Outfielder Minnie Minoso to St. Louis in return for First Baseman Joe Cunningham, traded First Baseman Roy Sievers to Philadelphia for Pitcher John Buzhardt and Infielder Charlie Smith, shipped Pitchers Billy Pierce and Don Larsen to San Francisco in exchange for First Baseman Bob Farley, Pitchers Eddie Fisher and Dom Zanni and a player to be named later, and traded Third Baseman Andy Carey and Pitcher Frank Barnes to Philadelphia for Pitcher Taylor Phillips and Infielder Bob Sadowski.

Other prominent major leaguers who were dealt off during the year included Robin Roberts, former Phillie pitching ace who was sold to the Yankees for a reported $25,000 in October after a dismal 1-10 season; Catcher Ed Bailey, Pitchers Bud Daley and Dick Farrell, Second Basemen Johnny Temple, Don Blasingame and Charley Neal and Outfielders Jim Piersall and Richie Ashburn.

Four Greats Elected to Game's Pantheon

Bob Feller

Jackie Robinson

FOUR DIAMOND GREATS—the biggest influx of new members in seven years—were welcomed into the game's Hall of Fame early in 1962. The quartet consisted of Bob Feller, Cleveland pitching ace for nearly two decades; Jackie Robinson, former Brooklyn Dodger star; Bill McKechnie, famed manager, and Edd Roush, an outstanding National League outfielder and hitter from 1916 to '31.

Feller and Robinson were voted into the hallowed Pantheon at Cooperstown, N. Y., January 24, in balloting by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. Four days later the Committee on Veterans named McKechnie and Roush. Addition of the four increased to 90 the number enshrined.

After failing in their last two biennial elections, the writers succeeded in voting in both Feller and Robinson in their first year as candidates. Under Hall of Fame rules, a player must be retired five years before being eligible. Feller and Robinson each completed his career in 1956.

Feller breezed in while Robinson just squeezed in. Ballots providing for ten nominations were cast by 160 ten-year members of the BBWAA. With nomination on 75 per cent—or 120—of the ballots necessary for election, Feller received 150 votes. Robinson, on the other hand, drew 124.

Even before they retired, both were regarded as certain to gain niches in the Cooperstown shrine, particularly Feller. In his 18 seasons with Cleveland, he won 266 games while losing 162, equalled the record of three no-hit games and established numerous strikeout records. Except for four seasons in the Navy during World War II at the height of his career, he certainly would have reached the exclusive 300-victory ranks.

Robinson, selected by Branch Rickey to break the game's color line, earned the reputation of being a great clutch performer. During his ten seasons with the Brooklyn Dodgers, he compiled a .311 batting average. He won both the league batting title and Most Valuable Player award in 1949 and played a prominent role in six Dodger pennants.

Finishing third in the BBWAA poll was Edgar (Sam) Rice, veteran former Washington outfielder. He received 81 votes, falling 39 short of the required total. Red Ruffing, one-time Boston Red Sox and New York Yankee mound ace, finished fourth with 72 votes. He was followed by Eppa Rixey, 49; Luke Appling, 48; Phil Rizzuto, 44; Burleigh Grimes, 43; Hack Wilson, 39; Joe Medwick, 34; Kiki Cuyler, 31; Red Faber, 30, and Jim Bottomley and Lefty Gomez, 20 each.

The Committee on Veterans, empowered to conduct an annual election starting in 1961, gave unanimous support to McKechnie and Roush in its '62 voting. For Roush, it marked the first time he came under the jurisdiction of the Veterans Committee after having been a candidate previously in the writers' polls.

McKechnie, who led three different National League clubs to pennants, was the eighth Hall of Famer chosen for his managerial skill. The others were Clark Griffith, whose pitching abilities also figured in his selection; John McGraw, Connie Mack, Joe McCarthy, George Wright, Albert Spalding and Ed Barrow.

McKechnie gained his first pennant in 1925 with the Pittsburgh Pirates and followed it by winning the World's Series from Washington that fall. In 1928 he piloted the St. Louis Cardinals to the flag but lost to the New York Yankees in the Series. The Deacon, as McKechnie was known, then led the Cincinnati Reds to successive pennants in 1939-40, losing to the Yankees again in the '39 classic but winning from Detroit the next year.

Roush was one of the National League's finest center fielders during his 15 years with Cincinnati and the New York Giants. In addition, he ranked among the circuit's top hitters. He twice won the league batting title. His peak year was 1921, when he hit .352, and he left the game with a career average of .325.

In the annual Hall of Fame festivities at Cooperstown, July 24, 1961, Max Carey and the late Billy Hamilton were inducted into the diamond Pantheon. Both had been named earlier in the year by the Committee on Veterans.

A capacity crowd of 9,787 turned out at Doubleday Field that afternoon to see the Los Angeles Dodgers and Baltimore Orioles meet in the traditional Hall of Fame exhibition. The Dodgers won, 6 to 2, to give the National League a 10-9 edge in the series. One other game ended in a tie.

At the annual meeting the day before the ceremonies, Paul S. Kerr was re-elected president of the Hall of Fame. Rowan D. Spraker and Dr. James Bordley III were named vice-presidents, Edward W. Stack was elected secretary and Howard C. Talbot, Jr., treasurer.

Following is the list of those named to the Hall of Fame prior to 1962, with the vote by which each was elected in parentheses:

MACK JONES TIED N. L. MARK WITH FOUR-HIT DEBUT

Outfielder Mack (The Knife) Jones made an auspicious major league debut with the Milwaukee Braves, July 13, 1961, ripping off four consecutive hits to equal a modern National League record. The fleet flyhawk, called up from Louisville (American Association), joined the Braves in St. Louis and helped the club to a 6 to 3 victory over the Cardinals. Jones connected for a double and three singles, getting two hits each off Bob Gibson and Bob Miller, before Rookie Craig Anderson stopped him on his fifth and last plate appearance of the night. The N. L. record of four hits in a player's Big Time debut was set by Casey Stengel with Brooklyn in 1912 and equalled by Willie McCovey of San Francisco in 1959.

Necrology for 1961

THE GRIM REAPER exacted another heavy toll of diamond personages in 1961. Most notable among the former performers called out by the Great Umpire were Tyrus Raymond Cobb, generally regarded as the game's greatest performer, and Arthur (Daddy) Vance, another Hall of Fame immortal. Two prominent executives—Powel Crosley, Jr., and Branch Rickey, Jr.—headed the list of those summoned from the active ranks.

Cobb, 12-time American League batting champion, succumbed of cancer in Emory University Hospital in Atlanta, Ga., July 17. He was 74. The famed Georgia Peach had been ill for more than a year and had been confined to the hospital since June 5.

During his 24-year stay in the Big Time, Cobb compiled an incredible .367 lifetime batting average—highest in history—and topped the .400 mark three times. He entered more records into the books than probably any other player and rated second only to Babe Ruth as the game's most colorful drawing card. Among Ty's more prominent marks were his 12 batting titles, 3,033 games, 4,191 hits and 5,863 total bases.

Cobb, who became a multi-millionaire, spent all but the last two years of his major league career with Detroit. In 1921 he was named player-manager of the Tigers. Dismissed after the '26 season, he was signed as a player by Connie Mack the following year. He closed out his brilliant career by batting .323 for the A's in 1928 at the age of 41. In 1936 Cobb headed the original list of five players voted into the Hall of Fame.

Vance, named to the Cooperstown shrine in 1955, died at Homosassa Springs, Fla., February 16, at the age of 70. He was one of the game's all-time strikeout aces, leading the National League for seven straight years, 1922-28. His greatest season was 1924 when he posted a 28-6 record for Brooklyn, leading the loop in victories, strikeouts, 262, and earned-run average, 2.16, to gain the Most Valuable Player award.

Other former stars who passed away during the year included William (Dummy) Hoy, deaf-mute outfielder who lived to be 99, older than any former major leaguer; Jack Barry, star shortstop on Connie Mack's famed "$100,000 infield"; Ed Reulbach, National League mound great; Jess Barnes, another N. L. pitching star, and Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, former Detroit hurling ace.

The game's executive ranks also were hard hit. Powel Crosley, Jr., nationally-known industrialist and owner of the Cincinnati Reds since 1934, died on March 28 at the age of 74 and missed seeing his club regain the pennant heights. Branch Rickey, Jr., vice-president and farm boss of the Pittsburgh Pirates, succumbed less than two weeks later, April 10. He was 47.

A list of the leading baseball personalities who died in 1961 follows:

Jesse Lawrence Barnes, 69, pitcher with the Boston Braves in 1915-16-17, the New York Giants from 1918 to June, 1923, the Braves in 1923-24-25 and Brooklyn in 1926-27 and a brother of Virgil Barnes, who pitched for the Giants in the same period, at Santa Rosa, N. Big Year for Reds—Farms Won Four Flags

EXCEPT for the outcome of the World's Series, the 1961 season was a smashing success for the Cincinnati Reds. Besides winning the National League flag, the Reds saw four of their six minor league affiliates capture pennants to lead all farm systems. Pittsburgh and San Francisco each had three minor loop flag winners to rank next.

The Reds' champions were Indianapolis (American Association), Topeka (Three I), Tampa (Florida State) and Geneva (NYP). Tampa gained the title in a split-season playoff after winning the first-half race and leading in the over-all season standing.

Like Cincinnati, the Pirates could claim four minor league championships. In addition to the flags won by Columbus (International), Asheville (Sally) and Hobbs (Sophomore), the Bucs' Shelby affiliate annexed the Western Carolina playoff crown following a fourth-place finish. Altogether, N. L. farm clubs won 14 regular-season flags to just six for A. L. teams.

A breakdown of each major league farm system's record in 1961 follows:

KEY TO 1961 FARM CLUB SETUP

Minor league clubs which were affiliated with major league farm systems in 1961 are designated by a special key number in the standing preceding the circuit's averages. An asterisk after the number indicates the tieup was by a working agreement; where no asterisk appears the club was owned outright by the parent club. The key to the farm club code follows:

- | | | |
|----------------------|------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1—Baltimore Orioles | 8—Minnesota Twins | 15—Milwaukee Braves |
| 2—Boston Red Sox | 9—New York Yankees | 16—New York Mets |

Buffalo in Four-Game Junior Series Sweep

C LIMAXING six successful years of community ownership, the Buffalo Bisons captured the 1961 Junior World's Series. Kerby Farrell's International League club accomplished the feat by the simple expedient of a four-game sweep over the Louisville Colonels, American Association standard bearers. The Colonels had won the minor league classic a year earlier.

For Buffalo, the JWS gonfalon marked the city's first since the horse-and-buggy days of 1906. For Farrell, the surprising sweep represented the high spot of a 17-year managerial career and helped him win THE SPORTING NEWS' No. 1 Minor League Manager of the Year award for the third time. No other pilot could match his boast of winning the Junior Series for both leagues. In 1956, Kerby's Indianapolis club won in four games from Rochester.

As a result of early-season pitching troubles and a string of injuries, the Bisons didn't reach their peak until late in August. They wound up in third place, six games back of champion Columbus. But the club got red hot in the playoffs, polishing off Charleston in four games and Rochester in five.

In reaching the Junior Series for the second successive year, Louisville again finished second in the A. A. race. A year earlier an ulcer attack forced Manager Ben Geraghty to relinquish the reins early in May and miss out of their JWS title, but this time he led the Colonels all the way. As it turned out, the rout at the hands of Buffalo was enough to cause his ulcer to act up again.

The Bisons literally slaughtered the Colonels. In their very first turn at bat, Farrell's bombers detonated a record-breaking nine-run outburst. This paved the way for an 18 to 8 lambasting in the Series opener before 15,880 fans at Buffalo. Second Baseman Bob Sadowski featured the first-inning pyrotechnics with two homers, good for five runs, to set a pair of marks.

After Lefty Bill Smith handcuffed Louisville on five hits, 2 to 0, in the second game, Sadowski's bat led the Bisons to another victory in the third game. With the Colonels leading, 5 to 3, in the eighth inning, Sadowski cracked a three-run homer to win the contest, 6 to 5.

The classic switched to Louisville for game No. 4, and young Paul Brown polished off the A. A. club with a sparkling one-hitter, 4 to 0. A scratch single by Lee Tate in the third inning was the lone hit off the Bison rookie as he wrapped it up. Brown walked five and struck out four.

Because of poor playoff attendance in the A. A., it was agreed to play the first three JWS games at Buffalo. The decision proved a wise one, since the three contests at War Memorial Stadium drew 34,918 paid as compared to only 2,544 paid for the final contest at Louisville for a total of 37,462. Net receipts, including radio rights, came to $65,471.91. Each Buffalo player voted a full share received $994.08, while each Louisville full share was worth $691.53.

The scores of the games, with the winning and losing pitchers in black-face type, follow:

BRAVES HIT FOUR HOMERS IN ROW, YET LOST GAME

The Milwaukee Braves set a major league record with four consecutive home runs, June 8, 1961, yet Manager Chuck Dressen had plenty to moan about. Despite the unprecedented barrage plus two additional round-trippers, the Braves lost a 10 to 8 decision at Cincinnati's Crosley Field that afternoon. The long-distance carnival occurred in the seventh inning after the Reds had built up a 10 to 2 lead. Frank Bolling opened the frame with a single. When Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron followed with back-to-back homers, the Reds' starting pitcher, Jim Maloney, was yanked in favor of Lefty Marshall Bridges. Joe Adcock greeted him with a four-bagger and Frank Thomas, next up, also connected for the circuit. Bridges then settled down to retire the side. Mathews homered again in the eighth off Bill Henry, while earlier in the game Warren Spahn, Milwaukee's starter and loser, also hit for the circuit. The old mark of three successive homers by a team had been equalled many times.

San Antonio Copped Final Pan-Am Series

THE San Antonio Missions reigned as 1961 champions of the Pan-American Association. Continuing Texas League domination of the inter-league classic, San Antonio won the third annual Pan-American Series by downing the Mexican League's pennant-winning Veracruz Eagles, four games to two. The Missions thus duplicated Austin's triumph in 1959 and Tulsa's success in 1960.

The classic climaxed a three-year tieup between the Texas and Mexican leagues. Since '59, the two Double-A circuits had engaged in an inter-locking schedule and inter-league all-star games, as well as the post-season series. However, shortly after the '61 campaign ended, the two leagues voted to terminate the Pan-American Association arrangement.

By capturing the Pan-Am title, San Antonio capped a spectacular late surge. The Missions, operating under the parent Chicago Cubs' system of rotating head coaches, finished a bad third during the Texas League season, 15½ lengths behind first-place Amarillo. Verlon (Rube) Walker took over on July 1 as the club's fourth pilot and wound up the season at the helm, posting a 37-27 record.

Walker's crew then earned the designation of league co-champion and a berth in the Pan-Am Series by roaring to the playoff title. After downing runner-up Tulsa in the opening round, three games to one, the Missions knocked off Austin three straight in the playoff finals.

By contrast, Santos Amaro's Veracruz club finished on top in the Mexican League by a four-game margin over runner-up Puebla.

Despite winning the opening game, Veracruz was no match for San Antonio in the Pan-Am Series. Ramon Arano, 21-year-old righthander, was the only hurler able to beat the Missions. He did it twice. A 4 to 3 victor in the lidlifter, he came back with a five-hit, 4 to 2 conquest in the fourth game.

San Antonio's big hero was Center Fielder Nelson Mathews. A disappointing .220 hitter in the regular season, Mathews sizzled throughout the league playoffs and the Pam-Am set. Against Veracruz, he went 11 for 25, with two homers and six runs batted in.

Originally, the two clubs agreed to play the entire set in San Antonio, alternating as home team. Unfortunately, following Saturday and Sunday contests there, Hurricane Carla struck the Texas coast early Monday morning, September 11. Two postponements and threats of further delay prompted transfer of the classic to Veracruz. When rain stopped their first clash there, September 14, a day-night bill was booked the next day to speed completion of the Series.

Attendance for the six games totaled only 10,252 paid, with net receipts amounting to $6,623.48. The two clubs split the money equally.

During the regular season, each club visited the park of every team in the rival circuit for three games. The two leagues also played a pair of Pan-Am all-star games. The Mexican League won both—8 to 3 before 13,644 fans at Mexico City, July 15, and 12 to 3 before 3,850 at San Antonio, July 30.

MOUNTIES OFF TO RACES—NINE THEFTS IN INNING

In what ranks among the most brazen bits of thievery in diamond history, the Vancouver Mounties stole nine bases in one inning while trimming the Salt Lake Bees, 10 to 2, in a Pacific Coast League game at Vancouver, B. C., August 11, 1961. A crowd of 5,105 fans witnessed the bold display of larceny, which included a pair of triple thefts. Going into the eighth inning, the Mounties owned only a 5 to 2 lead. Ted Abernathy had just relieved Starter Steve Hamilton on the mound for Salt Lake City. With one out, Ed Charles started the fireworks with a single and then stole second and third. A walk to Billy Consolo, his theft of second and another pass to Howie Goss filled the bases. Abernathy, meantime, had retired Frank Torre. With Denis Menke at bat, Abernathy made the mistake of winding up and Charles swiped home on the front end of a three-way pilfer. Two more walks forced in another run and brought Dave Tyriver to the hill. By this time, Goss was on third. When Tyriver took a long windup on his second pitch to Al Grandcolas, Goss purloined home. Menke and Eddie Haas also moved up on the pitch to complete the second triple theft. Grandcolas then singled both across for the Mounties final runs of the inning.

BEDELL'S 43-GAME HIT STREAK TIED A. A. RECORD

Hitting safely in 43 consecutive games, Outfielder Howie Bedell of Louisville tied a 26-year-old American Association record in 1961. The skein equalled the mark set by Eddie Marshall of Milwaukee in 1935. Bedell's bid to crack the standard was snuffed out by a pair of Dallas-Fort Worth lefties, Bob Sprout and Bob Wiesler, June 23. Between them, they retired Bedell five times. During the streak Bedell collected 67 hits in 197 swings—a .340 clip. Apparently headed for the loop batting title, he suffered a chip fracture of the left shoulder, August 24. With Bedell on the sidelines, Denver's Don Wert nosed him out for the batting championship, going 4-for-7 in a closing-day twin-bill, September 7, to edge Bedell by a point, .328 to .327.

SATCH PAIGE STILL DEALING 'EM UP AT AGE 55

Although listed in the records as being at least 55 years of age, Leroy (Satchel) Paige returned to O. B. late in the 1961 season and showed he still possessed much of his mound wizardry. Portland of the Pacific Coast League signed the pitching Methuselah, August 24. In five starting appearances with the Beavers, Paige gave up 28 hits in 25 innings but didn't figure in a decision and wound up with a 2.88 earned-run average.

RAMOS, MAXIE IN SUCCESSIVE GEMS AT POZA RICA

Two consecutive no-hit, no-run games between the same two clubs—a feat possibly unprecedented in O. B. history—added spice to 1961 Pan-American Association competition between the Texas and Mexican leagues. The rarity took place at Poza Rica, Ver., July 14-15. Principals were Roman Ramos, 28-year-old Poza Rica righthander, and Larry Maxie, 20-year-old Milwaukee-owned hurler with Austin. Ramos authored the first of the two no-hitters. With a crowd of 6,800 looking on, he turned back Austin, 11 to 0. The Poza Rica flinger struck out five batters and walked two. The next afternoon Maxie completed the rare feat of successive gems by stopping the Oilers, 5 to 0, before 5,000 fans. The six-foot-three, 220 pounder whiffed five, walked six and hit another. The masterpiece marked Maxie's second no-hitter of the season. The strapping young righthander previously had stopped Victoria without a safety over the nine-inning distance, 2 to 0, June 14. By tossing a pair of gems, Maxie equalled a 55-year-old Texas League record. The only other Texas loop hurler to pitch two no-hitters in a season was Alex Dupree, who turned the trick with the Fort Worth Cats in 1906.

HOMER TURNED INTO OUT, FREAK PLAY COST GAME

Confusion turned a legitimate home run into a single in an American Association game at Fort Worth, Tex., August 20, 1961. The weird incident cost the Dallas-Fort Worth Rangers the game. With Mickey Harrington on first base in the fourth inning, Tom Burgess lined a pitch by Omaha's Bill Sprout to deep right-center field. Bill Lajoie, Omaha center fielder, made a desperate leap for the ball, crashed into the fence and fell in a heap. In his attempt he obscured the flight of the ball. Seeing Umpire Lou Pryor raise his hand, Harrington headed back toward first base and Burgess passed him. The umpires finally ruled the drive cleared the fence for a homer and Harrington scored. However, Burgess was ruled out for passing his mate. As a consequence, instead of winning, 3 to 2, in regulation time, the Rangers bowed in ten innings, 3 to 2.

THREE OUTS ON RELIEF HURLER'S FIRST DELIVERY

Three outs on one pitch! That was the rare experience of Bruce Haroldson, Lewiston relief hurler, in a Northwest League game at Lewiston, Idaho, August 6, 1961. The Broncs were playing the Tri-Cities Braves at the time. It was the sixth inning and the visitors filled the bases against Tom Dembia, Lewiston's starting hurler. Nobody was out when Haroldson came on in relief. On Haroldson's first pitch to Ray Youngdahl, the Tri-Cities' cleanup hitter smashed a grounder to Bronc Third Baseman Dick Green. Grabbing the ball, Green stepped on third for one out and tossed to Ozzie Chavarria at second for another out. Chavarria's peg to First Baseman Ed Olsen was in time to retire Youngdahl for the triple play, giving Haroldson the unusual distinction of retiring three players with one pitch. The rare incident preserved a 5 to 2 triumph for Dembia. Outfielder Jim Small, former Detroit Tiger bonus player, provided Lewiston's margin of victory with a three-run homer. The blast was a tremendous drive that cleared a 30-foot scoreboard by an equal height at the 370-foot mark in deep right-center field at Lewiston's Bengal Field.

AUTO MISHAP GAVE TREINARY CHANCE IN A. A.

An automobile accident turned out to be a stroke of fortune—instead of misfortune—as far as Outfielder Joe Trenary was concerned. On completing the 1961 season with Cedar Rapids (Three I), he started for his home in Bell, Calif. He left early the morning of September 6, but had gone just a short distance when he was forced to turn his car into a ditch to avoid crashing into another automobile. While waiting for his car to be repaired, Trenary returned to Cedar Rapids by bus. The next day Milwaukee Brave officials called their Cedar Rapids farm club seeking help for Louisville for the American Association playoffs. Trenary was immediately dispatched to Louisville. He went hitless in his first eight at-bats, but then crashed a two-run, ninth-inning homer to beat Denver, 4 to 2, September 11. Louisville went on to win the playoffs. Trenary caught fire in the finals, batting .318, and proceeded to hit a robust .375 in the Junior World's Series.

RED SOX' SCHILLING BOOTED ONLY TWO GROUNDERS

Chuck Schilling, rookie second baseman with the Boston Red Sox, established two fielding records for American League keystoners in 1961. Committing only eight errors in 854 chances, he set a new low for miscues and a high for fielding percentage with .991. Of Schilling's eight errors, only two came on ground balls. He made four bad pegs, dropped one throw and failed to cover second base once on a stolen base.

MINORS' ALL-STAR TEAMS—AS PICKED BY SCRIBES

Howie Koplitz, pitcher with Birmingham (Southern), was voted the minors' Player of the Year for 1961 in the annual poll conducted by the National Association of Baseball Writers. The 23-year-old righthander was accorded the honor after chalking up a sensational 23-3 record, including a no-hitter, in the Southern Association. The National Association of Baseball Writers also selected an all-star team for each of the minors' six classifications. In previous years, the scribes chose only three all-star squads, one representing Triple-A, another from Classes AA and A, and a third from Classes B-C-D. Most of those named to the AAA and AA-A squads in 1960 moved up to the majors in '61, and the lone minor league all-star of '60 to repeat was Phil Linz, shortstop with Amarillo (Texas). The 1961 all-star teams as selected by the minor league writers follow:

PHILS' LEFTY 'CATCHER' DIDN'T ACTUALLY CATCH

National League averages for 1961 indicate the Philadelphia Phillies used a lefthanded catcher—but it didn't really happen. Technically, Chris Short, portside pitcher, was in the Phil lineup as a catcher for one game. Actually, he never went back of the bat. It all came about when Managers Gene Mauch of the Phillies and Al Dark of the San Francisco Giants tried to outmaneuver each other in a game at Philadelphia, June 29. Both pilots refused to name their pitcher in advance. As a consequence, five pitchers were warming up just before the Phillies took the field to start the game. Since Mauch had to turn in his lineup to the umpires first, he listed pitchers in three spots where the Phillies generally platooned. Don Ferrarese was down as leadoff man and center fielder, Jim Owens as right fielder batting third, Short as catcher batting seventh and Lefty Ken Lehman in the ninth spot as pitcher. When Mauch learned the Giants named Southpaw Billy O'Dell as their starting pitcher, he sent Bobby Del Greco to center field, Bobby Gene Smith to right and Jim Coker as catcher, replacing the hurlers listed in those spots, when the Phillies took their positions to begin the contest. After Lehman pitched to two Giant batters, he was yanked in favor of Righthander Dallas Green. Dark changed pitchers even quicker, sending in Sam Jones after O'Dell pitched to just one Phil. With all of the maneuvering, it took three hours and 20 minutes to play the game, which found the Giants winning in ten innings, 8 to 7, when Mauch's strategy failed to cope with Willie Mays. Willie hit three home runs, with the third coming in the tenth inning to win the contest.

HISTORIC FEATS HIGHLIGHTED MAJORS' 1 TO 0 GAMES

Twenty-eight games developed into 1 to 0 duels in the majors in 1961. The American League produced 16 as compared to 12 in the National. Two of the season's most historic events—Warren Spahn's no-hitter and Roger Maris' sixty-first home run—figured among the squeakers.

The Milwaukee southpaw turned in his no-hit conquest against the San Francisco Giants, April 28, while it was on closing day, October 1, that Maris socked his record homer for the game's only run as the New York Yankees edged Boston.

Four of the 1 to 0 games went extra innings. The longest was a 15-inning battle at Cleveland, May 14, in which the Indians nipped Baltimore. In all major league history, there were only eight longer 1 to 0 contests. Except for a throwing error by Shortstop Jerry Adair, which let in the Cleveland run, the game might have gone several innings more.

Six of the squeakers were won by home runs. In addition to Maris, those who rapped homers to decide 1 to 0 games were Bobby Gene Smith, Philadelphia, April 23; Ed Bouchee, Chicago Cubs, May 20; Tommy Davis, Los Angeles Dodgers, May 25; Luis Aparicio, Chicago White Sox, August 11, and Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh, August 25.

The list of 1 to 0 games, including the inning in which the run was scored:

HALL'S SPREE SPARKED WATERLOO TO HOMER MARK

The Midwest League's record for most home runs by one club in a season met its Waterloo in 1961 under the steady slugging of the Waterloo Hawks. With a fantastic early-season spree by Third Baseman Dave Hall furnishing the impetus, the Hawks walloped 155 homers. This was eight more than the previous high of 147 registered by Kokomo in 1959. Hall set probably the most spectacular early slugging pace of any player in all O. B. history. The 21-year-old infielder, whose only previous pro experience was 17 games with Corning (NYP) in 1960, unloaded 13 round-trippers in Waterloo's first 20 games. First Baseman Bob Lawrence, a third-year pro, hit ten in the same span as the Hawks, connecting for the circuit in 15 consecutive contests, whacked a total of 41 in the 20 games. Hall, a Middle Tennessee State College product, boasted a loop-leading 22 homers, 90 RBIs and .403 average after 59 games when he was promoted, June 29, to Johnstown (Eastern) by the parent Boston Red Sox. With Johnstown, he managed to rap only four home runs in 64 games while batting .278. Meantime, Lawrence, a 23-year-old left-handed slugger, went on to wallop 30 four-baggers for Waterloo, tying the Midwest League record established by Carroll (Tex) Gholson of Paris in 1956 and equalled by Dale Reichert of Kokomo in 1959. Lawrence also led the loop in RBIs with 127, nine under the league high set by Jim Zapp of Paris in 1952.

MINCHER'S RARE FEAT—PAIR OF THREE-HOMER TILTS

First Baseman Don Mincher of Buffalo etched his name into the International League record books in 1961 by socking three homers in a game twice within an 11-day span. He thus became only the fifth player in league history to deliver a pair of three-homer performances in the same season. Mincher enjoyed his first big game, June 13, just a week after joining the Bisons on option from the Minnesota Twins. Jersey City furnished the opposition at Buffalo's War Memorial Stadium that night. Mincher started with a grand-slam homer in the third inning, added a solo shot in the fifth and topped a seven-run seventh inning with a two-run clout that won the game for Buffalo, 13 to 11. Mincher's second three-homer game occurred at Charleston, June 23, when he socked solo clouts in the second and seventh innings and a two-run blast in the third frame to spark a 9 to 1 victory. Bob Seeds hit four homers in a game for Newark in 1938 and came back with three the next day. Buzz Arlett put together a pair of four-homer games for Baltimore in 1932. Harry Heslet of Toronto had a pair of three-homer games in 1950 and Russ Sullivan duplicated for Columbus in 1955.

KIRKLAND HIT FOUR HOMERS IN ROW—OVER 5 DAYS

Willie Kirkland, Cleveland outfielder, equalled the major league record of four home runs in as many official times at bat in 1961, although it took him five days to turn the trick. He began the spree by tying another record with three successive homers in a game, July 9. The spurge occurred in the windup of a double-header against the Chicago White Sox at Cleveland Stadium. Following a three-day layoff because of the All-Star Game, the Indians returned to action against Minnesota, July 13, and Kirkland homered again on his first official at-bat to make it four in a row. Five other players walloped three round-trippers in a game in 1961. The first to do it was Willie Mays of San Francisco, who earlier in the season tied the record of four in a game (details on Page 135). The others were Bill White, St. Louis; Rocky Colavito, Detroit; Lee Thomas, Los Angeles Angels, and Don Demeter, Philadelphia. Like Kirkland, White socked his three in succession while becoming the only player ever to hit a trio over the right field fence at the Los Angeles Coliseum. The records of the six players in their three-homer games:

Although losing the A. L. homer race to Teammate Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees topped the field in multiple-homer games in '61 with eight such contests. Maris and Baltimore's Jim Gentile had seven each. The list of players hitting two or more homers in a game, with the number of times they performed the feat, follows:

DiCHIARA'S FOUR HOMERS IN ROW SET NYP MARK

Don DiChiara, young Colgate University product, hit only 12 home runs in 104 games in his O. B. debut in 1961, but four of them came in successive plate appearances to set a New York-Pennsylvania League record. Signed by the Pittsburgh organization, the 22-year-old first basemen was assigned to Grand Forks (Northern) at the start of the 1961 season. DiChiara hit only .157 in 36 games—without a homer—for Grand Forks before being shifted to Batavia in mid-June. Less than two weeks after joining Batavia, the lefthanded larruper exploded his record-breaking spree. It occurred in a game against Jamestown at Batavia, June 25. DiChiara connected for the circuit in the second, fourth, sixth and eighth innings. Unfortunately, only one blow came with a mate aboard, and Jamestown won the slugfest, 14 to 9. The only other player in NYP League history to hit four homers in a game was Jack Littrell of Hornell in 1949, but his were not in consecutive plate appearances.

SULPHUR DELL JINX WRECKED NO-HIT BID IN NINTH

Sulphur Dell, Nashville's ancient park, long has been regarded as a jinx park by pitchers. As a result of its chummy confines, Southern Association hitters thrived there. But for eight and two-thirds innings, May 7, 1961, Southpaw Jim Bailey of Macon appeared destined to lick the Sulphur Dell hex. With two gone in the ninth, he owned a no-hitter—only to have the apparently timeless jinx strike and hand him a 2 to 0 defeat. Needing just one more out to complete the diminutive park's first nine-inning no-hit game in 45 years, Bailey saw Joe Christian, Nashville cleanup hitter, line a single past Second Baseman George Holder. Gene Davis, next up, then sliced a waist-high curve over the chummy right field screen—about 280 feet from the plate—to break up the game and shatter Bailey's dream completely.

WEATHERSPOON HIT 7 GRAND-SLAM IN CAROLINA

Charles (Chuck) Weatherspoon, veteran outfielder-catcher, proved a real batting terror with the bats full for Wilson of the Carolina League in 1961. Although the 30-year-old Texan batted only .279 for the season, he walloped seven grand-slam homers. Weatherspoon whacked five of his jackpot blows before the season was one-third gone. On May 2, at Greensboro, N. C., he socked two bases-loaded homers in successive innings—a feat which Jim Gentile of the Baltimore Orioles duplicated exactly a week later. Weather-spoon's raps came in the third and fourth innings. Charlie Payne was the victim of both. The two blasts sparked Wilson to a 9 to 6 victory. Weather-spoon rapped grand-slam No. 5, June 2, and then had to wait until August 5 for his sixth. The Wilson slugger collected No. 7 against Winston-Salem, August 16.

DRIVE BOUNCED OFF FLYHAWK'S HEAD FOR HOMER

An outfielder's noggin provided the added impetus for what ranked as the 1961 campaign's most unusual home run. The weird incident took place in a Western Carolina League game between Belmont and Newton-Conover, June 7. Eddie Montellanico, 19-year-old right fielder, was the player who used his head—in the wrong way. The youngster was camped under a high fly hit by Joe Abernethy, Newton-Conover manager, when he lost the drive in the park lights. When the ball came down, it hit Montellanico on the top of his noggin and bounced over the fence for a home run. The youngster was knocked out briefly by the blow. However, he remained in the game, which Belmont managed to win, 10 to 9. Montellanico came back strong the following night, rapping five straight hits, including a double, to help the Chiefs beat Newton-Conover again, 18 to 3.

KENDRICK FANNED 19 TO TIE CALIFORNIA RECORD

A pitcher who was about to be farmed out for more experience turned his "one last chance" into a record-tying strikeout performance in the California League in 1961. The hurler was Ray Kendrick, 20-year-old lefthander with Fresno. He had a dismal record of yielding 17 earned runs in 15 innings before Manager Sal Taormina sent him against the Stockton Ports, May 18, in his do-or-die opportunity. Kendrick responded by fanning 19 batters while posting a six-hit, 12 to 3 victory. The 19 whiffs matched the California League record set by Al Curtis of San Jose in 1951 and tied by Tex Clevenger, San Jose, 1953; Steve Dalkowski, Stockton, 1960, and Gary Kroll, Bakersfield, 1960. Kendrick succeeded in winning only five games while losing 12 for Fresno, but finished with 130 strikeouts in 120 innings.

Foreword

This code of rules is written to govern the playing of baseball games by professional teams of the American League of Professional Baseball Clubs, the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs, and the leagues which are members of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

We recognize that many amateur and non-professional organizations play their games under professional rules, and we are happy to make our rules available as widely as possible. It is well to remember that specifications as to fields, equipment, etc., may be modified to meet the needs of each group.

Money fines, long-term suspensions and similar penalties imposed by this code are not practicable for amateur groups, but officers and umpires of such organizations should insist on strict observance of all the rules governing the playing of the game.

Baseball not only has maintained its position as the National Game of the United States, but also has become the International Game of the Western Hemisphere. Its popularity will grow only as long as its players, managers, coaches, umpires and administrative officers respect the discipline of its code of rules.

OFFICIAL BASEBALL RULES

1.00—Objectives of the Game.

1.01 Baseball is a game between two teams of nine players each, under direction of a manager, played on an enclosed field in accordance with these rules, under jurisdiction of one or more umpires.

1.02 The objective of each team is to win by scoring more runs than the opponent.

1.03 The winner of the game shall be that team which shall have scored, in accordance with these rules, the greater number of runs at the conclusion of a regulation game.

1.04 THE PLAYING FIELD. The field shall be laid out according to the instructions below, supplemented by Diagrams No. 1 and No. 2 on adjoining pages.

The infield shall be a 90-foot square. The outfield shall be the area between two foul lines formed by extending two sides of the square, as in Diagram 1. The distance from home base to the nearest fence, stand or other obstruction on fair territory shall be 250 feet or more. A distance of 320 feet or more along the foul lines, and 400 feet or more to center field is preferable. The infield shall be graded so that the base lines and home plate are level, with a gradual slope from the baselines up to the pitcher's plate, which shall be 15 inches above the base line level. The infield and outfield, including the boundary lines, are fair territory and all other area is foul territory.

It is desirable that the line from home base through the pitcher's plate to second base shall run East-Northeast.

It is recommended that the distance from home base to the backstop, and from the base lines to the nearest fence, stand or other obstruction on foul territory shall be 60 feet or more. See Diagram 1.

When location of home base is determined, with a steel tape measure 127 feet, $3\frac{3}{8}$ inches in desired direction to establish second base. From home base, measure 90 feet towards first base; from second base, measure 90 feet towards first base; the intersection of these lines establishes first base. From home base, measure 90 feet towards third base; from second base, measure 90 feet towards third base; the intersection of these lines establishes third base. The distance between first base and third base is 127 feet, $3\frac{3}{8}$ inches. All measurements from home base shall be taken from the point where the first and third base lines intersect.

The catcher's box, the batters' boxes, the coaches' boxes, the three-foot first base lines and the next batter's boxes shall be laid out as shown in Diagrams 1 and 2.

The foul lines and all other playing lines indicated in the diagrams by solid black lines shall be marked with wet lime, chalk or other white material.

The grass lines and dimensions shown on the diagrams are those used in many fields, but they are not mandatory and each club shall determine the size and shape of the grassed and bare areas of its playing field.

NOTE (a) Any Playing Field constructed by a professional club after June 1, 1958, shall provide a minimum distance of 325 feet from home base to the nearest fence, stand or other obstruction on the right and left field foul lines, and a minimum distance of 400 feet to the center field fence.

(b) No existing playing fields shall be remodeled after June 1, 1958, in such manner as to reduce the distance from home base to the foul poles and to the center field fence below the minimum specified in paragraph (a) above.

1.05 Home base shall be marked by a five-sided slab of whitened rubber. It shall be a 12-inch square with two of the corners filled in so that one edge is 17 inches long, two are $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches and two are 12 inches. It shall be set in the ground with the point at the intersection of the lines extending from home base to first base and to third base; with the 17-inch edge facing the pitcher's plate, and the two 12-inch edges coinciding with the first and third base lines. The top edges of home base shall be beveled and the base shall be fixed in the ground level with the ground surface. (See drawing D in Diagram 2.)

1.06 First, second and third bases shall be marked by white canvas bags, securely attached to the ground as indicated in Diagram 2. The first and third base bags shall be entirely within the infield. The second base bag shall be centered on second base. The base bags shall be 15 inches square, not less than three nor more than five inches thick, and filled with soft material.

1.07 The pitcher's plate shall be a rectangular slab of whitened rubber, 24 inches by 6 inches. It shall be set in the ground as shown in Diagrams 1 and 2, so that the distance between the pitcher's plate and home base (the rear point of home plate) shall be 60 feet, 6 inches.

1.08 The home club shall furnish players' benches, one each for the home and visiting teams. Such benches shall be not less than twenty-five feet from the base lines. They shall be roofed and shall be enclosed at the back and ends.

1.09 The ball shall be a sphere formed by yarn wound around a small core of cork, rubber or similar material, covered with two strips of white horsehide, tightly stitched together. It shall weigh not less than five nor more than $5\frac{1}{4}$ ounces avoirdupois and measure not less than nine nor more than $9\frac{1}{4}$ inches in circumference.

1.10 (a) The bat shall be a smooth, rounded stick not more than two and three-fourths inches in diameter at the thickest part and not more than 42 inches in length. The bat shall be

- (1) one piece of solid wood, or
- (2) formed from a block of wood consisting of two or more pieces of wood bonded together with an adhesive in such a way that the grain direction of all pieces is essentially parallel to the length of the bat. Any such laminated bat shall contain only wood or adhesive, except for a clear finish.
- (b) The bat handle, for not more than 18 inches from the end, may be covered or treated with any material to improve the grip. No such material shall improve the reaction or distance factor of the bat.

NOTE: No laminated bat shall be used in a professional game until the manufacturer has secured approval from the Rules Committee of his design and method of manufacture. In giving or withholding such approval, the Rules Committee will be guided by comparison of the laminated bat with one-piece solid wood bats. Laminated bats which are inferior to one-piece solid wood bats in safety or durability will not be approved. A design or method of manufacture which produces a "loaded" or "freak" type of bat or which produces a substantially greater reaction or distance factor than one-piece solid bats will not be approved.

- 1.11 (a) (1) All players on a team shall wear uniforms identical in color, trim and style. (2) Any part of an undershirt exposed to view shall be of a uniform color for all players on a team. (3) No player whose uniform does not conform to that of his teammates shall be permitted to participate in a game.
- (b) A league may provide that (1) each team shall wear a distinctive uniform at all times, or (2) that each team shall have two sets of uniforms, white for home games and a different color for road games.
 - (c) (1) Sleeve lengths may vary for individual players, but the sleeves of each individual player shall be approximately the same length. (2) No player shall wear ragged, frayed or slit sleeves.

- (d) No player shall attach to his uniform tape or other material of a different color from his uniform.
- (e) No part of the uniform shall include a pattern that imitates or suggests the shape of a baseball.
- (f) Glass buttons and polished metal shall not be used on a uniform.
- (g) No player shall attach anything to the heel or toe of his shoe other than the ordinary shoe plate or toe plate.

1.12 The catcher may wear a leather glove or mitt of any size, shape or weight.

1.13 The first baseman may wear a leather glove or mitt not more than twelve inches long from top to bottom and not more than eight inches wide across the palm, measured from the base of the thumb crotch to the outer edge of the mitt. The space between the thumb section and the finger section of the mitt shall not exceed four inches at the top of the mitt and three and one-half inches at the base of the thumb crotch. The mitt shall be constructed so that this space is permanently fixed and cannot be enlarged, extended, widened, or deepened by the use of any materials or process whatever. The web of the mitt shall measure not more than five inches from its top to the base of the thumb crotch. The web may be either a lacing, lacing through leather tunnels, or a center piece of leather which may be an extension of the palm connected to the mitt with lacing and constructed so that it will not exceed the above-mentioned measurements. The webbing shall not be constructed of wound or wrapped lacing or deepened to make a net type of trap. The glove may be of any weight.

1.14 Each fielder, other than the first baseman and the catcher, may wear a leather glove not more than twelve inches long nor more than eight inches wide, measured from the base of the thumb crotch to the outer edge of the glove. The space between the thumb and the forefinger shall not exceed four and one-half inches at the top nor more than three and one-half inches at the base of the thumb crotch. The webbing may be standard leather or lacing and shall not be enlarged, extended or reinforced by any materials or process whatever. The webbing shall not be constructed of wound or wrapped lacing to make a net type of trap. The glove may be of any weight.

1.15 (a) The pitcher's glove shall be uniform in color, and shall not be white or gray.

2.00—Definitions of Terms.

(All definitions in Rule 2.00 are listed alphabetically.)

ADJUDGED is a judgment decision by the umpire.

An APPEAL is the act of a fielder in claiming violation of the rules by the offensive team.

A BALK is an illegal act by the pitcher with a runner or runners on base, entitling all runners to advance one base.

A BALL is a pitch which does not enter the strike zone in flight and is not struck at by the batter.

A BASE is one of four points which must be touched by a runner in order score a run; more usually applied to the canvas bags and the rubber plate which mark the base points.

A BASE COACH is a team member in uniform who is stationed in the coach's box at first or third base to direct the batter and the runners.

A BASE ON BALLS is an award of first base granted to a batter who, during his time at bat, receives four pitches outside the strike zone.

A BATTER is an offensive player who takes his position in the batter's box.

BATTER-RUNNER is a term that identifies the offensive player who has just finished his time at bat until he is put out or until the play on which he became a runner ends.

The BATTER'S BOX is the area within which the batter shall stand during his time at bat.

The BATTERY is the pitcher and catcher.

BENCH OR DUGOUT is the seating facilities reserved for players, substitutes and other team members in uniform when they are not actively engaged on the playing field.

A BUNT is a batted ball not swung at, but intentionally met with the bat and tapped slowly within the infield.

A CALLED GAME is one in which, for any reason, the umpire-in-chief terminates play.

A CATCH is the act of a fielder in getting secure possession in his hand or glove of a ball in flight and firmly holding it; providing he does not use his cap, protector, pocket or any other part of his uniform in getting possession. It is not a catch, however, if simultaneously or immediately following his contact with the ball, he collides with a player, or with a wall, or if he falls down, and as a result of such collision or falling, drops the ball. If the fielder has made the catch and drops the ball while in the act of making a throw following the catch, the ball shall be adjudged to have been caught. In establishing the validity of the catch, the fielder shall hold the ball long enough to prove that he has complete control of the ball and that his release of the ball is voluntary and intentional.

The CATCHER is the fielder who takes his position back of the home base.

The CATCHER'S BOX is that area within which the catcher shall stand until the pitcher delivers the ball.

THE CLUB is a person or group of persons responsible for assembling the team personnel, providing the playing field and required facilities, and representing the team in relations with the league.

A COACH is a team member in uniform appointed by the manager to perform such duties as the manager may designate, such as but not limited to acting as base coach.

A DEAD BALL is a ball out of play because of a legally created temporary suspension of play.

The DEFENSE (or DEFENSIVE) is the team, or any player of the team, in the field.

A DOUBLE-HEADER is two regularly scheduled or rescheduled games, played in immediate succession.

A DOUBLE PLAY is a play by the defense in which two offensive players are put out as a result of continuous action, providing there is no error between putouts.

- (a) A force double play is one in which both putouts are force plays.
- (b) A reverse force double play is one in which the first out is made at first base and the second out is made by tagging a runner who originally was forced, before the runner touches the base to which he was forced.

DUGOUT (See definition of "BENCH.")

A FAIR BALL is a batted ball that settles on fair territory between home and first base, or between home and third base, or that is on or over fair territory when bounding to the outfield past first or third base, or that touches first, second or third base, or that first falls on fair territory on or beyond first base or third base, or that, while on or over fair territory, touches the person of an umpire or player, or that, while over fair territory, passes out of the playing field in flight.

NOTE: A fair fly shall be judged according to the relative position of the ball and the foul line, including the foul pole, and not as to whether the fielder is on fair or foul territory at the time he touches the ball.

FAIR TERRITORY is that part of the playing field within, and including the first base and third base lines, from home base to the bottom of the playing field fence and perpendicularly upwards. All foul lines are in fair territory.

A FIELDER is any defensive player.

FIELDER'S CHOICE is the act of a fielder who handles a fair grounder and, instead of throwing to first base to retire the batter-runner, throws to another base in an attempt to retire a preceding runner. The term is also used by scorers (a) to account for the advance of the batter-runner who takes one or more extra bases when the fielder who handles his safe hit attempts to retire a preceding runner; (b) to account for the advance of a runner (other than by stolen base or error) while a fielder is attempting to retire another runner; and (c) to account for the advance of a runner made solely because of the defensive team's indifference. (Undefended steal).

A FORCE PLAY is a play in which a runner legally loses his right to occupy a base by reason of the batter becoming a runner.

A FORFEITED GAME is a game declared ended by the umpire-in-chief in favor of the offended team by the score of 9 to 0, for violation of the rules.

A FOUL BALL is a legally batted ball that settles on foul territory between home and first base, or between home and third base, or that bounds past first or third base on or over foul territory, or that first falls on foul territory beyond first or third base, or that, while on or over foul territory, touches the person of an umpire or a player, or any object foreign to the natural ground.

NOTE: A foul fly shall be judged according to the relative position of the ball and the foul line, including the foul pole, and not as to whether the fielder is on foul or fair territory at the time he touches the ball.

FOUL TERRITORY is that part of the playing field outside the first and third base lines extended to the fence and perpendicularly upwards.

A FOUL TIP is a batted ball that goes sharp and direct from the bat to the catcher's hands and is legally caught. It is not a foul tip unless caught and any foul tip that is caught is a strike, and the ball is in play. It is not a catch if it is a rebound, unless the ball has first touched the catcher's glove or hand.

A GROUND BALL is a batted ball that rolls or bounces close to the ground.

The HOME TEAM is the team on whose ground the game is played, or if the game is played on neutral grounds, the home team shall be designated by mutual agreement.

ILLEGAL (or ILLEGALLY) is contrary to these rules.

An ILLEGAL PITCH is (1) a pitch delivered to the batter when the pitcher does not have his pivot foot in contact with the pitcher's plate; (2) a pitch delivered in violation of Rule 8.02 (a) (5), or (3) a quick return pitch. An illegal pitch when runners are on base is a balk.

An ILLEGALLY BATTED BALL is (1) one hit by the batter with one or both feet on the ground entirely outside the batter's box, or (2) one hit with a bat which does not conform to Rule 1.10.

An INFIELDER is a fielder who occupies a position in the infield.

An INFIELD FLY is a fair fly ball (not including a line drive nor an attempted bunt) which can be caught by an infielder with ordinary effort, when first and second, or first, second and third bases are occupied, before two are out. The pitcher, catcher and any outfielder who stations himself in the infield on the play shall be considered infielders for the purpose of this rule.

When it seems apparent that a batted ball will be an Infield Fly, the umpire shall immediately declare "Infield Fly" for the benefit of the runners. If the ball is near the baselines, the umpire shall declare "Infield Fly, if Fair."

The ball is alive and runners may advance at the risk of the ball being caught, or retouch and advance after the ball is touched, the same as on any fly ball. If the hit becomes a foul ball, it is treated the same as any foul.

NOTE: If a declared Infield Fly is allowed to fall untouched to the ground, and bounces foul before passing first or third base, it is a foul ball. If a declared Infield Fly falls untouched to the ground outside the baseline, and bounces fair before passing first or third base, it is an Infield Fly.

IN FLIGHT describes a batted, thrown, or pitched ball which has not yet touched the ground or some object other than a fielder.

IN JEOPARDY is a term indicating that the ball is in play and an offensive player may be put out.

An INNING is that portion of a game within which the teams alternate on offense and defense and in which there are three putouts for each team. Each team's time at bat is a half-inning.

INTERFERENCE

- (a) Offensive interference is an act by the team at bat which interferes with, obstructs, impedes, hinders or confuses any fielder attempting to make a play.
- (b) Defensive interference is an act by a fielder which hinders or prevents a batter from hitting a pitch.
- (c) Umpire's interference occurs (1) When an umpire hinders, impedes or prevents a catcher's throw attempting to prevent a stolen base, or (2) When a fair ball touches an umpire on fair territory before passing a fielder.

- (d) Spectator interference occurs when a spectator reaches out of the stands, or goes on the playing field, and touches a live ball.

On any interference the ball is dead.

THE LEAGUE is a group of clubs whose teams play each other in a pre-arranged schedule under these rules for the league championship.

THE LEAGUE PRESIDENT shall enforce the official rules, resolve any disputes involving the rules, and determine any protested games. The league president may fine or suspend any player, coach, manager or umpire for violation of these rules, at his discretion.

LEGAL (or LEGALLY) is in accordance with these rules.

A LIVE BALL is a ball which is in play.

THE MANAGER is a person appointed by the club to be responsible for the team's actions on the field, and to represent the team in communications with the umpire and the opposing team. A player may be appointed manager.

- (a) The club shall designate the manager to the league president or the umpire-in-chief not less than thirty minutes before the scheduled starting time of the game.
- (b) The manager may advise the umpire that he has delegated specific duties prescribed by the rules to a player or coach, and any action of such designated representative shall be official. The manager shall always be responsible for his team's conduct, observance of the official rules, and deference to the umpires.
- (c) If a manager leaves the field, he shall designate a player or coach as his substitute, and such substitute manager shall have the duties, rights and responsibilities of the manager. If the manager fails or refuses to designate his substitute before leaving, the umpire-in-chief shall designate a team member as substitute manager.

An OUT is one of the three required retirements of an offensive team during its time at bat.

An OUTFIELDER is a fielder who occupies a position in the outfield, which is the area of the playing field most distant from home base.

OVERSLIDE (or OVERSLIDING) is the act of an offensive player when his slide to a base, other than when advancing from home to first base, is with such momentum that he loses contact with the base, which act places him in jeopardy.

A PENALTY is the application of these rules following an illegal act.

The PERSON of a player or umpire is any part of his body, his clothing or his equipment.

A PITCH is a ball delivered to the batter by the pitcher.

The pitcher's PIVOT FOOT is that foot which is in contact with the pitcher's plate as he delivers the pitch.

"PLAY" is the umpire's order to start the game or to resume action following any dead ball.

A QUICK RETURN pitch is one made with obvious intent to catch a batter off balance. It is an illegal pitch.

REGULATION GAME. See Rules 4.10 and 4.11.

A RETOUCH is the act of a runner in returning to a base as legally required.

A RUN (or SCORE) is the score made by an offensive player who advances from batter to runner and touches first, second, third and home bases in that order.

with a runner on third base, attempts to score that runner by means of a bunt.

A STRIKE is a legal pitch when so called by the umpire, which—

- (a) Is struck at by the batter and is missed;
- (b) Is not struck at, if any part of the ball passes through any part of the strike zone;
- (c) Is fouled by the batter when he has less than two strikes;
- (d) Is bunted foul;
- (e) Touches the batter as he strikes at it;
- (f) Touches the batter in flight in the strike zone; or
- (g) Becomes a foul tip.

The STRIKE ZONE is that space above home plate which is between the batter's armpits and the top of his knees when he assumes his natural stance. The umpire shall determine the strike zone according to the batter's usual stance when he swings at a pitch. If the batter usually swings from a crouched position, his strike zone is determined by the crouch; if the batter usually swings from a more erect stance, but crouches to narrow the strike zone, his strike zone is determined by the position of his armpits and knees in his usual batting stance.

A SUSPENDED GAME is a called game which is to be completed at a later date.

A TAG is the action of a fielder in touching a base with his body while holding the ball securely and firmly in his hand or glove; or touching a runner with the ball, or with his hand or glove holding the ball, while holding the ball securely and firmly in his hand or glove.

WIND-UP POSITION is one of the two legal pitching positions.

3.00—Game Preliminaries.

3.01 Before the game begins the umpire shall—

- (a) Require strict observance of all rules governing implements of play and equipment of players;
- (b) Be sure that all playing lines (heavy lines on Diagrams No. 1 and No. 2) are marked with lime, chalk or other white material easily distinguishable from the ground or grass;
- (c) Receive from the home club a supply of regulation baseballs, the number and make to be certified to the home club by the league president. Each ball shall be enclosed in a sealed package bearing the signature of the league president, and the seal shall not be broken until just prior to game time when the umpire shall open each package to inspect the ball and remove its gloss. The umpire shall be the sole judge of the fitness of the balls to be used in the game;
- (d) Be assured by the home club that at least one dozen regulation reserve balls are immediately available for use if required;
- (e) Have in his possession at least two alternate balls and shall require replenishment of such supply of alternate balls as needed throughout the game. Such alternate balls shall be put in play when—
 - (1) A ball has been batted out of the playing field or into the spectator area;
 - (2) A ball has become discolored or unfit for further use;
 - (3) The pitcher requests such alternate ball.

3.02 No player shall intentionally discolor or damage the ball by rubbing it with soil, rosin, paraffin, licorice, sand-paper, emery-paper or other foreign substance.

PENALTY: The umpire shall demand the ball and remove the offender from the game. In case the umpire cannot locate the offender, and if the pitcher delivers such discolored or damaged ball to the batter, the pitcher shall be removed from the game at once and shall be suspended automatically for ten days.

3.03 A player, or players, may be substituted during a game at any time the ball is dead. A substitute player shall bat in the replaced player's position in the team's batting order. A player once removed from a game shall not re-enter that game. If a substitute enters the game in place of a player-manager, the manager may thereafter go to the coaching lines at his discretion. When two or more substitute players of the defensive team enter the game at the same time, the manager shall, immediately before they take their positions as fielders, designate to the umpire-in-chief such players' positions in the team's batting order and the umpire-in-chief shall so notify the official scorer. If this information is not immediately given to the umpire-in-chief, he shall have authority to designate the substitutes' places in the batting order.

3.04 A player whose name is on his team's batting order may not become a substitute runner for another member of his team.

3.05 (a) The pitcher named in the batting order handed the umpire-in-chief, as provided in Rules 4.01 (a) and 4.01 (b), shall pitch to the first batter or any substitute batter until such batter is put out or reaches first base, unless the pitcher sustains injury or illness which, in the judgment of the umpire-in-chief, incapacitates him from pitching.

(b) If the pitcher is replaced, the substitute pitcher shall pitch to the batter then at bat, or any substitute batter, until such batter is put out or reaches first base, or until the offensive team is put out, unless the substitute pitcher sustains injury or illness which, in the umpire-in-chief's judgment, incapacitates him for further play as a pitcher.

(c) If an improper substitution is made for the pitcher, the umpire shall direct the proper pitcher to return to the game until the provisions of this rule are fulfilled. If the improper pitcher is permitted to pitch, any play that results is legal. The improper pitcher becomes the proper pitcher as soon as he makes his first pitch to the batter, or as soon as any runner is put out.

3.06 The manager shall immediately notify the umpire-in-chief of any substitution and shall state to the umpire-in-chief the substitute's place in his batting order.

3.07 The umpire-in-chief, after having been notified, shall immediately announce, or cause to be announced each substitution.

3.08 (a) If no announcement of a substitution is made, the substitute shall be considered as having entered the game when—

- (1) If a pitcher, he takes his place on the pitcher's plate;
- (2) If a batter, he takes his place in the batter's box;
- (3) If a fielder, he reaches the position usually occupied by the fielder he has replaced;
- (4) If a runner, he takes the place of the runner he has replaced.

(b) Any play made by, or on, any of the above mentioned unannounced substitutes shall be legal.

3.09 Players in uniform shall not address or mingle with spectators, nor sit in the stands before, during, or after a game. No manager, coach or player shall address any spectator before or during a game. Players of opposing teams shall not fraternize at any time while in uniform.

3.10 (a) The manager of the home team shall be the sole judge as to whether a game shall be started because of unsuitable weather conditions or the unfit condition of the playing field, except for the second game of a double-header.

(b) EXCEPTION: Any league may permanently authorize its president to suspend the application of this rule as to that league during the closing weeks of its championship season in order to assure that the championship is decided each year on its merits. When the postponement of, and possible failure to play, a game in the final series of a championship season between any two teams might affect the final standing of any club in the league, the president, on appeal from any league member, may assume the authority granted the home team manager by this rule.

- (c) The umpire-in-chief of the first game shall be the sole judge as to whether the second game of a double-header shall not be started because of unsuitable weather conditions or the unfit condition of the playing field.
- (d) The umpire-in-chief shall be the sole judge as to whether and when play shall be suspended during a game because of unsuitable weather conditions or the unfit condition of the playing field; as to whether and when play shall be resumed after such suspension; and as to whether and when a game shall be terminated after such suspension. He shall not call the game until at least thirty minutes after he has suspended play. He may continue the suspension as long as he believes there is any chance to resume play.

3.11 Between games of a double-header, or whenever a game is suspended because of the unfitness of the playing field, the umpire-in-chief shall have control of ground keepers and assistants for the purpose of making the playing field fit for play.

PENALTY: For violation, the umpire-in-chief may forfeit the game to the visiting team.

3.12 When the umpire suspends play he shall call "Time." At the umpire's call of "Play," the suspension is lifted and play resumes. Between the call of "Time" and the call of "Play" the ball is dead.

3.13 The manager of the home team shall present to the umpire-in-chief and the opposing manager any ground rules he thinks necessary covering the overflow of spectators upon the playing field, batted or thrown balls into such overflow, or any other contingencies. If these rules are acceptable to the opposing manager they shall be legal. If these rules are unacceptable to the opposing manager, the umpire - in - chief shall make and enforce any special ground rules he thinks are made necessary by ground conditions, which shall not conflict with the official playing rules.

3.14 Members of the offensive team shall carry all gloves and other equipment off the field and to the dugout while their team is at bat. No equipment shall be left lying on the field, either in fair or foul territory.

3.15 No person shall be allowed on the playing field during a game except players and coaches in uniform, managers, news photographers authorized by the home team, umpires, officers of the law in uniform and watchmen or other employees of the home club. In case of unintentional interference with play by any person herein authorized to be on the playing field, except umpires, the ball is alive and in play. If the interference is intentional, the ball shall be dead at the moment of the interference and the umpire shall impose such penalties as in his opinion will nullify the act of interference.

3.16 When there is spectator interference with any thrown or batted ball, the ball shall be dead at the moment of interference and the umpire shall impose such penalties as in his opinion will nullify the act of interference.

APPROVED RULING: If spectator interference clearly prevents a fielder from catching a fly ball, the umpire shall declare the batter out.

3.17 Players and substitutes of both teams shall confine themselves to their team's benches unless actually participating in the play or preparing to enter the game, or coaching at first or third base. No one except players, substitutes, managers, coaches, trainers and bat boys shall occupy a bench during a game.

PENALTY: For violation the umpire may, after warning, remove the offender from the field.

3.18 The home team shall provide police protection sufficient to preserve order. If a person, or persons, enter the playing field during a game and interfere in any way with the play, the visiting team may refuse to play until the field is cleared.

PENALTY: If the field is not cleared in a reasonable length of time, which shall in no case be less than fifteen minutes after the visiting team's refusal to play, the umpire may forfeit the game to the visiting team.

4.00—Starting and Ending a Game.

4.01 Unless the home club shall have given previous notice that the game has been postponed or will be delayed in starting, the umpire, or umpires, shall enter the playing field five minutes before the hour set for the game to begin and proceed directly to home base where they shall be met by the managers of the opposing teams.

In sequence—

- (a) First, the home manager shall give his batting order to the umpire-in-chief, in duplicate.
- (b) Next, the visiting manager shall give his batting order to the umpire-in-chief, in duplicate.
- (c) The umpire-in-chief shall make certain that the original and copies of the respective batting orders are identical, and then tender a copy of each batting order to the opposing manager. The copy retained by the umpire shall be the official batting order. The tender of the batting order by the umpire shall establish the batting orders. Thereafter, no substitutions shall be made by either manager, except as provided in these rules.
- (d) As soon as the home team's batting order is handed to the umpire-in-chief the umpires are in charge of the playing field and from that moment they shall have sole authority to determine when a game shall be called, suspended or resumed on account of weather or the condition of the playing field.

4.02 The players of the home team shall take their defensive positions, the first batter of the visiting team shall take his position in the batter's box, the umpire shall call "Play" and the game shall start.

4.03 When the ball is put in play at the start of, or during a game, all fielders other than the catcher shall be on fair territory.

- (a) The catcher shall station himself directly back of the plate. He may leave his position at any time to catch a pitch or make a play except that when the batter is being given an intentional base on balls, the catcher must stand with both feet within the lines of the catcher's box until the ball leaves the pitcher's hand.

PENALTY: Balk.

- (b) The pitcher, while in the act of delivering the ball to the batter, shall take his legal position;
- (c) Except the pitcher and the catcher, any fielder may station himself anywhere in fair territory;
- (d) Except the batter, or a runner attempting to score, no offensive player shall cross the catcher's lines when the ball is in play.

4.04 The batting order shall be followed throughout the game unless a player is substituted for another. In that case the substitute shall take the place of the replaced player in the batting order.

4.05 (a) The offensive team shall station two base coaches on the field during its term at bat, one near first base and one near third base.

- (b) Base coaches shall be limited to two in number and shall (1) be in team uniform, and (2) remain within the coach's box at all times.

PENALTY: The offending base coach shall be removed from the game, and shall leave the playing field.

4.06 (a) No manager, player, substitute, coach, trainer or batboy shall at any time, whether from the bench, the coach's box or on the playing field, or elsewhere—

- (1) Incite, or try to incite, by word or sign a demonstration by spectators;
- (2) Use language which will in any manner refer to or reflect upon opposing players, an umpire, or any spectator;

- (3) Call "Time," or employ any other word or phrase or commit any act while the ball is alive and in play for the obvious purpose of trying to make the pitcher commit a balk.
- (b) No fielder shall take a position in the batter's line of vision, and with deliberate unsportsmanlike intent, act in a manner to distract the batter.

PENALTY: The offender shall be removed from the game and shall leave the playing field.

4.07 When a manager, player, coach or trainer is ejected from a game, he shall leave the field immediately and take no further part in the game. He shall remain in the club house or change to street clothes and either leave the park or take a seat in the grandstand well removed from the vicinity of his team's bench or bullpen.

4.08 When the occupants of a player's bench show violent disapproval of an umpire's decision, the umpire shall first give warning that such disapproval shall cease. If such action continues—

PENALTY: The umpire shall order the offenders from the bench to the club house. If he is unable to detect the offender, or offenders, he may clear the bench of all substitute players. The manager of the offending team shall have the privilege of recalling to the playing field only those players needed for substitution in the game.

4.09 HOW A TEAM SCORES.

- (a) One run shall be scored each time a runner legally advances to and touches first, second, third and home base before three men are put out to end the inning. EXCEPTION: A run is not scored if the runner advances to home base during a play in which the third out is made (1) by the batter-runner before he touches first base; (2) by any runner being forced out; or (3) by a preceding runner who is declared out because he failed to touch one of the bases.
- (b) When the winning run is scored in the last half-inning of a regulation game, or in the last half of an extra inning, as the result of a base on balls, hit batter or any other play with the bases full which forces the runner on third to advance, the umpire shall not declare the game ended until the runner forced to advance from third has touched home base and the batter-runner has touched first base.

PENALTY: If the runner on third refuses to advance to and touch home base in a reasonable time, the umpire shall disallow the run, call out the offending player and order the game resumed. If, with two out, the batter-runner refuses to advance to and touch first base, the umpire shall disallow the run, call out the offending player, and order the game resumed. If, before two are out, the batter-runner refuses to advance to and touch first base, the run shall count, but the offending player shall be called out.

- 4.10 (a) A regulation game consists of nine innings, unless extended because of a tie score, or shortened (1) because the home team needs none of its half of the ninth inning or only a fraction of it, or (2) because the umpire calls the game. EXCEPTION: National Association leagues may adopt a rule providing that one or both games of a double-header shall be seven innings in length. In such games, any of these rules applying to the ninth inning shall apply to the seventh inning.
- (b) If the score is tied after nine completed innings, play shall continue until (1) the visiting team has scored more total runs than the home team at the end of a completed inning, or (2) the home team scores the winning run in an uncompleted inning.
- (c) If a game is called, it is a regulation game
- (1) If five innings have been completed;
 - (2) If the home team has scored more runs in four or four and a fraction half-innings than the visiting team has scored in five completed half-innings;
 - (3) If the home team scores one or more runs in its half of the fifth inning to tie the score.
- (d) If each team has the same number of runs when the the game ends, the umpire shall declare it a "Tie Game."
- (e) If a game is called before it has become a regulation game, the umpire shall declare it "No Game."

4.11 The score of a regulation game is the total number of runs scored by each team at the moment the game ends.

- (a) The game ends when the visiting team completes its half of the ninth inning, if the home team is ahead.
- (b) The game ends when the ninth inning is completed, if the visiting team is ahead.
- (c) If the home team scores the winning run in its half of the ninth inning (or its half of an extra inning after a tie), the game ends immediately when the winning run is scored. EXCEPTION: If the last batter in a game hits a home run out of the playing field, the batter-runner and all runners on base are permitted to score, in accordance with the base-running rules, and the game ends when the batter-runner touches home plate.

APPROVED RULING: PLAY (1) The batter hits a home run out of the playing field to win the game in the last half of the ninth or an extra inning, but is called out for passing a preceding runner. The game ends immediately when the winning run is scored.

- (d) A called game ends at the moment the umpire terminates play. EXCEPTION: If the game is called during an uncompleted inning, the game ends at the end of the last previous completed inning in each of the following situations:

- (1) The visiting team scores one or more runs to tie the score in the uncompleted inning, and the home team does not score;
- (2) The visiting team scores one or more runs to take the lead in the uncompleted inning, and the home team does not tie the score or re-take the lead.

4.12 SUSPENDED GAMES.

- (a) A league may adopt the following rules providing for completion at a future date of games terminated for any of the following reasons:
 - (1) A curfew imposed by law;
 - (2) A time limit permissible under league rules;
 - (3) Light failure;
 - (4) Darkness in the second game of a Sunday double-header when because of any law, the lights may not be turned on.
- (b) Such games shall be known as suspended games. No game called because of a curfew or a time limit shall be a suspended game unless it has progressed far enough to have been a regulation game under the provisions of Rule 4.10. A game called under the provisions of 4.12 (a) (3) or (4) shall be a suspended game at any time after it starts.

NOTE: Weather and similar conditions shall take precedence in determining whether a called game shall be a suspended game. If a game is halted by weather, and subsequent light failure or an intervening curfew or time limit prevents its resumption, it shall not be a suspended game. If a game is halted by light failure, and weather or field conditions prevent its resumption, it shall not be a suspended game. A game called at the end of a completed inning with the score tied after nine innings shall be a tie game, not a suspended game.

- (c) A suspended game shall be resumed and completed as follows:
- (1) Immediately preceding the next scheduled single game between the two clubs on the same grounds; or
 - (2) Immediately preceding the next scheduled double-header between the two clubs on the same grounds, if no single game remains on the schedule; or
 - (3) If suspended on the last scheduled date between the two clubs in that city, transferred and played on the grounds of the opposing club, if possible;
 - (i) Immediately preceding the next scheduled single game, or
 - (ii) Immediately preceding the next scheduled double-header, if no single games remain on the schedule.
 - (4) If a suspended game has not been resumed and completed on the last date scheduled for the two clubs, it shall be a called game.
- (d) A suspended game shall be resumed at the exact point of suspension of the original game. The completion of a suspended game is a continuation of the original game. The lineup and batting order of both teams shall be exactly the same as the lineup and batting order at the moment of suspension, subject to the rules governing substitution. Any player may be replaced by a player who had not been in the game prior to the suspension. No player removed before the suspension may be returned to the lineup.

A player who was not with the club when the game was suspended may be used as a substitute, even if he has taken the place of a player no longer with the club who would not have been eligible because he had been removed from the lineup before the game was suspended.

4.13 RULES GOVERNING DOUBLE-HEADERS.

- (a) (1) Only two championship games shall be played on one date. Completion of a suspended game shall not violate this rule.
- (2) If two games are scheduled to be played for one admission on one date, the first game shall be the regularly scheduled game for that date.
- (b) After the start of the first game of a double-header, that game shall be completed before the second game of the double-header shall begin.
- (c) The second game of a double-header shall start twenty minutes after the first game is completed, unless a longer interval (not to exceed thirty minutes) is declared by the umpire-in-chief and announced to the opposing managers at the end of the first game. EXCEPTION: If the league president has approved a request of the home club for a longer interval between games for some special event, the umpire-in-chief shall declare such longer interval and announce it to the opposing managers. The umpire-in-chief of the first game shall be the time-keeper controlling the interval between games.
- (d) The umpire shall start the second game of a double-header, if at all possible, and play shall continue as long as ground conditions, local time restrictions, or weather permit.
- (e) When a regularly scheduled double-header is delayed in starting for any cause, any game that is started is the first game of the double-header.
- (f) When a rescheduled game is part of a double-header the rescheduled game shall be the second game, and the first game shall be the regularly scheduled game for that date.

4.14 The umpire-in-chief shall order the playing field lights turned on whenever in his opinion darkness makes further play in daylight hazardous.

4.15 A game may be forfeited to the opposing team when a team —

- (a) Fails to appear upon the field, or being upon the field, refuses to start play within five minutes after the umpire has called "Play" at the appointed hour for beginning the game, unless such delayed appearance is, in the umpire's judgment, unavoidable;
- (b) Employs tactics palpably designed to delay or shorten the game;
- (c) Refuses to continue play during a game unless the game has been suspended or terminated by the umpire;
- (d) Fails to resume play, after a suspension, within one minute after the umpire has called "Play;"
- (e) After warning by the umpire, wilfully and persistently violates any rules of the game;
- (f) Fails to obey within a reasonable time the umpire's order for removal of a player from the game;
- (g) Fails to appear for the second game of a double-header within twenty minutes after the close of the first game unless the umpire-in-chief of the first game shall have extended the time of the intermission.

4.16 A game shall be forfeited to the visiting team if, after it has been suspended, the orders of the umpire to ground keepers respecting preparation of the field for resumption of play are not complied with.

4.17 A game shall be forfeited to the opposing team when a team is unable or refuses to place nine players on the field.

4.18 If the umpire declares a game forfeited he shall transmit a written report to the league president within twenty-four hours thereafter, but failure of such transmittal shall not affect the forfeiture.

4.19 PROTESTING GAMES. Each league shall adopt rules governing procedure for protesting a game, when a manager claims that an umpire's decision is in violation of these rules. No protest shall ever be permitted on judgment decisions by the umpire.

5.00—Putting the Ball in Play—Live Ball

5.01 At the time set for beginning the game the umpire shall call "Play."

5.02 After the umpire calls "Play" the ball is alive and in play and remains alive and in play until for legal cause, or at the umpire's call of "Time" suspending play, the ball becomes dead. While the ball is dead no player may be put out, no bases may be run and no runs may be scored, except that runners may advance one or more bases as the result of acts which occurred while the ball was alive (such as, but not limited to a balk, an overthrow, interference, or a home run or other fair hit out of the playing field).

5.03 The pitcher shall deliver the pitch to the batter who may elect to strike the ball, or who may not offer at it, as he chooses.

5.04 The offensive team's objective is to have its batter become a runner, and its runners advance.

5.05 The defensive team's objective is to prevent offensive players from becoming runners, and to prevent their advance around the bases.

5.06 When a batter becomes a runner and touches all bases legally he shall score one run for his team.

5.07 When three offensive players are legally put out, that team takes the field and the opposing team becomes the offensive team.

5.08 If a thrown ball accidentally touches a base coach, or a pitched or thrown ball touches an umpire, the ball is alive and in play.

5.09 The ball becomes dead and runners advance one base, or return to their bases, without liability to be put out, when—

- (a) A pitched ball touches a batter, or his clothing, while in his legal batting position; runners, if forced, advance;

- (b) The plate umpire interferes with the catcher's throw attempting to prevent a stolen base; runners return;
- (c) A balk is committed; runners advance;
- (d) A ball is illegally batted; runners return;
- (e) A foul ball is not caught; runners return. The umpire shall not put the ball in play until all runners have retouched their bases;
- (f) Offensive interference is called; runners return;
- (g) A fair ball touches a runner or an umpire on fair territory before it touches an infielder including the pitcher, or touches an umpire before it has passed an infielder other than the pitcher. NOTE: If a fair ball goes through, or by, an infielder, and touches a runner immediately back of him, or touches a runner after being deflected by an infielder, the ball is in play and the umpire shall not declare the runner out. In making such decision the umpire must be convinced that the ball passed through, or by, the infielder and that no other infielder had the chance to make a play on the ball; runners advance, if forced;
- (h) A base coach intentionally interferes with a thrown ball; runners return;
- (i) A pitched ball passes the catcher and lodges in the umpire's mask or paraphernalia; runners advance;
- (j) Any legal pitch touches a runner trying to score; runners advance.

5.10 The ball becomes dead when an umpire calls "Time." The umpire-in-chief shall call "Time"

- (a) When in his judgment weather, darkness or similar conditions make immediate further play impossible;
- (b) When light failure makes it difficult or impossible for the umpires to follow the play;

APPROVED RULING. If a play is in progress when such light failure occurs, and if any further action is possible, the entire play shall be nullified. When the lights are restored, play shall resume with the same situation as existed at the start of the play which was interrupted by the light failure.

- (c) When an accident incapacitates a player or an umpire;
 - (1) If an accident to a runner is such as to prevent him from proceeding to a base to which he is entitled, as on a home run hit out of the playing field, or an award of one or more bases, a substitute runner shall be permitted to complete the play.

- (d) When a manager requests "Time" for a substitution, or for a conference with one of his players.
- (e) When the umpire wishes to examine the ball, to consult with either manager, or for any similar cause.
- (f) When a fielder, after catching a fly ball, falls into a bench or stand, or falls across ropes into a crowd when spectators are on the field.

NOTE: If a fielder after making a catch steps into a bench, but does not fall, the ball is in play and runners may advance at their own peril.

- (g) When an umpire orders a player or any other person removed from the playing field.
- (h) Except in the cases stated in paragraphs (b) and (c) (1) of this rule, no umpire shall call "Time" while a play is in progress.

5.11 After the ball is dead, play shall be resumed when the pitcher takes his place on the pitcher's plate with a new ball or the same ball in his possession and the plate umpire calls "Play." The plate umpire shall call "Play" as soon as the pitcher takes his place on his plate with the ball in his possession.

6.00—The Batter

6.01 (a) Each player of the offensive team shall bat in the order that his name appears in his team's batting order.
(b) The first batter in each inning after the first inning shall be the player whose name follows that of the last player who legally completed his time at bat in the preceding inning.

6.02 (a) The batter shall take his position in the batter's box promptly when it is his time at bat.
(b) The batter shall not leave his position in the batter's box after the pitcher comes to Set Position, or starts his windup.

PENALTY: If the pitcher pitches, the umpire shall call "Ball" or "Strike," as the case may be.

- (c) If the batter refuses to take his position in the batter's box during his time at bat, the umpire shall order the pitcher to pitch, and shall call "Strike" on each such pitch. The batter may take his proper position after any such pitch, and the regular ball and strike count shall continue, but if he does not take his proper position before three strikes are called, he shall be declared out.

6.03 The batter's legal position shall be with both feet within the batter's box.

APPROVED RULING: The lines defining the box are within the batter's box.

6.04 A batter has legally completed his time at bat when he is put out or becomes a runner.

6.05 A batter is out when—

- (a) His fair or foul fly ball (other than a foul tip) is legally caught by a fielder;
- (b) A third strike is legally caught by the catcher;
- (c) A third strike is not caught by the catcher when first base is occupied before two are out;
- (d) He bunts foul on the third strike;
- (e) An Infield Fly is declared;
- (f) He attempts to hit a third strike and the ball touches him;
- (g) His fair ball touches him before touching a fielder;
- (h) After hitting or bunting a fair ball, his bat hits the ball a second time in fair territory. The ball is dead and no runners may advance. If the batter-runner drops his bat and the ball rolls against the bat in fair territory and, in the umpire's judgment, there was no intention to interfere with the course of the ball, the ball is alive and in play;
- (i) After hitting or bunting a foul ball, he intentionally deflects the course of the ball in any manner while running to first base. The ball is dead and no runners may advance;
- (j) After a third strike or after he hits a fair ball he or first base is tagged before he touches first base;

- (k) In running the last half of the distance from home base to first base, while the ball is being fielded to first base, he runs outside (to the right of) the three-foot line, or inside (to the left of) the foul line, and in the umpire's judgment in so doing interferes with the fielder taking the throw at first base; except that he may run outside (to the right of) the three-foot line or inside (to the left of) the foul line to avoid a fielder attempting to field a batted ball;
- (l) A fielder intentionally drops a fair fly ball or line drive, with first, first and second, first and third, or first, second and third base occupied before two are out. Runners need not retouch, and may advance at their own peril;

APPROVED RULING: In this situation, the batter is not out if the fielder permits the ball to drop untouched to the ground.

- (m) A preceding runner shall, in the umpire's judgment, intentionally interfere with a fielder who is attempting to catch a thrown ball or to throw a ball in an attempt to complete any play.
- (n) With two out, a runner on third base, and two strikes on the batter, the runner attempts to steal home base on a legal pitch and the ball touches the runner in the batter's strike zone. The umpire shall call "Strike Three," the batter is out and the run shall not count; before two are out, the umpire shall call "Strike Three," the ball is dead, and the run counts.

6.06 A batter is out for illegal action when—

- (a) He hits an illegally batted ball;
- (b) He steps from one batter's box to the other while the pitcher is in position ready to pitch;
- (c) He interferes with the catcher's fielding or throwing by stepping out of the batter's box or making any other movement that hinders the catcher's play at home base. EXCEPTION: Batter is not out if any runner attempting to advance is put out, or if runner trying to score is called out for batter's interference.

6.07 BATTING OUT OF TURN.

- (a) A batter shall be called out, on appeal, when he fails to bat in his proper turn, and another batter completes a time at bat in his place.
 - (1) The proper batter may take his place in the batter's box at any time before the improper batter becomes a runner or is put out, and any balls and strikes shall be counted in the proper batter's time at bat.
- (b) When an improper batter becomes a runner or is put out, and the defensive team appeals to the umpire before the first pitch to the next batter of either team, or before any play or attempted play, the umpire shall
 - (1) declare the proper batter out; and (2) nullify any advance or score made because of a ball batted by the improper batter or because of the improper batter's advance to first base on a hit, an error, a base on balls, a hit batter or otherwise.

NOTE: If a runner advances, while the improper batter is at bat, on a stolen base, balk, wild pitch or passed ball, such advance is legal.

- (c) When an improper batter becomes a runner or is put out, and a pitch is made to the next batter of either team before an appeal is made, the improper batter thereby becomes the proper batter, and the results of his time at bat become legal.
- (d) (1) When the proper batter is called out because he has failed to bat in turn, the next batter shall be the batter whose name follows that of the proper batter thus called out; (2) When an improper batter becomes a proper batter because no appeal is made before the next pitch, the next batter shall be the batter whose name follows that of such legalized improper batter. The instant an improper batter's actions are legalized, the batting order picks up with the name following that of the legalized improper batter.

APPROVED RULINGS

To illustrate various situations arising from batting out of turn, assume a first-inning batting order as follows:

Abel - Baker - Charles - Daniel - Edward - Frank - George - Hooker - Irwin.

PLAY (1). Baker bats. With the count 2 balls and 1 strike, (a) the offensive team discovers the error or (b) the defensive team appeals. RULING: In either case, Abel replaces Baker, with the count on him 2 balls and 1 strike.

PLAY (2). Baker bats and doubles. The defensive team appeals (a) immediately or (b) after a pitch to Charles. RULING: (a) Abel is called out and Baker is the proper batter; (b) Baker stays on second and Charles is the proper batter.

PLAY (3). Abel walks. Baker walks. Charles forces Baker. Edward bats in Daniel's turn. While Edward is at bat, Abel scores and Charles goes to second on a wild pitch. Edward grounds out, sending Charles to third. The defensive team appeals (a) immediately or (b) after a pitch to Daniel. RULING: (a) Abel's run counts and Charles is entitled to second base since these advances were not made because of the improper batter batting a ball or advancing to first base. Charles must return to second base because his advance to third resulted from the improper batter batting a ball. Daniel is called out, and Edward is the proper batter; (b) Abel's run counts and Charles stays on third. The proper batter is Frank.

PLAY (4). With the bases full and two out, Hooker bats in Frank's turn, and triples, scoring three runs. The defensive team appeals (a) immediately, or (b) after a pitch to George. RULING: (a) Frank is called out and no runs score. George is the proper batter to lead off the second inning; (b) Hooker stays on third and three runs score. Irwin is the proper batter.

PLAY (5). After Play (4) (b) above, George continues at bat. (a) Hooker is picked off third base for the third out, or (b) George flies out, and no appeal is made. Who is the proper leadoff batter in the second inning? RULING: (a) Irwin. He became the proper batter as soon as the first pitch to George legalized Hooker's triple; (b) Hooker. When no appeal was made, the first pitch to the leadoff batter of the opposing team legalized George's time at bat.

PLAY (6). Daniel walks and Abel comes to bat. Daniel was an improper batter, and if an appeal is made before the first pitch to Abel, Abel is out, Daniel is removed from base, and Baker is the proper batter. There is no appeal, and a pitch is made to Abel. Daniel's walk is now legalized, and Edward thereby becomes the proper batter. Edward can replace Abel at any time before Abel is put out or becomes a runner. He does not do so, Abel flies out, and Baker comes to bat. Abel was an improper batter, and if an appeal is made before the first pitch to Baker, Edward is out, and the proper batter is Frank. There is no appeal, and a pitch is made to Baker. Abel's out is now legalized, and the proper batter is Baker. Baker walks. Charles is the proper batter. Charles flies out. Now Daniel is the proper batter, but he is on second base. Who is the proper batter? RULING: The proper batter is Edward. When the proper batter is on base, he is passed over, and the following batter becomes the proper batter.

6.08 The batter becomes a runner and is entitled to first base without liability to be put out (provided he advances to and touches first base) when—

- (a) Four "balls" have been called by the umpire;
- (b) He is touched by a pitched ball which he is not attempting to hit unless (1) The ball is in the strike zone when it touches the batter, or (2) The batter makes no attempt to avoid being touched by the ball;

NOTE: If the ball is in the strike zone when it touches the batter, it shall be called a strike, whether or not the batter tries to avoid the ball. If the ball is outside the strike zone when it touches the batter, it shall be called a ball if he makes no attempt to avoid being touched.

APPROVED RULING: When the batter is touched by a pitched ball which does not entitle him to first base, the ball is dead and no runner may advance.

- (c) The catcher or any fielder interferes with him. If a play follows the interference, the manager of the offense may advise the plate umpire that he elects to decline the interference penalty and accept the play. Such election shall be made immediately at the end of the play;
- (d) A fair ball touches an umpire or a runner on fair territory before touching a fielder.

NOTE: If a fair ball touches an umpire after having passed a fielder other than the pitcher, or having touched a fielder, including the pitcher, the ball is in play.

6.09 The batter becomes a runner when—

- (a) He hits a fair ball;
- (b) The third strike called by the umpire is not caught, providing (1) first base is unoccupied, or (2) first base is occupied with two out;
- (c) A fair ball, after having passed a fielder other than the pitcher, or after having been touched by a fielder, shall touch an umpire or runner on fair territory;
- (d) A fair fly ball passes over a fence or into the stands at a distance from home base of 250 feet or more. Such hit entitles the batter to a home run when he shall have touched all bases legally. A fair fly ball that passes out of the playing field at a point less than 250 feet from home base shall entitle the batter to advance to second base, only;
- (e) A fair ball, after touching the ground, bounds into the stands, or passes through, over or under a fence, or through or under a scoreboard, or through or under shrubbery, or vines on the fence, in which case the batter and the runners shall be entitled to advance two bases;
- (f) Any fair ball which, either before or after touching the ground, passes through or under a fence, or through or under a scoreboard, or through any opening in the fence or scoreboard, or through or under shrubbery, or vines on the fence, or which sticks in a fence or scoreboard, in which case the batter and the runners shall be entitled to two bases;
- (g) Any bounding fair ball is deflected by the fielder into the stands, or over or under a fence on fair or foul territory, in which case the batter and all runners shall be entitled to advance two bases;
- (h) Any fair fly ball is deflected by the fielder into the stands, or over the fence into foul territory, in which case the batter shall be entitled to advance to second base; but if deflected into the stands or over the fence in fair territory, the batter shall be entitled to a home run. However, should such fair fly be deflected at a point less than 250 feet from home plate, the batter shall be entitled to two bases only.

7.00—The Runner.

7.01 A runner acquires the right to an unoccupied base when he touches it before he is out. He is then entitled to it until he is put out; or touches the next base; or is forced to vacate it for a following runner.

7.02 In advancing, a runner shall touch first, second, third and home base in order. If forced to return, he shall retouch all bases in reverse order, unless the ball is dead under any provision of Rule 5.09. In such cases, the runner may go directly to his original base.

PENALTY: If a runner fails to touch a base while advancing or reversing, he shall be declared out when a fielder tags him, the missed base or the base from which he started his advance. This is an appeal play.

7.03 Two runners may not occupy a base, but if, while the ball is alive, two runners are touching a base, the following runner shall be out when tagged. The preceding runner is entitled to the base.

7.04 Each runner, other than the batter, may without liability to be put out, advance one base when—

- (a) There is a balk;
- (b) The batter's advance without liability to be put out forces the runner to vacate his base, or when the batter hits a fair ball that touches another runner or the umpire before such ball has been touched by, or has passed a fielder, if the runner is forced to advance;
- (c) A fielder, after catching a fly ball, falls into a bench or stand, or falls across ropes into a crowd when spectators are on the field;
- (d) While he is attempting to steal a base, the batter is interfered with by the catcher or any other fielder.

NOTE: When a runner is entitled to a base without liability to be put out, while the ball is in play, or under any rule in which the ball is in play after the runner reaches the base to which he is entitled, and the runner fails to touch the base to which he is entitled before attempting to advance to the next base, the runner shall forfeit his exemption from liability to be put out, and he may be put out by tagging the base or by the tagging the runner before he returns to the missed base.

7.05 Each runner including the batter-runner may, without liability to be put out, advance—

- (a) To home base, scoring a run, if a fair ball goes out of the playing field in flight and he touches all bases legally; or if a fair ball which, in the umpire's judgment, would have gone out of the playing field in flight, is deflected by the act of a fielder in throwing his glove, cap, or any article of his apparel;
- (b) Three bases, if a fielder deliberately touches a fair ball with his cap, mask or any part of his uniform detached from its proper place on his person. The ball is in play and the batter may advance to home base at his peril;
- (c) Three bases, if a fielder deliberately throws his glove at and touches a fair ball. The ball is in play and the batter may advance to home base at his peril;
- (d) Two bases, if a fielder deliberately touches a thrown ball with his cap, mask or any part of his uniform detached from its proper place on his person. The ball is in play;
- (e) Two bases, if a fielder deliberately throws his glove at and touches a thrown ball. The ball is in play;
- (f) Two bases, if a fair ball bounces or is deflected into the stands outside the first or third base foul lines; or if it goes through or under a field fence, or through or under a scoreboard, or through or under shrubbery or vines on the fence; or if it sticks in such fence, scoreboard, shrubbery or vines;
- (g) Two bases when, with no spectators on the playing field, a thrown ball goes into the stands, or into a bench (whether or not the ball rebounds into the field), or over or under or through a field fence, or on a slanting part of the screen above the backstop, or remains in the meshes of a wire screen protecting spectators. The ball is dead. When such wild throw is the first play by an infielder, the umpire, in awarding such bases, shall be governed by the position of the runners at the time the ball was pitched; in all other cases the umpire shall be governed by the position of the runners at the time the wild throw was made;

APPROVED RULING: If all runners, including the batter-runner, have advanced at least one base when an infielder makes a wild throw on the first play after the pitch, the award shall be governed by the position of the runners when the wild throw was made.

- (h) One base, if a ball, pitched to the batter, or thrown by the pitcher from his position on the pitcher's plate to a base to catch a runner, goes into a stand or a bench, or over or through a field fence or backstop. The ball is dead;
- (i) One base, if the batter becomes a runner on Ball Four or Strike Three, when the pitch passes the catcher and lodges in the umpire's mask or paraphernalia.

NOTE: If the batter becomes a runner on a wild pitch which entitles the runners to advance one base, the batter-runner shall be entitled to first base only.

7.06 When obstruction occurs, the umpire shall call or signal "Obstruction."

- (a) If a play is being made on the obstructed runner, or if the batter-runner is obstructed before he touches first base, the ball is dead and all runners shall advance, without liability to be put out, to the bases they would have reached, in the umpire's judgment, if there had been no obstruction. The obstructed runner shall be awarded at least one base beyond the base he had last legally touched before the obstruction. Any preceding runners, forced to advance by the award of bases as the penalty for obstruction, shall advance without liability to be put out.
- (b) If no play is being made on the obstructed runner, the play shall proceed until no further action is possible. The umpire shall then call "Time" and impose such penalties, if any, as in his judgment will nullify the act of obstruction.

7.07 If, with a runner on third base and trying to score by means of a squeeze play or a steal, the catcher or any other fielder steps on, or in front of home base without possession of the ball, or touches the batter or his bat, the pitcher shall be charged with a balk, the batter shall be awarded first base on the interference and the ball is dead.

7.08 Any runner is out when—

- (a) (1) He runs more than three feet away from a direct line between bases to avoid being tagged, unless his action is to avoid interference with a fielder fielding a batted ball; or (2) after touching first base, he leaves the baseline, obviously abandoning his effort to touch the next base;

APPROVED RULING: When a batter becomes a runner on third strike not caught, and starts for his bench or position, he may advance to first base at any time before he enters the bench. To put him out, the defense must tag him or first base before he touches first base.

- (b) He intentionally interferes with a thrown ball; or hinders a fielder attempting to make a play on a batted ball;
- (c) He is tagged, when the ball is alive, while off his base. EXCEPTION: A batter-runner cannot be tagged out after over-running or over-sliding first base, if he returns immediately to the base;

APPROVED RULING: (1) If the impact of a runner breaks a base loose from its position, no play can be made on that runner at that base if he had reached the base safely.

APPROVED RULING: (2) If a base is dislodged from its position during a play, any following runner on the same play shall be considered as touching or occupying the base if, in the umpire's judgment, he touches or occupies the point marked by the dislodged bag.

- (d) He fails to retouch his base after a fair or foul ball is legally caught before he, or his base, is tagged by a fielder. He shall not be called out for failure to retouch his base after the following pitch. This is an appeal play;
- (e) He fails to reach the next base before a fielder tags him or the base, after he has been forced to advance by reason of the batter becoming a runner. However, if a following runner is put out on a force play, the force is removed and the runner must be tagged to be put out. The force is removed as soon as the runner touches the base to which he is forced to advance, and if he overslides or overruns the base, the runner must be tagged to be put out. However, if the forced runner, after touching the next base, retreats for any reason towards the base he had last occupied, the force play is reinstated, and he can again be put out if the defense tags the base to which he is forced;

- (f) He is touched by a fair ball in fair territory before the ball has touched or passed an infielder. The ball is dead and no runner may score, nor runners advance, except runners forced to advance. EXCEPTION: If a runner is touching his base when touched by an Infield Fly, he is not out, although the batter is out;

NOTE: If runner is touched by an Infield Fly when he is not touching his base, both runner and batter are out.

- (g) He attempts to score on a play in which the batter interferes with the play at home base before two are out. With two out, the interference puts the batter out and no score counts;
- (h) He passes a preceding runner before such runner is out;
- (i) After he has acquired legal possession of a base, he runs the bases in reverse order for the purpose of confusing the defense or making a travesty of the game. The umpire shall immediately call "Time" and declare the runner out;
- (j) He fails to return at once to first base after overrunning or oversliding that base. If he attempts to run to second he is out when tagged. If, after overrunning or oversliding first base he starts toward the dugout, or toward his position, and fails to return to first base at once, he is out, on appeal, when he or the base is tagged;
- (k) In running or sliding for home base, he fails to touch home base and makes no attempt to return to the base when a fielder holds the ball in his hand, while touching home base, and appeals to the umpire for the decision.

7.09 It is interference by a batter or a runner when—

- (a) After a third strike he hinders the catcher in his attempt to field the ball;
- (b) After hitting or bunting a fair ball, his bat hits the ball a second time in fair territory. The ball is dead and no runners may advance. If the batter-runner drops his bat and the ball rolls against the bat in fair territory and, in the umpire's judgment, there was no intention to interfere with the course of the ball, the ball is alive and in play;
- (c) He intentionally deflects the course of a foul ball in any manner;
- (d) Before two are out and a runner on third base, the batter hinders a fielder in making a play at home base; the runner is out;
- (e) Any member or members of the offensive team stand or gather around any base to which a runner is advancing to confuse, hinder or add to the difficulty of the fielders. Such runner shall be declared out for the interference of his teammate or teammates;
- (f) Any batter or runner who has just been put out hinders or impedes any following play being made on a runner. Such runner shall be declared out for the interference of his teammate;
- (g) In the judgment of the umpire, the base coach at third base, or first base, by touching or holding the runner, physically assists him in returning to or leaving third base or first base. The runner, however, shall not be declared out if no play is being made on him;
- (h) With a runner on third base, the base coach leaves his box and acts in any manner to draw a throw by a fielder;
- (i) In running the last half of the distance from home base to first base while the ball is being fielded to first base, he runs outside (to the right of) the three-foot line, or inside (to the left of) the foul line and, in the umpire's judgment, interferes with the fielder taking the throw at first base, or attempting to field a batted ball;

- (j) He fails to avoid a fielder who is attempting to field a batted ball, or intentionally interferes with a thrown ball, provided that if two or more fielders attempt to field a batted ball, and the runner comes in contact with one or more of them, the umpire shall determine which fielder is entitled to the benefit of this rule, and shall not declare the runner out for coming in contact with a fielder other than the one the umpire determines to be entitled to field such a ball;
- (k) A fair ball touches him on fair territory before touching a fielder. If a fair ball goes through, or by, an infielder, and touches a runner immediately back of him, or touches the runner after having been deflected by a fielder, the umpire shall not declare the runner out for being touched by a batted ball. In making such decision the umpire must be convinced that the ball passed through, or by the infielder, and that no other infielder had the chance to make a play on the ball. If, in the judgment of the umpire, the runner deliberately and intentionally kicks such a batted ball on which the infielder has missed a play, then the runner shall be called out for interference.

PENALTY FOR INTERFERENCE: The runner is out and the ball is dead. No run may score, nor runners advance, except runners forced to advance.

7.10 Any runner shall be called out, on appeal, when—

- (a) After a fly ball is caught, he fails to re-touch his base before he or his base is tagged;
- (b) With the ball in play, while advancing or returning to a base, he fails to touch each base in order before he, or a missed base, is tagged;

APPROVED RULING: (1) No runner may return to touch a missed base after a following runner has scored.
(2) When the ball is dead, no runner may return to touch a missed base after he has advanced to and touched a base beyond the missed base.

- (c) He overruns or overslides first base and fails to return to the base immediately, and he or the base is tagged;
 - (d) He fails to touch home base and makes no attempt to return to that base, and home base is tagged;
- Any appeal under this rule must be made before the next pitch, or any play or attempted play. If the violation occurs during a play which ends a half-inning, the appeal must be made before the defensive team leaves the field.

NOTE: Appeal plays may require an umpire to recognize an apparent "fourth out." If the third out is made during a play in which an appeal play is sustained on another runner, the appeal play decision takes precedence in determining the out. If there is more than one appeal during a play that ends a half-inning, the defense may elect to take the out that gives it the advantage. For the purposes of this rule, the defensive team has "left the field" when the pitcher and all infielders have left fair territory on their way to the bench or clubhouse.

7.11 The players or coaches of an offensive team shall vacate any space needed by a fielder who is attempting to field a batted or thrown ball.

PENALTY: Interference shall be called and the batter or runner on whom the play is being made shall be declared out.

7.12 Unless two are out, the status of a following runner is not affected by a preceding runner's failure to touch a base. If, upon appeal, the preceding runner is the third out, no runners following him shall score. If such third out is the result of a force play, neither preceding nor following runners shall score.

8.00—The Pitcher.

8.01 Legal pitching delivery. There are two legal pitching positions, the Windup Position and the Set Position, and either position may be used at any time.

- (a) The Windup Position. The pitcher shall stand facing the batter, his entire pivot foot on, or in front of and touching and not off the end of the pitcher's plate, and the other foot free. From this position any natural movement associated with his delivery of the ball to the batter commits him to the pitch without interruption or alteration. He shall not raise either foot from the ground, except that in his actual delivery of the ball to the batter, he may take one step backward, and one step forward with his free foot.
- (b) The Set Position. Set Position shall be indicated by the pitcher when he stands facing the batter with his entire pivot foot on, or in front of, and in contact with, and not off the end of the pitcher's plate, and his other foot in front of the pitcher's plate, holding the ball in both hands in front of his body and coming to a complete stop of at least one second. From such Set Position he may deliver the ball to the batter, throw to a base or step backward off the pitcher's plate with his pivot foot. Before assuming Set Position, the pitcher may elect to make any natural preliminary motion such as that known as "the stretch." But if he so elects, he shall come to Set Position before delivering the ball to the batter. After assuming Set Position, any natural motion associated with his delivery of the ball to the batter commits him to the pitch without alteration or interruption.

- (c) At any time during the pitcher's preliminary movements and until his natural pitching motion commits him to the pitch, he may throw to any base provided he steps directly toward such base before making the throw.
- (d) If the pitcher makes an illegal pitch with the bases unoccupied, it shall be called a ball unless the batter reaches first base on a hit, an error, a base on balls, a hit batter or otherwise.
- (e) If the pitcher removes his pivot foot from contact with the pitcher's plate by stepping backward with that foot, he thereby becomes an infielder and, if he makes a wild throw from that position, it shall be considered the same as a wild throw by any other infielder.

8.02 The pitcher shall not—

- (a) (1) Apply a foreign substance of any kind to the ball;
- (2) Expectorate either on the ball or his glove; (3) rub the ball on his glove, person or clothing; (4) deface the ball in any manner; (5) deliver what is called the "shine" ball, "spit" ball, "mud" ball or "emery" ball. The pitcher, of course, is allowed to rub the ball between his bare hands.

PENALTY: For violation of any part of this rule the umpire shall immediately disqualify the pitcher.

- (b) Intentionally delay the game by throwing the ball to players other than the catcher, when the batter is in position, except in an attempt to retire a runner.

PENALTY: If, after warning by the umpire, such delaying action is repeated, the pitcher shall be removed from the game.

- (c) Intentionally pitch at the batter. If, in the umpire's judgment, such violation occurs, the umpire shall warn the pitcher and the manager of the defense that another such pitch will mean immediate expulsion of the pitcher. If such pitch is repeated during the game, the umpire shall eject the pitcher from the game.

8.03 When a pitcher takes his position at the beginning of each inning, or when he relieves another pitcher he shall be permitted to pitch not to exceed eight preparatory pitches to his catcher during which play shall be suspended. Such preparatory pitches shall not consume more than one minute of time. If a sudden emergency causes a pitcher to be summoned into the game without any opportunity to warm up, the umpire-in-chief shall allow him as many pitches as the umpire deems necessary.

8.04 When the bases are unoccupied, the pitcher shall deliver the ball to the batter within 20 seconds after he receives the ball. Each time the pitcher delays the game by violating this rule, the umpires shall call "Ball."

NOTE: The intent of this rule is to avoid unnecessary delays. The umpire shall insist that the catcher return the ball promptly to the pitcher, and that the pitcher take his position on the rubber promptly. Obvious delay by the pitcher should instantly be penalized by the umpire.

8.05 If there is a runner, or runners, it is a balk when—

- (a) The pitcher, while touching his plate, makes any motion naturally associated with his pitch and fails to make such delivery;
- (b) The pitcher, while touching his plate, feints a throw to first base and fails to complete the throw;
- (c) The pitcher, while touching his plate, fails to step directly toward a base before throwing to that base;

- (d) The pitcher, while touching his plate, throws, or feints a throw to an unoccupied base, except for the purpose of making a play;
- (e) The pitcher makes an illegal pitch;
- (f) The pitcher delivers the ball to the batter while he is not facing the batter;
- (g) The pitcher makes any motion naturally associated with his pitch while he is not touching the pitcher's plate;
- (h) The pitcher unnecessarily delays the game;
- (i) The pitcher, without having the ball, stands on or astride the pitcher's plate or while off the plate, he feints a pitch;
- (j) The pitcher, after coming to Set Position, removes one hand from the ball other than in an actual pitch, or in throwing to a base;
- (k) The pitcher, while touching his plate, accidentally or intentionally drops the ball;
- (l) The pitcher, while giving an intentional base on balls, pitches when the catcher is not in the catcher's box;
- (m) The pitcher delivers the pitch from Set Position without coming to a stop of one full second.

PENALTY: The ball is dead, and each runner shall advance one base without liability to be put out, unless the batter reaches first on a hit, an error, a base on balls, a hit batter, or otherwise, and all other runners advance at least one base, in which case the play proceeds without reference to the balk.

APPROVED RULING: A runner who misses the first base to which he is advancing and who is called out on appeal shall be considered as having advanced one base for the purpose of this rule.

9.00—The Umpire.

- 9.01 (a) The league president shall appoint one or more umpires to officiate at each league championship game. The umpires shall be responsible for the conduct of the game in accordance with these official rules and for maintaining discipline and order on the playing field during the game.

- (b) Each umpire is the representative of the league and of professional baseball, and is authorized and required to enforce all of these rules. Each umpire has authority to order a player, coach, manager or club officer or employee to do or refrain from doing anything which affects the administering of these rules, and to enforce the prescribed penalties.
- (c) Each umpire has authority to rule on any point not specifically covered in these rules.
- (d) Each umpire has authority to disqualify any player, coach, manager or substitute for objecting to decisions or for unsportsmanlike conduct or language, and to eject such disqualified person from the playing field. If an umpire disqualifies a player while a play is in progress, the disqualification shall not take effect until no further action is possible in that play.
- (e) Each umpire has authority at his discretion to eject from the playing field (1) any person whose duties permit his presence on the field, such as ground crew members, ushers, photographers, newsmen, broadcasting crew members, etc., and (2) any spectator or other person not authorized to be on the playing field.

- 9.02
- (a) Any umpire's decision which involves judgment, such as, but not limited to, whether a batted ball is fair or foul, whether a pitch is a strike or a ball, or whether a runner is safe or out, is final. No player, manager, coach or substitute shall object to any such judgment decisions.
 - (b) If there is reasonable doubt that any umpire's decision may be in conflict with the rules, the manager may appeal the decision and ask that a correct ruling be made. Such appeal shall be made only to the umpire who made the protested decision.
 - (c) If a decision is appealed, the umpire making the decision may ask another umpire for information before making a final decision. No umpire shall criticize, seek to reverse or interfere with another umpire's decision unless asked to do so by the umpire making it.

- (d) No umpire may be replaced during a game unless he is injured or becomes ill.

9.03 (a) If there is only one umpire, he shall have complete jurisdiction in administering the rules. He may take any position on the playing field which will enable him to discharge his duties (usually behind the catcher, but sometimes behind the pitcher if there are runners).

- (b) If there are two or more umpires, one shall be designated umpire-in-chief and the others field umpires.

9.04 (a) The umpire-in-chief shall stand behind the catcher. (He usually is called the plate umpire.) His duties shall be to:

- (1) Take full charge of, and be responsible for, the proper conduct of the game;
- (2) Call and count balls and strikes;
- (3) Call and declare fair balls and fouls except those commonly called by field umpires;
- (4) Make all decisions on the batter;
- (5) Make all decisions except those commonly reserved for the field umpires;
- (6) Decide when a game shall be forfeited;
- (7) If a time limit has been set, announce the fact and the time set before the game starts;
- (8) Inform the official scorer of the official batting order, and any changes in the lineups and batting order, on request;
- (9) Announce any special ground rules, at his discretion.

- (b) A field umpire may take any position on the playing field he thinks best suited to make impending decisions on the bases. His duties shall be to:

- (1) Make all decisions on the bases except those specifically reserved to the umpire-in-chief;
- (2) Take concurrent jurisdiction with the umpire-in-chief in calling "Time," balks, illegal pitches, or defacement or discoloration of the ball by any player;

- (3) Aid the umpire-in-chief in every manner in enforcing the rules, and excepting the power to forfeit the game, shall have equal authority with the umpire-in-chief in administering and enforcing the rules and maintaining discipline.
- (c) If different decisions should be made on one play by different umpires, the umpire-in-chief shall call all the umpires into consultation, with no manager or player present. After consultation, the umpire-in-chief (unless another umpire may have been designated by the league president) shall determine which decision shall prevail, based on which umpire was in best position and which decision was most likely correct. Play shall proceed as if only the final decision had been made.

- 9.05
- (a) The umpire shall report to the league president within twelve hours after the end of a game all violations of rules and other incidents worthy of comment, including the disqualification of any trainer, manager, coach or player, and the reasons therefor.
 - (b) When any trainer, manager, coach or player is disqualified for a flagrant offense such as the use of obscene or indecent language, or an assault upon an umpire, trainer, manager, coach or player, the umpire shall forward full particulars to the league president within four hours after the end of the game.
 - (c) After receiving the umpire's report that a trainer, manager, coach or player has been disqualified, the league president shall impose such penalty as he deems justified, and shall notify the person penalized and the manager of the club of which the penalized person is a member. If the penalty includes a fine, the penalized person shall pay the amount of the fine to the league within five days after receiving notice of the fine. Failure to pay such fine within five days shall result in the offender being debarred from participation in any game and from sitting on the players' bench during any game, until the fine is paid.

10.00—The Official Scorer.

10.01 (a) The league president shall appoint an official scorer for each league championship game. The official scorer shall observe the game from a position in the press box. The scorer shall have sole authority to make all decisions involving judgment, such as whether a batter's advance to first base is the result of a hit or an error. He shall communicate such decisions to the press box and broadcasting booths by hand signals or over the press box loud-speaker system, and shall advise the public address announcer of such decisions if requested.

After each game, including tied, forfeited and called games, the scorer shall prepare a report, on a form prescribed by the league president, listing the date of the game, where it was played, the names of the competing clubs and the umpires, the full score of the game, and all records of individual players compiled according to the system specified in these Official Scoring Rules. He shall forward this report to the league office within thirty-six hours after the game ends. He shall forward the report of any suspended game within thirty-six hours after the game has been completed, or after it becomes an official game because it cannot be completed, as provided by the Official Playing Rules.

- (b) (1) To achieve uniformity in keeping the records of championship games, the scorer shall conform strictly to the Official Scoring Rules. The scorer shall have authority to rule on any point not specifically covered in these rules.
- (2) If the teams change sides before three men are put out, the scorer shall immediately inform the umpire of the mistake.
- (3) If the game is protested or suspended, the scorer shall make note of the exact situation at the time of the protest or suspension, including the score, the number of outs, the position of any runners, and the ball and strike count on the batter.

NOTE: It is important that a suspended game resume with exactly the same situation as existed at the time of suspension. If a protested game is ordered replayed from point of protest, it must be resumed with exactly the situation that existed just before the protested play.

- (4) The scorer shall not make any decision conflicting with the Official Playing Rules, or with an umpire's decision.
 - (5) The scorer shall not call the attention of the umpire or of any member of either team to the fact that a player is batting out of turn.
- (c) The scorer is an official representative of the league, and is entitled to the respect and dignity of his office, and shall be accorded full protection by the league president. The scorer shall report to the president any indignity expressed by any manager, player, club employee or club officer in the course of, or as the result of, the discharge of his duties.

10.02 The official score report prescribed by the league president shall make provision for entering the information listed below, in a form convenient for the compilation of permanent statistical records:

pitcher with 5 innings, and make the notation that he faced — batters in the sixth. If a relief pitcher retires two batters and is replaced, credit that pitcher with $\frac{2}{3}$ inning pitched.

- (2) Total number of batters faced

- (e) Number of passed balls allowed by each catcher.
- (f) Names of players participating in double plays and triple plays. EXAMPLE—Double Plays—Jones, Roberts and Smith (2). Triple Play—Jones and Smith.
- (g) Number of runners left on base by each team. This total shall include all runners who get on base by any means and who do not score and are not put out. Include in this total a batter-runner whose batted ball results in another runner being retired for the third out.
- (h) Names of batters who hit home runs with bases full.
- (i) Names of batters who ground into force double plays and reverse force double plays.
- (j) Names of runners caught stealing.

- (l) The score by innings for each team.
- (m) Names of umpires, listed in this order (1) plate umpire, (2) first base umpire, (3) second base umpire, (4) third base umpire.
- (n) Time required to play the game, with delays for weather or light failure deducted.

- 10.03 (a) In compiling the official score report, the official scorer shall list each player's name and his fielding position or positions in the order in which the player batted, or would have batted if the game ends before he gets to bat.
- (b) Any player who enters the game as a substitute batter or substitute runner, whether or not he continues in the game thereafter, shall be identified in the batting order by a special symbol which shall refer to a separate record of substitute batters and runners. Lower case letters are recommended as symbols for substitute batters, and numerals as symbols for substitute runners. The record of substitute batters shall describe what the substitute batter did. EXAMPLES—"a-Singled for — in third inning; b-Flied out for — in sixth inning; c-Forced — for — in seventh inning; d-Grounded out for — in ninth inning; 1-Ran for — in ninth inning."

The record of substitute batters and runners shall include the name of any such substitute whose name is announced, but who is removed for a second substitute before he actually gets into the game. Such substitution shall be recorded as "e-Announced as substitute for — in seventh inning." Any such second substitute shall be recorded as batting or running for the first announced substitute.

HOW TO PROVE A BOX SCORE

- (c) A box score is in balance (or proved) when the total of the team's times at bat, bases on balls received, hit batters, sacrifice bunts, sacrifice flies and batters awarded first base because of interference or obstruction,

WHEN PLAYER BATS OUT OF TURN

- (d) When a player bats out of turn, and is put out, and the proper batter is called out before the ball is pitched to the next batter, charge the proper batter with a time at bat and score the putout and any assists the same as if the correct batting order had been followed. If an improper batter becomes a runner, and the proper batter is called out for having missed his turn at bat, charge the proper batter with a time at bat, credit the putout to the catcher, and ignore everything entering into the improper batter's safe arrival on base. If more than one batter bats out of turn in succession score all plays just as they occur, skipping the turn at bat of the player or players who first missed batting in the proper order.

TIED, FORFEITED AND CALLED GAMES

- (e) (1) All individual and team records of any tied or forfeited game which has reached or exceeded legal length when ended shall become a part of the official averages except that no pitcher shall be credited with a victory or charged with a defeat.
- (2) When a game is called, include the record of all individual and team actions up to the moment the game ends.

RUNS BATTED IN

10.04 (a) Credit the batter with a run batted in for every run which reaches home base because of the batter's safe hit, sacrifice bunt, sacrifice fly, caught foul fly, infield out or fielder's choice; or which is forced over the plate by reason of the batter becoming a runner with the bases full (on a base on balls, or an award of first base for being touched by a pitched ball, or for interference or obstruction).

- (1) Credit a run batted in for the run scored by the batter who hits a home run. Credit a run batted in for each runner who is on base when the home run is hit and who scores ahead of the batter who hits the home run.

- (2) Credit a run batted in for the run scored when, before two are out, an error is made on a play on which a runner from third base ordinarily would score.
- (b) Do not credit a run batted in when the batter grounds into a force double play or a reverse force double play.
- (c) Do not credit a run batted in when a fielder is charged with an error because he muffs a throw at first base which would have completed a force double play.
- (d) Scorer's judgement must determine whether a run batted in shall be credited for a run which scores when a fielder holds the ball, or throws to a wrong base. Ordinarily, if the runner keeps going, credit a run batted in; if the runner stops and takes off again when he notices the misplay, credit the run as scored on a fielder's choice.

BASE HITS

10.05 A base hit shall be scored in the following cases:

- (a) When a batter reaches first base (or any succeeding base) safely on a fair ball which settles on the ground or touches a fence before being touched by a fielder, or which clears a fence;
- (b) When a batter reaches first base safely on a fair ball hit with such force, or so slowly, that any fielder attempting to make a play with it has no opportunity to do so;

NOTE: A hit shall be scored if the fielder attempting to handle the ball cannot make a play, even if such fielder deflects the ball from or cuts off another fielder who could have put out a runner.

- (c) When a batter reaches first base safely on a fair ball which takes an unnatural bounce so that a fielder cannot handle it with ordinary effort, or which touches the pitcher's plate or any base (including home plate) before being touched by a fielder and bounces so that a fielder cannot handle it with ordinary effort;
- (d) When a batter reaches first base safely on a fair ball which has not been touched by a fielder and which is in fair territory when it reaches the outfield unless in the scorer's judgment it could have been handled with ordinary effort;

- (e) When a fair ball which has not been touched by a fielder touches a runner or an umpire. EXCEPTION: Do not score a hit when a runner is called out for having been touched by an Infield Fly;
- (f) When a fielder unsuccessfully attempts to put out a preceding runner, and, in the scorer's judgment, the batter-runner would not have been put out at first base by perfect fielding.

NOTE: In applying the above rules, always give the batter the benefit of the doubt. A safe course to follow is to score a hit when exceptionally good fielding of a ball fails to result in a putout.

10.06 A base hit shall not be scored in the following cases:

- (a) When a runner is forced out by a batted ball, or would have been forced out except for a fielding error;
- (b) When the batter apparently hits safely and a runner who is forced to advance by reason of the batter becoming a runner fails to touch the first base to which he is advancing and is called out on appeal. Charge the batter with a time at bat but no hit;
- (c) When the pitcher, the catcher or any infielder handles a batted ball and puts out a preceding runner who is attempting to advance one base or to return to his original base, or would have put out such runner with ordinary effort except for a fielding error. Charge the batter with a time at bat but no hit;
- (d) When a fielder fails in an attempt to put out a preceding runner, and in the scorer's judgment the batter-runner could have been put out at first base. NOTE: This shall not apply if the fielder merely looks toward or feints toward another base before attempting to make the putout at first base;
- (e) When a runner is called out for interference with a fielder attempting to field a batted ball, unless in the scorer's judgment the batter-runner would have been safe had the interference not occurred.

DETERMINING VALUE OF BASE HITS

10.07 Whether a safe hit shall be scored as a one-base hit, two-base hit, three-base hit or home run when no error or put-out results shall be determined as follows:

- (a) Subject to the provisions of 10.07 (b) and (c), it is a one-base hit if the batter stops at first base; it is a two-base hit if the batter stops at second base; it is a three-base hit if the batter stops at third base; it is a home run if the batter touches all bases and scores.
- (b) When, with one or more runners on base, the batter advances more than one base on a safe hit and the defensive team makes an attempt to put out a preceding runner, the scorer shall determine whether the batter made a legitimate two-base hit or three-base hit, or whether he advanced beyond first base on the fielder's choice.

NOTE: Do not credit the batter with a three-base hit when a preceding runner is put out at the plate, or would have been out but for an error. Do not credit the batter with a two-base hit when a preceding runner trying to advance from first base is put out at third base, or would have been out but for an error. However, do not determine the value of base-hits by the number of bases advanced by a preceding runner. A batter may deserve a two-base hit even though a preceding runner advances one or no bases; he may deserve only a one-base hit even though he reaches second base and a preceding runner advances two bases. EXAMPLES: (1) Runner on first, batter hits to right fielder, who throws to third base in unsuccessful attempt to put out runner. Batter takes second base. Credit batter with one-base hit. (2) Runner on second. Batter hits fair fly ball. Runner holds up to determine if ball is caught, and advances only to third base, while batter takes second. Credit batter with two-base hit. (3) Runner on third. Batter hits high fair fly. Runner takes lead, then runs back to tag up, thinking ball will be caught. Ball falls safe, but runner cannot score, although batter has reached second. Credit batter with two-base hit.

- (c) When the batter attempts to make a two-base hit or a three-base hit by sliding, he must hold the last base to which he advances. If he overslides and is tagged out before getting back to the base safely, he shall be credited with only as many bases as he attained safely. If he overslides second base and is tagged out, he shall be credited with a one-base hit; if he overslides third base, and is tagged out, he shall be credited with a two-base hit. NOTE: If the batter over-runs second or third base and is tagged out trying to return, he shall be credited with the last base he touched. If he runs past second base after reaching that base on his feet, attempts to return and is tagged out, he shall be credited with a two-base hit. If he runs past third base after reaching that base on his feet, attempts to return and is tagged out, he shall be credited with a three-base hit.

- (d) When the batter, after making a safe hit, is called out for having failed to touch a base, the last base he reached safely shall determine if he shall be credited with a one-base hit, a two-base hit or a three-base hit. If he is called out after missing home base, he shall be credited with a three-base hit. If he is called out for missing third base, he shall be credited with a two-base hit. If he is called out for missing second base, he shall be credited with a one-base hit. If he is called out for missing first base, he shall be charged with a time at bat, but no hit.
- (e) When the batter-runner is awarded two bases, three bases or a home run under the provisions of Playing Rule 7.05, he shall be credited with a two-base hit, a three-base hit or a home run, as the case may be.

GAME-ENDING HITS

- (f) Subject to the provisions of 10.07 (g), when the batter ends a game with a safe hit which drives in as many runs as are necessary to put his team in the lead, he shall be credited with only as many bases on his hit as are advanced by the runner who scores the winning run and then only if the batter runs out his hit for as many bases as are advanced by the runner who scores the winning run. NOTE: Apply this rule even when the batter is theoretically entitled to more bases because of being awarded an "automatic" extra-base hit under various provisions of Playing Rules 6.09 and 7.05.

- (g) When the batter ends a game with a home run hit out of the playing field, his run and the runs of any runners who were on base when the home run was hit shall count in the final score.

STOLEN BASES

10.08 A stolen base shall be credited to a runner whenever he advances one base unaided by a hit, a putout, an error, a force-out, a fielder's choice, a passed ball, a wild pitch or a balk, subject to the following:

- (a) When a runner has started for a succeeding base before the pitcher delivers the ball and the pitch results in a wild pitch or a passed ball, credit the runner with a stolen base.

EXCEPTION: If another runner also advances because of the pitch becoming a wild pitch or passed ball, the wild pitch or passed ball also shall be scored.

- (b) When a runner is attempting to steal and any fielder makes a wild throw attempting to prevent the stolen base, credit a stolen base and no error, unless such wild throw permits the "stealing" runner to advance an extra base or bases, or permits any other runner to advance one or more bases, in which case credit the stolen base and charge one error to the player making the wild throw.
- (c) When a runner, attempting to steal, evades being put out in a run-down play and advances to the next base without the aid of an error, credit the runner with a stolen base. If another runner also advances on the play, credit both runners with stolen bases. If a runner advances while another runner, attempting to steal, evades being put out in a run-down play and returns safely, without the aid of an error, to the base he originally occupied, credit a stolen base to the runner who advances.

- (d) When a double or triple steal is attempted and one runner is thrown out before reaching and holding the base he is attempting to steal, no other runner shall be credited with a stolen base.
- (e) When a runner is tagged out after oversliding a base, while attempting either to return to that base or to advance to the next base, he shall not be credited with a stolen base.
- (f) When in the scorer's judgment a runner attempting to steal is safe because of a muffed throw, do not credit a stolen base. Credit an assist to the fielder who made the throw; charge an error to the fielder who muffed the throw, and charge the runner with "caught stealing."
- (g) No stolen base shall be scored when a runner advances solely because of the defensive team's indifference to his advance. Score as a fielder's choice.

SACRIFICES

- 10.09 (a) Score a sacrifice bunt when, before two are out, the batter advances one or more runners with a bunt and is put out at first base, or would have been put out except for a fielding error.
- (b) Score a sacrifice bunt when, before two are out, the fielders handle a bunted ball without error in an unsuccessful attempt to put out a preceding runner advancing one base. EXCEPTION: When an attempt to turn a bunt into a putout of a preceding runner fails, and in the scorer's judgment perfect play would not have put out the batter at first base, the batter shall be credited with a one-base hit, and not a sacrifice.
 - (c) Do not score a sacrifice bunt when any runner is put out attempting to advance one base on a bunt. Charge the batter with a time at bat.
 - (d) Score a sacrifice fly when, before two are out, the batter hits a fly ball which

- (1) is caught, and a runner scores after the catch, or
- (2) is dropped, and a runner scores, if, in the scorer's judgment, the runner could have scored after the catch had the fly been caught.

NOTE: Score a sacrifice fly in accordance with 10.09 (d) even though another runner is forced out by reason of the batter becoming a runner.

PUTOUTS

10.10 A putout shall be credited to each fielder who (1) catches a fly ball or a line drive, whether fair or foul; (2) catches a thrown ball which puts out a batter or runner, or (3) tags a runner when the runner is off the base to which he legally is entitled.

(a) Automatic putouts shall be credited to the catcher as follows:

- (1) When the batter is called out for an illegally batted ball;
- (2) When the batter is called out for bunting foul for his third strike; (Note exception in 10.17 (a) (4).)
- (3) When the batter is called out for being touched by his own batted ball;
- (4) When the batter is called out for interfering with the catcher;
- (5) When the batter is called out for failing to bat in his proper turn; (See 10.03 (d).)
- (6) When the batter is called out for refusing to touch first base after receiving a base on balls;
- (7) When a runner is called out for refusing to advance from third base to home with the winning run.

(b) Other automatic putouts shall be credited as follows (Credit no assists on these plays except as specified):

- (1) When the batter is called out on an Infield Fly which is not caught, credit the putout to the fielder who the scorer believes could have made the catch;
- (2) When a runner is called out for being touched by a fair ball (including an Infield Fly), credit the putout to the fielder nearest the ball;
- (3) When a runner is called out for running out of line to avoid being tagged, credit the putout to the fielder whom the runner avoided;
- (4) When a runner is called out for passing another runner, credit the putout to the fielder nearest the point of passing;
- (5) When a runner is called out for running the bases in reverse order, credit the putout to the fielder covering the base he left in starting his reverse run;
- (6) When a runner is called out for having interfered with a fielder, credit the putout to the fielder with whom the runner interfered, unless the fielder was in the act of throwing the ball when the interference occurred, in which case credit the putout to the fielder for whom the throw was intended, and credit an assist to the fielder whose throw was interfered with;
- (7) When the batter-runner is called out because of interference by a preceding runner, as provided in Playing Rule 6.05 (m), credit the putout to the first baseman. If the fielder interfered with was in the act of throwing the ball, credit him with an assist but credit only one assist on any one play under the provisions of 10.10 (b) (6) and (7).

ASSISTS

10.11 An assist shall be credited to each fielder who throws or deflects a batted or thrown ball in such a way that a put-out results, or would have resulted except for a subsequent error by any fielder. Only one assist and no more shall be credited to each fielder who throws or deflects the ball in a run-down play which results in a putout, or would have resulted in a putout, except for a subsequent error. NOTE: Mere ineffective contact with the ball shall not be considered an assist. "Deflect" shall mean to slow down or change the direction of the ball and thereby effectively assist in putting out a batter or runner.

- (a) Credit an assist to each fielder who throws or deflects the ball during a play which results in a runner being called out for interference, or for running out of line.
- (b) Do not credit an assist to the pitcher on a strikeout, or when, as the result of a legal pitch caught by the catcher, a runner is put out, as when the catcher picks a runner off base, throws out a runner trying to steal, or tags a runner trying to steal home.
- (c) Do not credit an assist to a fielder whose wild throw permits a runner to advance, even though the runner subsequently is put out as a result of continuous play. A play which follows a misplay (whether or not it is an error) is a new play, and the fielder making any misplay shall not be credited with an assist unless he takes part in the new play.

DOUBLE PLAYS—TRIPLE PLAYS

10.12 Credit participation in the double play or triple play to each fielder who earns a putout or an assist when two or three players are put out between the time a pitch is delivered and the time the ball next becomes dead or is next in possession of the pitcher in pitching position, unless an error intervenes between putouts.

ERRORS

10.13 An error shall be charged for each misplay (fumble, muff or wild throw) which prolongs the time at bat of a batter or which prolongs the life of a runner, or which permits a runner to advance one or more bases. NOTE: Slow handling of the ball which does not involve mechanical misplay shall not be construed as an error.

- (a) An error shall be charged against any fielder when he muffs a foul fly, to prolong the time at bat of a batter, whether the batter subsequently reaches first base or is put out.

- (b) An error shall be charged against any fielder when he catches a thrown ball or a ground ball in time to put out the batter-runner and fails to tag first base or the batter-runner.
- (c) An error shall be charged against any fielder when he catches a thrown ball or a ground ball in time to put out any runner on a force play and fails to tag the base or the runner.
- (d)
 - (1) An error shall be charged against any fielder whose wild throw permits a runner to reach a base safely, when in the scorer's judgment a good throw would have put out the runner. EXCEPTION: No error shall be charged under this section if the wild throw is made attempting to prevent a stolen base.
 - (2) An error shall be charged against any fielder whose wild throw in attempting to prevent a runner's advance permits that runner or any other runner to advance one or more bases beyond the base he would have reached had the throw not been wild.
 - (3) An error shall be charged against any fielder whose throw takes an unnatural bounce, or touches a base or the pitcher's plate or touches a runner, a fielder or an umpire, thereby permitting any runner to advance. NOTE: Apply this rule even when it appears to be an injustice to a fielder whose throw was accurately directed. Every base advanced by a runner must be accounted for.
 - (4) Charge only one error on any wild throw, regardless of the number of bases advanced by one or more runners.
- (e) An error shall be charged against any fielder whose failure to stop, or try to stop, an accurately thrown ball permits a runner to advance, providing there was occasion for the throw. If such throw be made to second base, the scorer shall determine whether it was the duty of the second baseman or the shortstop to stop the ball, and an error shall be charged to the negligent player. NOTE: If in the scorer's judgment there was no occasion for the throw, an error shall be charged to the fielder who threw the ball.

- (f) When an umpire awards the batter or any runner or runners one or more bases because of interference or obstruction, charge the fielder who committed the interference or obstruction with one error, no matter how many bases the batter, or runner or runners, may be advanced.

10.14 No error shall be charged in the following cases:

- (a) No error shall be charged against any fielder when he makes a wild throw in attempting to prevent a stolen base, unless such wild throw permits the base-stealer to advance one or more extra bases, or in the scorer's judgment permits another runner to advance one or more bases.
- (b) No error shall be charged against any fielder who makes a wild throw if in the scorer's judgment the runner would not have been put out with ordinary effort by a good throw, unless such wild throw permits any runner to advance beyond the base he would have reached had the throw not been wild.
- (c) No error shall be charged against any fielder when he makes a wild throw in attempting to complete a double play or triple play, unless such wild throw enables any runner to advance beyond the base he would have reached had the throw not been wild. NOTE: When a fielder muffs a thrown ball which, if held, would have completed a double play or triple play, charge an error to the fielder who drops the ball and credit an assist to the fielder who made the throw.
- (d) No error shall be charged against any fielder when, after dropping a fly ball, a line drive or a thrown ball, he recovers the ball in time to force out a runner at any base.

- (e) No error shall be charged against any fielder who permits a foul fly to fall safe with a runner on third base before two are out, if in the scorer's judgment the fielder deliberately refuses the catch in order that the runner on third shall not score after the catch.
- (f) Because the pitcher and catcher handle the ball much more than the other fielders, certain misplays on pitched balls are called "wild pitches" and "passed balls," and are defined elsewhere in this rule. No error shall be charged when a wild pitch or passed ball is scored.
 - (1) No error shall be charged when the batter is awarded first base on four called balls or because he was touched by a pitched ball, or when he reaches first base as the result of a wild pitch or passed ball.
 - (i) When the third strike is a wild pitch, permitting the batter to reach first base, score a strikeout and a wild pitch.
 - (ii) When the third strike is a passed ball, permitting the batter to reach first base, score a strikeout and a passed ball.
 - (2) No error shall be charged when a runner or runners advance as the result of a passed ball, a wild pitch or a balk.
 - (i) When the fourth called ball is a wild pitch or a passed ball, and as a result (a) the batter-runner advances to a base beyond first base; (b) any runner forced to advance by the base on balls, advances more than one base, or (c) any runner, not forced to advance, advances one or more bases, score the base on balls, and also the wild pitch or passed ball, as the case may be;

- (ii) When the catcher recovers the ball after a wild pitch or passed ball on the third strike, and throws out the batter-runner at first base, or tags out the batter-runner, but another runner or runners advance, score the strikeout, the putout and assists, if any, and credit the advance of the other runner or runners as having been made on the play.

WILD PITCHES—PASSED BALLS

10.15 (a) A wild pitch shall be charged when a legally delivered ball is so high, or so wide, or so low that the catcher does not stop and control the ball by ordinary effort, thereby permitting a runner or runners to advance.

- (1) A wild pitch shall be charged when a legally delivered ball touches the ground before reaching home plate and is not handled by the catcher, permitting a runner or runners to advance.

- (b) A catcher shall be charged with a passed ball when he fails to hold or to control a legally pitched ball which should have been held or controlled with ordinary effort, thereby permitting a runner or runners to advance.

BASES ON BALLS

10.16 A base on balls shall be scored whenever a batter is awarded first base because of four balls having been pitched outside the strike zone, but when the fourth such ball touches the batter it shall be scored as a "hit batter." (See 10.18 (h) for procedure when more than one pitcher is involved in giving a base on balls.)

- (1) If a batter awarded a base on balls is called out for refusing to advance to first base, do not credit the base on balls. Charge a time at bat.

STRIKEOUTS10.17 (a) A strikeout shall be scored whenever

- (1) A batter is put out by a third strike caught by the catcher;
- (2) A batter is put out by a third strike not caught when there is a runner on first before two are out;
- (3) A batter becomes a runner because a third strike is not caught;
- (4) A batter bunts foul on third strike. EXCEPTION: If such bunt on third strike results in a foul fly caught by any fielder, do not score a strikeout. Credit the fielder who catches such foul fly with a putout.

- (b) When the batter leaves the game with two strikes against him, and the substitute batter completes a strikeout, charge the strikeout and the time at bat to the first batter. If the substitute batter completes the turn at bat in any other manner, score the action as having been that of the substitute batter.

EARNED RUNS10.18 An earned run is a run for which the pitcher is held accountable.

- (a) An earned run shall be charged every time a runner reaches home base by the aid of safe hits, sacrifice bunts, a sacrifice fly, stolen bases, putouts, fielder's choices, bases on balls, hit batters, balks or wild pitches (including a wild pitch on third strike, which permits a batter to reach first base) before fielding chances have been offered to put out the offensive team.

- (1) A wild pitch is solely the pitcher's fault, and contributes to an earned run just as a base on balls or a balk.

- (b) No run shall be earned when scored by a runner who reaches first base (1) on a hit or otherwise after his time at bat is prolonged by a muffed foul fly; (2) because of interference or obstruction, or (3) because of any fielding error.
- (c) No run shall be earned when scored by a runner whose life is prolonged by an error, if such runner would have been put out by errorless play.
- (d) No run shall be earned when the runner's advance is aided by an error, a passed ball, or defensive interference or obstruction, if the scorer judges that the run would not have scored without the aid of such misplay.
- (e) An error by a pitcher is treated exactly the same as an error by any other fielder in computing earned runs.
- (f) Whenever a fielding error occurs, the pitcher shall be given the benefit of the doubt in determining to which bases any runners would have advanced had the fielding of the defensive team been errorless.
- (g) When pitchers are changed during an inning, the relief pitcher shall not be charged with any run (earned or unearned) scored by a runner who was on base at the time he entered the game, nor for runs scored by any runner who reaches base on a fielder's choice which puts out a runner left on base by the preceding pitcher.

NOTE: It is the intent of this rule to charge each pitcher with the number of runners he put on base, rather than with the individual runners. When a pitcher put runners on base, and is relieved, he shall be charged with all runs subsequently scored up to and including the number of runners he left on base when he left the game, unless such runners are put out without action by the batter, i.e., caught stealing, picked off base, or called out for interference when a batter-runner does not reach first base on the play.

EXAMPLES: (1) P1 walks A and is relieved by P2. B grounds out, sending A to second. C flies out. D singles, scoring A. Charge run to P1.

C grounds out, sending B to second. D singles, scoring B. Charge run to P1.

(3) P1 walks A and is relieved by P2. B singles, sending A to third. C grounds to short, and A is out at home, B going to second. D flies out. E singles, scoring B. Charge run to P1.

(4) P1 walks A and is relieved by P2. B Walks. C flies out. A is picked off second. D doubles, scoring B from first. Charge run to P2.

(5) P1 walks A and is relieved by P2. P2 walks B and is relieved by P3. C forces A at third. D forces B at third. E hits home run, scoring three runs. Charge one run to P1; one run to P2, one run to P3.

(6) P1 walks A, and is relieved by P2. P2 walks B. C singles, filling the bases. D forces A at home. E singles, scoring B and C. Charge one run to P1 and one run to P2.

(h) A relief pitcher shall not be held accountable when the first batter to whom he pitches reaches first base on four called balls if such batter has a decided advantage in the ball and strike count when pitchers are changed.

(1) If, when pitchers are changed, the count is

2 balls, no strike,

2 balls, 1 strike,

3 balls, no strike,

3 balls, 1 strike,

3 balls, 2 strikes,

and the batter gets a base on balls, charge that batter and the base on balls to the preceding pitcher, not to the relief pitcher.

(2) Any other action by such batter, such as reaching base on a hit, an error, a fielder's choice, a force-out, or being touched by a pitched ball, shall cause such a batter to be charged to the relief pitcher.

NOTE: The provisions of 10.18 (h) (2) shall not be construed as affecting or conflicting with the provisions of 10.18 (g).

(3) If, when pitchers are changed, the count is

2 balls, 2 strikes,

1 ball, no strike,

no ball, 2 strikes,

charge that batter and his action to the relief pitcher.

WINNING AND LOSING PITCHER

10.19 (a) Credit the starting pitcher with a game won only if he has pitched at least five complete innings and his team not only is in the lead when he is replaced but remains in the lead the remainder of the game.

(b) The "must pitch five complete innings" rule in respect to the starting pitcher shall be in effect for all games of six or more innings. In a five-inning game, credit the starting pitcher with a game won only if he has pitched at least four complete innings and his team not only is in the lead when he is replaced but remains in the lead the remainder of the game.

(c) When the starting pitcher cannot be credited with the victory because of the provisions of 10.19 (a) or (b) and more than one relief pitcher is used, the victory shall be awarded on the following basis:

(1) When, during the tenure of the starting pitcher, the winning team assumes the lead and maintains it to the finish of the game, credit the victory to the relief pitcher judged by the scorer to have been the most effective;

(2) Whenever the score is tied the game becomes a new contest insofar as the winning and losing pitcher is concerned;

- (3) Once the opposing team assumes the lead all pitchers who have pitched up to that point are excluded from being credited with the victory except that if the pitcher against whose pitching the opposing team gained the lead continues to pitch until his team regains the lead, which it holds to the finish of the game, that pitcher shall be the winning pitcher;
- (4) Normally, the winning relief pitcher shall be the one who is the pitcher of record when his team assumes the lead and maintains it to the finish of the game.

EXCEPTION: Do not credit a victory to a relief pitcher who pitches briefly and ineffectively if a succeeding relief pitcher pitches effectively in helping to maintain his team in the lead. In such case, credit the succeeding relief pitcher with the victory.

- (d) When a pitcher is removed for a substitute batter or substitute runner, all runs scored by his team during the inning in which he is removed shall be credited to his benefit in determining the pitcher of record when his team assumes the lead.
- (e) Regardless of how many innings the first pitcher has pitched, he shall be charged with the loss of the game if he is replaced when his team is behind in the score, or falls behind because of runs charged to him after he is replaced, and his team thereafter fails either to tie the score or gain the lead.
- (f) No pitcher shall be credited with pitching a shutout unless he pitches the complete game, or unless he enters the game with none out before the opposing team has scored in the first inning, puts out the side without a run scoring and pitches all the rest of the game. When two or more pitchers combine to pitch a shutout a notation to that effect should be included in the league's official pitching records.
- (g) In some non-championship games (such as the Major League All-Star Game) it is provided in advance that each pitcher shall work a stated number of innings, usually two or three. In such games, it is customary to credit the victory to the pitcher of record, whether starter or reliever, when the winning team takes a lead which it maintains to the end of the game, unless such pitcher is knocked out after the winning team has a commanding lead, and the scorer believes a subsequent pitcher is entitled to credit for the victory.

STATISTICS

10.20 The league president shall appoint an official statistician. The statistician shall maintain an accumulative record of all the batting, fielding, running and pitching records specified in 10.02 for every player who appears in a league championship game.

The statistician shall prepare a tabulated report at the end of the season, including all individual and team records for every championship game, and shall submit this report to the league president. This report shall identify each player by his first name and surname, and shall indicate as to each batter whether he bats righthanded, lefthanded or both ways; as to each fielder and pitcher, whether he throws righthanded or lefthanded.

DETERMINING PERCENTAGE RECORDS

10.21 To compute

- (a) Percentage of games won and lost, divide the number of games won by the total games won and lost;
- (b) Batting average, divide the total number of safe hits (not the total bases on hits) by the total times at bat, as defined in 10.02 (a);
- (c) Slugging percentage, divide the total bases of all safe hits by the total times at bat, as defined in 10.02 (a);
- (d) Fielding average, divide the total putouts and assists by the total of putouts, assists and errors;
- (e) Pitcher's earned-run average, multiply the total earned runs charged against his pitching by 9, and divide the result by the total number of innings he pitched.

10.22 To assure uniformity in establishing the batting, pitching and fielding championships of professional leagues, such champions shall meet the following minimum performance standards:

- (a) The individual batting champion shall be the player with the highest batting average, provided he is credited with as many or more total appearances at the plate in league championship games as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season, multiplied by 3.1. EXAMPLE: If a league schedules 162 games for each club, 502 plate appearances qualify (162 times 3.1 equals 502). If a league schedules 154 games, 477 plate appearances qualify (154 times 3.1 equals 477). If a league schedules 140 games, 434 plate appearances qualify (140 times 3.1 equals 434).

Total appearances at the plate shall include official times at bat, plus bases on balls, times hit by pitcher, sacrifice hits, sacrifice flies, and times awarded first base because of interference or obstruction.

- (b) The individual pitching champion shall be the pitcher with the lowest earned-run average, provided that he has pitched at least as many innings as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season.
- (c) The individual fielding champions shall be the fielders with the highest fielding average at each position, provided:
- (1) A catcher must have participated as a catcher in at least one-half the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season;
 - (2) An infielder or outfielder must have participated at his position in at least two-thirds of the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season;
 - (3) A pitcher must have pitched at least as many innings as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season.

NOTES – CASE BOOK – COMMENT

The following notes, interpretations and approved rulings are a part of the Official Rules.

1.06 Clean, newly painted or whitewashed bases should be put in place after preliminary practice and just before the start of each game. If this be impossible, the base bags used in practice should be painted or whitewashed on the field before the game starts.

1.10 The bat must not be loaded with metal fillings. It is illegal.

1.11-1.15 If the umpire observes any violation of these rules, he shall direct the violation to be corrected. If the violation is not corrected within a reasonable time, in the umpire's judgment, the umpire shall eject the offender from the game.

(The following unnumbered official notes apply to paragraphs identified by definitions in Rule 2.00.)

BALL. If the pitch strikes the ground and bounces through the strike zone it is a "ball." If such a pitch hits the batter, he shall be awarded first base. If the batter swings at such a pitch after two strikes, the ball cannot be caught, for the purposes of Rules 6.05 (c) and 6.09 (b). If the batter hits such a pitch, the ensuing action shall be the same as if he hit the ball in flight.

FAIR BALL. If a fly ball lands in the infield between home and first base, or home and third base, and then bounces to foul territory without touching a player or umpire and before passing first or third base, it is a foul ball; or if the ball settles on foul territory or is touched by a player on foul territory, it is a foul ball. If any fielder fields such a foul ball in foul territory and throws the ball to first base, the batter is not out. If a fly ball lands on or beyond first or third base and then bounces to foul territory, it is a fair hit.

Clubs, increasingly, are erecting tall foul poles at the fence line with a wire netting extending along the side of the pole on fair territory above the fence to enable the umpires more accurately to judge fair and foul balls. The custom should become universal.

FORCE PLAY. Confusion regarding this play is removed by remembering that frequently the "force" situation is removed during the play. Example: Man on first, one out, ball hit sharply to first baseman who touches the bag and batter-runner is out. The force is removed at that moment and runner advancing to second must be tagged. If there had been a runner on third or second, and either of these runners scored before the tag-out at second, the run counts. Had the first baseman thrown to second and the ball then had been returned to first, the play at second was a force out, making two outs, and the return throw to first ahead of the runner would have made three outs. In that case, no run would score.

Example: NOT A FORCE OUT. One out. Runner on first and third. Batter flies out. Two out. Runner on third tags up and scores. Runner on first tries to retouch before throw from fielder reaches first baseman, but does not get back in time and is out. Three outs. If, in umpire's judgment, the runner from third touched home base before the ball was held at first base, the run counts.

FOUL BALL. Approved Ruling: The exact position of the ball determines whether it is foul or fair, not the position of the fielder's body when he touches the ball.

Approved Ruling: Without touching a fielder, a batted ball hits pitcher's rubber and rebounds over catcher's head, or to foul territory between home and first, or between home and third base. This is a foul.

PITCH. Distinguish clearly the difference between a pitch and a thrown ball. A pitch is exclusively the delivery of the ball to the batter. All other deliveries of the ball by one player to another are thrown balls.

3.01 (e) (3) The umpire shall not give an alternate ball to the pitcher until play has ended and the previously used ball is dead. After a thrown or batted ball goes out of the playing field, play shall not be resumed with an alternate ball until the runners have reached the bases to which they are entitled.

3.04 This rule is intended to eliminate the practice of using so-called courtesy runners. No player in the game shall be permitted to act as a courtesy runner for a teammate. No player who has been in the game and has been taken out for a substitute shall return as a courtesy runner. Any player not in the lineup, if used as a runner, shall be considered as a substitute player.

3.06 Players for whom substitutions have been made may remain with their team on the bench or may "warm-up" pitchers. If a manager substitutes another player for himself, he may continue to direct his team from the bench or the coach's box. Major league umpires do not permit players for whom substitutions have been made, and who are permitted to remain on the bench, to address any remarks to any opposing player or manager, or to the umpires.

3.10 (d) The umpire-in-chief shall at all times try to complete a game. His authority to resume play following one or more suspensions of as much as thirty minutes each shall be absolute and he shall terminate a game only when there appears to be no possibility of completing it.

4.09 Baseball is so genuinely a team game that an error of omission, as well as an error of commission, can, and frequently does, nullify the brilliant play of a teammate.

APPROVED RULING: No run shall score during a play in which the third out is made by the batter-runner before he touches first base. EXAMPLE: One out, Jones on second, Smith on first, The batter, Brown, hits safely. Jones scores. Smith is out on the throw to the plate. Two outs. But Brown missed first base. The ball is thrown to first, an appeal is made, and Brown is out. Three outs. Since Jones crossed the plate during a play in which the third out was made by the batter-runner before he touched first base, Jones' run does not count.

Approved Ruling: Following runners are not affected by an act of a preceding runner unless two are out.

Example: One out, Jones on second, Smith on first, and batter, Brown, hits home run inside the park. Jones fails to touch third on his way to the plate. Smith and Brown score. The defense holds the ball on third, appeals to umpire, and Jones is out. Smith's and Brown's runs count.

Approved Ruling: Two out, Jones on second, Smith on first and batter, Brown, hits home run inside the park. All three runs cross the plate. But Jones missed third base, and on appeal is declared out. Three outs. Smith's and Brown's runs are voided. No score on the play.

Approved Ruling: One out, Jones on third, Smith on second. Batter Brown flies out to center field. Two out. Jones scores after catch and Smith scores on bad throw to plate. But Jones, on appeal, is adjudged to have left third before the catch and is out. Three outs. No runs.

Approved Ruling: Two out, bases full, batter hits home run over fence. Batter, on appeal, is declared out for missing first base. Three outs. No run counts.

When a runner misses a base and a fielder holds the ball on a missed base, or on the base originally occupied by the runner, and appeals for the umpire's decision, the runner is out when the umpire sustains the appeal; all runners may score if possible, except that with two out the runner is out at the moment he misses the bag, if an appeal is made, as applied to succeeding runners.

Approved Ruling: One out, Jones on third, Smith on first, and Brown flies out to right field. Two outs. Jones tags up and after the catch scores. Smith attempted to return to first but the right fielder's throw beat him to the base. Three outs. But Jones had scored before the throw to catch Smith reached first base, hence Jones' run counts. It was not a force play.

5.06 A run legally scored cannot be nullified by subsequent action of the runner, such as but not limited to an effort to return to third base in the belief that he had left the base before a caught fly ball.

5.09 (g) If a fair ball touches an umpire working in the infield after it has bounded past, or over, the pitcher, it is a dead ball.

6.02 The batter leaves the batter's box at the risk of having a strike delivered and called, unless he requests the umpire to call "Time." The batter is not at liberty to step in and out of the batter's box at will.

6.05 (a) See Rule 2.00—CATCH. Catch is legal if ball is finally held by any fielder, even though juggled, or held by another fielder, before it touches the ground. Runners may leave their bases the instant the first fielder touches the ball. A fielder may reach over a fence, railing, rope or other line of demarcation to make a catch. He may jump on top of a railing, or canvas that may be in foul ground. No interference should be allowed when a fielder reaches over a fence, railing, rope or into a stand to catch a ball. He does so at his own risk.

6.05 (b) "Legally caught" means in the catcher's glove, before the ball touches the ground. It is not legal if the ball lodges in his clothing or paraphernalia; or if it strikes the umpire and is caught by the catcher on the rebound.

6.05 (m) The objective of this rule is to penalize the offensive team for deliberate, unwarranted, unsportsmanship action by the runner in leaving the baseline for the obvious purpose of crashing the pivot man on a double play, rather than trying to reach the base. Obviously this is an umpire's judgment play.

6.07 The umpire shall not direct the attention of any person to the presence in the batter's box of an improper batter. This rule is designed to require constant vigilance by the players and managers of both teams.

7.04 (b) A runner forced to advance without liability to be put out may advance past the base to which he is entitled only at his peril. If such a runner, forced to advance, is put out for the third out before a preceding runner, also forced to advance, touches home plate, the run shall score.

7.05 (b-c-d-e) The thrown glove or detached cap or mask, etc., must touch the ball. There is no penalty if the ball is not touched.

7.05 (c-e) This penalty shall not be invoked against a fielder whose glove is carried off his hand by the force of a batted or thrown ball, or when his glove flies off his hand as he makes an obvious effort to make a legitimate catch.

7.05 (g) In certain circumstances it is impossible to award a runner two bases. Example: Runner on first. Batter hits fly to short right. Runner holds up between first and second and batter comes around first and pulls up behind him. Ball falls safely. Outfielder, in throwing to first, throws ball into stand.

APPROVED RULING: Since no runner, when the ball is dead, may advance beyond the base to which he is entitled, the runner originally on first base goes to third base and the batter is held at second base.

7.06 The catcher, without the ball in his possession, has no right to block the pathway of the runner attempting to score. The base line belongs to the runner and the catcher should be there only when he is fielding a ball or when he already has the ball in his hand.

7.08 (b) A runner who is adjudged to have hindered a fielder who is attempting to make a play on a batted ball is out whether it was intentional or not.

7.08 (d) Runners need not "tag up" on a foul tip. They may steal on a foul tip. If a so-called foul tip is not caught, it becomes an ordinary foul. Runners then return to their bases.

7.08 (e) and (j) Oversliding and overrunning situations arise at bases other than first base. For instance, before two are out, and runners on first and second, or first, second and third, the ball is hit to an infielder who tries for the double play. The runner on first beats the throw to second base but overslides the base. The relay is made to first base and the batter-runner is out. The first baseman, seeing the runner at second base off the bag, makes the return throw to second and the runner is tagged off the base. Meanwhile runners have crossed the plate. The question is: Is this a force play? Was the force removed when the batter-runner was out at first base? Do the runs that crossed the plate during this play and before the third out was made when the runner was tagged at second, count? Answer: The runs score. It is not a force play. It is a tag play.

7.08 (f) If two runners are touched by the same fair ball, only the first one is out because the ball is instantly dead.

7.09 (e) and (f) If the batter or a runner continues to advance after he has been put out, he shall not by that act alone be considered as confusing, hindering or impeding the fielders.

7.10 (a) "Retouch," in this rule, means to tag up and start from a contact with the base after the ball is caught. A runner is not permitted to take a flying start from a position in back of his base.

8.01 (c) The pitcher shall step "ahead of the throw." A snap throw followed by the step directly toward the base is a balk.

8.01 (e) The pitcher, while off the rubber, may throw to any base. If he makes a wild throw, such throw is the throw of an infielder and what follows is governed by the rules covering a ball thrown by a fielder.

8.02 (a) All umpires shall carry with them one official rosin bag. The umpire-in-chief is responsible for placing the rosin bag on the ground back of the pitcher's plate. If at any time the ball hits the rosin bag it is in play. In the case of rain or wet field, the umpire may instruct the pitcher to carry the rosin bag in his hip pocket. A pitcher may use the rosin bag for the purpose of applying rosin to his bare hand or hands. Neither the pitcher nor any other player shall dust the ball with the rosin bag; neither shall the pitcher, nor any other player, be permitted to apply rosin from the bag to his glove, or dust any part of his uniform with the rosin bag.

8.02 (b) Pitchers frequently delay the game by taking their catcher's signs from positions off the pitcher's rubber. This is a bad habit and should be corrected by managers and coaches.

8.02 (c) To pitch at a batter's head is unsportsmanlike and highly dangerous. It should be—and is—condemned by everybody. Umpires should act without hesitation in enforcement of this rule.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS TO UMPIRES

9.00 Umpires, on the field, should not indulge in conversation with players. Keep out of the coaching box and do not talk to the coach on duty.

Keep your uniform in good condition. Be active and alert on the field.

Be courteous, always, to club officials; avoid visiting in club offices and thoughtless familiarity with officers or employes of contesting clubs. When you enter a ball park your sole duty is to umpire a ball game as the representative of baseball.

Do not allow criticism to keep you from studying out bad situations that may lead to protested games. Carry your rule book. It is better to consult the rules and hold up the game ten minutes to decide a knotty problem than to have a game thrown out on protest and replayed.

Keep the game moving. A ball game is often helped by energetic and earnest work of the umpires.

You are the only official representative of baseball on the ball field. It is often a trying position which requires the exercise of much patience and good judgment, but do not forget that the first essential in working out of a bad situation is to keep your own temper and self-control.

You no doubt are going to make mistakes, but never attempt to “even up” after having made one. Make all decisions as you see them and forget which is the home or visiting club.

Keep your eye everlastingly on the ball while it is in play. It is more vital to know just where a fly ball fell, or a thrown ball finished up, than whether or not a runner missed a base. Do not call the plays too quickly, or turn away too fast when a fielder is throwing to complete a double play. Watch out for dropped balls after you have called a man out.

Do not come running with your arm up or down, denoting “out” or “safe.” Wait until the play is completed before making any arm motion.

Each umpire team should work out a simple set of signals, so the proper umpire can always right a manifestly wrong decision when convinced he has made an error. If sure you got the play correctly, do not be stampeded by players’ appeals to “ask the other man.” If not sure, ask one of your associates. Do not carry this to extremes, be alert and get your own plays. But remember! The first requisite is to get decisions correctly. If in doubt don’t hesitate to consult your associate. Umpire dignity is important but never as important as “being right.”

A most important rule for umpires is always “BE IN POSITION TO SEE EVERY PLAY.” Even though your decision may be 100% right, players still question it if they feel you were not in a spot to see the play clearly and definitely.

Finally, be courteous, impartial and firm, and so compel respect from all.

9.02 (a) There shall be no appeal from the decision of the umpire-in-chief on a half swing. His decision must and will be final, it being entirely a question of the umpire’s judgment as to whether the batter struck at the pitch.
